$3 Million Price Claimed Too High For Tam Annex

Citizen Group Raps 'Barren' Site, Says Funds Not Risked

A committee of Marin County citizens has been formed to organize opposition to the $3,009,200 state purchase of the Brazil-Sousa property as a state park area, it was announced yesterday.

Chairman of the new group, which plans to present petitions to the state disapproving the purchase, is Eugene A. Ostaggi of Ross.

Ostaggi said that the formation of the committee is an "attempt by concerned taxpayers to request a halt or at least a delay in the acquisition of land adjacent to Mount Tamalpais offered for a state purchase by the First Christian Church of America."

He added that the committee has assurances that the $4 million allocated to Marin County for state park expansion would not be lost to the county if this sale is halted or delayed.

Ostaggi said these assurances came from a state senator, an assemblyman and several state department directors as well as the state's legislative analyst.

"There are several alternatives in the county that not only qualify but are far more suitable for state park areas," Ostaggi said.

"Barren, windswept and oft-fogged" was the description Ostaggi made of the Brazil-Souza property.

Ostaggi furthur charged that the "state is about to pay $3,009,200 for the land" nearly $1 million more than "our county

Arceo Attorneys Win Hearing On Condition

Attorneys for John Arceo, 31-year-old Fairfax man accused of murdering a 68-year-old San Rafael gun collector, yesterday won conditional approval of a private hearing to suppress evidence collected against their client.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court said he will conditionally accept a secret motion to suppress physical and "intangible" evidence against Arceo.

If his attorneys, Robert A. Smallman and Harold B. Hyde, can show Arceo would be harmed by publicity about the hearing, then the hearing will be closed, the judge said.

The judge ordered that copies of the motion to suppress be given only to Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and the attorney for Dennis C. Novotny, 22, of San Rafael, also accused of the murder.

Smallman argued that any story in the Independent-Journal that evidence was suppressed would prejudice Arceo's chance for a fair trial later.

Judge Haley said Smallman was assuming there would be some publicity. The attorney responded angrily:

"This is a case where the I-J, without any show of conscience, printed freely from the grand jury transcript. If there is any conscience in the I-J, I don't know where it is."

Bales argued that Smallman has to show that public knowledge of the material to be suppressed would be prejudicial before the hearing can be closed.

Judge Haley said his ruling was a compromise to discover if any such showing is possible.

He ordered all attorneys not to discuss the motion with the press. Bales said:

"I don't appreciate being ordered not to talk about my case. I don't feel compelled not to talk about any other portion of the case except this motion."

The judge agreed, but cau-

Warden Hit For Quentin's Inmate Strike

San Quentin Warden Louis S. Nelson was accused yesterday of taking insufficient action to quell the work strike and unrest which began at the prison last Friday.

A member of Marin Federated Republican Women said he was "babying" the inmates and asked why he didn't punish the original strikers by "taking away their radios and television sets and refusing to feed them."

Nelson, who was speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Republican organization in the Elks Club, San Rafael, paused a second before replaying.

"I have no difficulty in explaining my actions but you may have difficulty in accepting

'Genocide' Tag To War Policy By Marin Demo

President Johnson's Vietnam war policy was labeled "genocide" last night by the number two man in Marin's official, elected Democratic party organization.

S. Robert Politzer, vice chairman of the Marin County Central Committee, attacked Johnson at the monthly meeting of the committee at the Pier 15 restaurant in San Rafael. "I'm not going to support genocide," he declared.

POLITZER FIRM

Politzer's attack was termed "completely irresponsible" by chairman Albert E. Gately, but Politzer insisted, "I stand on my position."

Politzer argued that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is the only experienced man "not identified with the policy that sucked us into the Vietnam disaster. Any Republican can beat Johnson, except possibly Harold Stassen," he declared.

"The 'war party' tag might just stick on the Democratic party if Johnson is the nominee," he said. The war "makes Johnson unelectable," said Politzer, "and I don't think there's anything he can do — it's his problem. People who make judgement errors don't get elected president," he said.

LOSS WARNING

"A new president can halt the war and negotiate from a position of political strength," he said. "If enough of us get the word back to him that we have our ears to the ground and know that Johnson cannot win, he will not run," said Politzer.

Hans J. Schiller, arguing for the candidacy of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, said McCarthy "believes the Democratic Party is going to die unless he can offerer the necessary alternatives.

"About 30,000 persons have been killed in the last few weeks

Fast Transit Favored By Marinites

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Most Marin voters favor development of rapid transit instead of more freeways, according to results of a public opinion poll released today by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Of the 9,380 questionnaires returned to his office by Marin voters, 85 per cent indicated that future available money for transportation should be spent on rapid transit. Of these persons, a bare majority of 51.6 per cent felt that the Bay Area Rapid Transit District should be extended across the Golden Gate Bridge, McCarthy reported.

However, 61 per cent said the best answer would be for Marin Transit District to operate its own bus system.

Marin voters strongly oppose a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge, with 74.6 per cent opposed and only 25.4 per cent favoring a second deck, McCarthy said.

Not surprisingly, taxes and rapid transit were cited as the

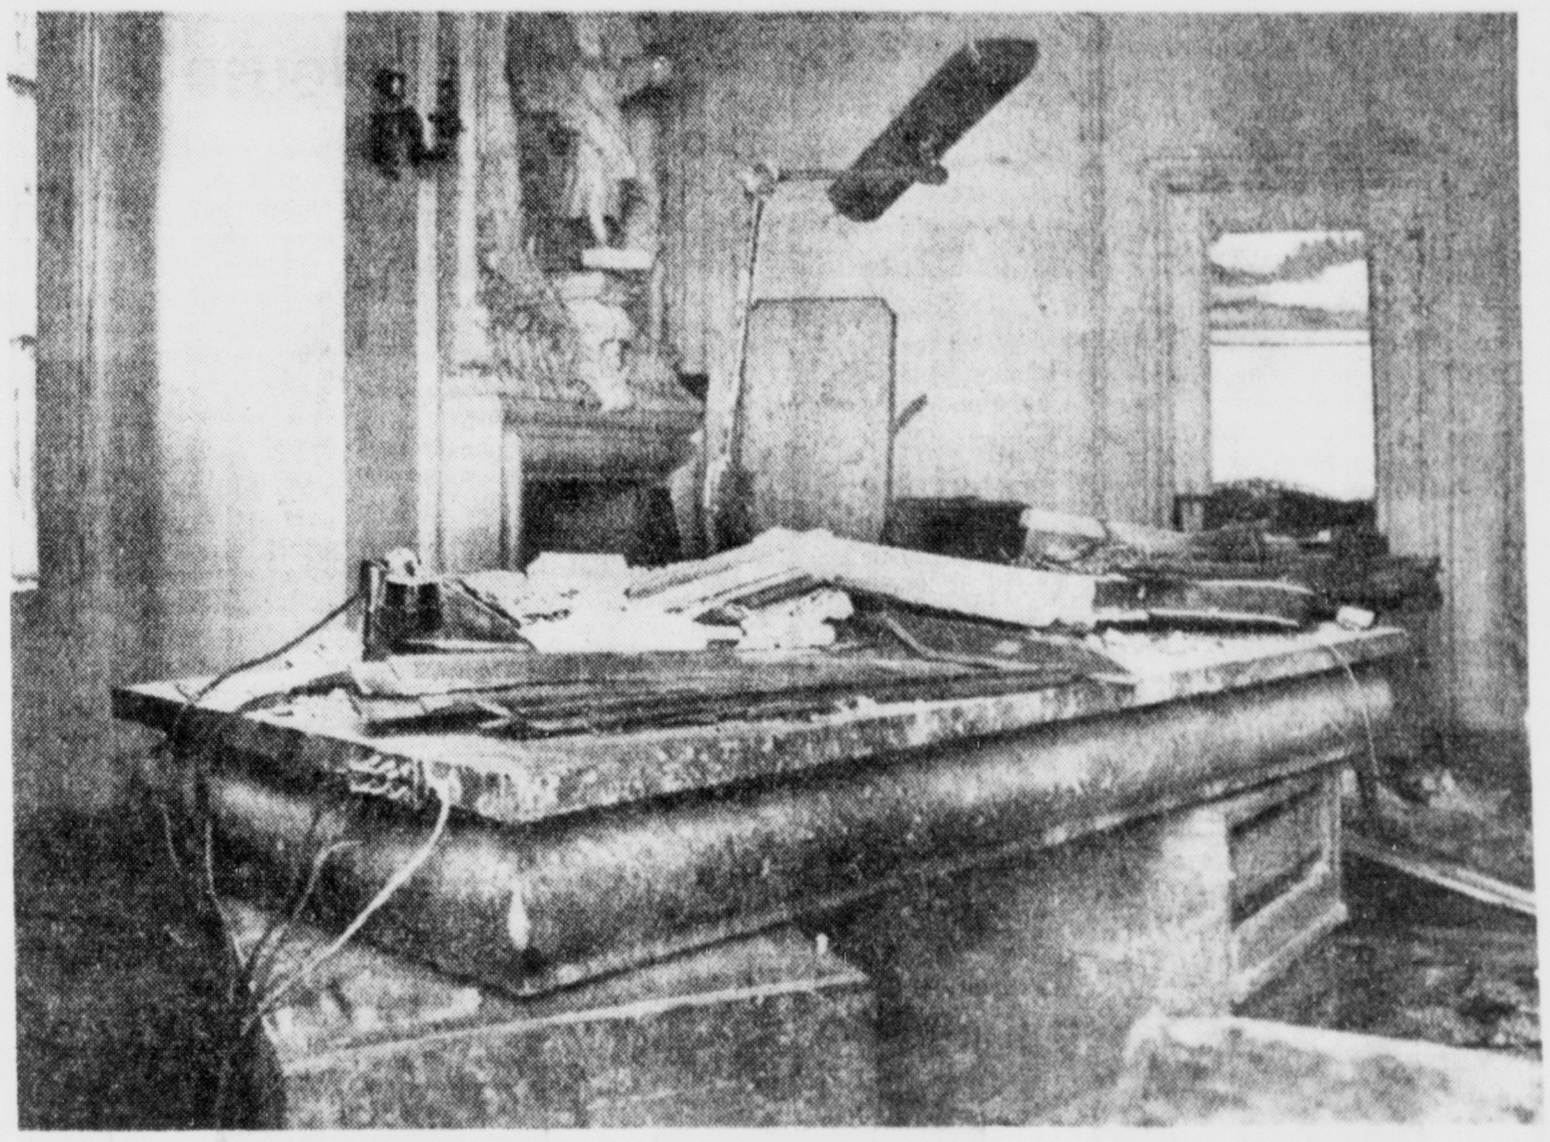
Pre-Dawn Mystery Blast Damages Soviet Embassy



BOMBING SCENE—Peering through a window blasted by a pre-dawn explosion at the Soviet Embassy in Washington today, camera reveals damage to the ground floor office inside. Police think an explosive was triggered on the window ledge: Soviet officials charge a bomb was tossed into the window. (AP Wirephoto)

'Regrets' By LBJ; No Injury

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bomb exploded against an outer wall of the Soviet Embassy early today, heavily damaging a ground floor office. President Johnson expressed regret a few hours later at the "senseless act."

There were no injuries. It was the second time in four days that an explosion rocked a Communist mission in a western capital.

The Yugoslav ambassador's residence in Paris was severely damaged Sunday night when a time bomb exploded in the basement. One person was killed and 14 were injured.

Officials said the bomb which damaged the Soviet embassy in the predawn hours today apparently had been planted on a windowsill of the fortress-like structure.

Police were reported looking for two suspects in connection with the bombing, which shattered windows in nearby office buildings and blew out the windshield of a car parked on the street in front of the four-story brownstone building at 1125 16th Street, N.M.

The only person in the building at the time of the blast was a night duty officer, a source said.

The State Department promptly expressed regrets to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin and offered any assistance that might be required.

Marines Open Renewed Push For Citadel

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Marines striking while their enemy slept slashed deep into the rubbled Citadel of Hue in a 4 a.m. assault today. It appeared the 22-day-old battle for Hue was nearing an end though heavy fighting lay ahead.

"I would like to say that I think we will get over that (south) wall tomorrow," a U.S. military spokesman told newsmen huddled on the south side of the ancient fortress. That would leave only the imperial palace in the southwest corner in Viet Cong hands.

The monsoon clouds lifted today and the Marines flew in reinforcements by helicopter despite intense anti-aircraft fire that turned some choppers back. And for the first time in three days Marine jets struck with napalm that turned the Viet Cong rebout into a hell of orange flames and black smoke.

Despite today's progress Lt. Gen. Robert E. Chapman Jr., commander of the Leathernecks, warned that the 300 to 500 die-hard Communist holdouts were being resupplied and

TONKIN PROBE IS LONG, INDECISIVE

Fiery Criticisms Of LBJ's Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lawmakers caught President Johnson in a crossfire today—one demanding that he go all out for a military victory in Vietnam and another charging that U.S. preoccupation with the war was undermining the nation.

In a fiery House speech yesterday, Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the Armed Services Committee said it was time to win the war by calling up the reserves and turning the war over to the military professionals.

But in a speech prepared for the Senate today, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, attacked the administration's "globalism" foreign policy for emphasizing foreign issues at the expense of domestic problems.

Denying reports that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam was about to be replaced for inefficiency, Rivers said:

It is time for the government to turn the war over to "men who have earned international respect for the performance in battle," said Rivers, "and less advice from the uninformed, untried and unproven invisible civilians hidden in a warm and comfortable foxhole in Washington, D.C."

Weary Fulbright, McNamara Argue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weary adversaries after a 7½-hour confrontation, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Sen. J. W. Fulbright still disagreed on the real story of the naval engagement which prompted the first U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

McNamara issued a 21-page account of the affair, over Fulbright's objection, contending the administration proved conclusively that the U.S. destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy were attacked by North Vietnamese torpedo boats in international waters on Aug. 4, 1964.

He termed "monstrous" any suggestion the United States induced the attack, seeking an excuse for its subsequent retaliation.

Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the public statement McNamara issued "does not tell the whole story by any means."

Fulbright did not relate his version. "I'm too worn out to attempt any kind of discussion," he said after McNamara's marathon appearance before the committee. Nor did he say whether the probe would continue.

And so the session which ran into last night produced only fresh controversy over the engagement in the Gulf of Tonkin.

McNamara's session with the committee clearly was a some-

Thant-Johnson Talks Produce No New Hopes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson and U.N. Secretary General Thant conferred for an hour today at the White House, but gave no sign there was any fresh hope of bringing peace to Vietnam.

The White House issued a brief statement after the meeting saying Johnson and Thant, just back from conferences with a number of other world leaders on Vietnam, "had a friendly exchange of views on a number of matters, including Vietnam."

There was no advance expectation that the meeting would produce any significant developments.

After the White House session, Thant went to the State Department for a "working lunch" with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Arthur J. Goldberg, U. S. ambassador to the U. N.

The White House statement said Thant "conveyed to the President his impressions regarding the prospects of peace in Vietnam in light of recent discussions in various capitals of the world. The President reaffirmed our continuing desire to achieve a peaceful settlement and the continued validity of the San Antonio formula."

200 Kiloton Test In Nevada Desert

YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (UPI)—A nuclear test was detonated today 2,100 feet below the desert floor of the nation's atomic test site.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the device was triggered at 7:30 a. m. PST and that there were no reports of any one feeling the shock offsite, nor any radiation leakage.

It was the fifth test announced in 1968 by the AEC and was listed as being in the low-intermediate range of nuclear tests, indicating a maximum force equal to 200,000 tons of TNT.

Hanoi Nod

Swiss Foreign Minister Willy Spuehler told parliament Switzerland's ambassador in Peking, Oscar Rossetti, has been named official "representative" to the foreign ministry in Hanoi.

Government officials stressed that Switzerland is not according full diplomatic recognition to North Vietnam but that Rossetti's new duties involve "purely tecnical contacts at the present time."

Missile Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy has disclosed it is considering deployment of sea-based defensive missiles to complement the nation's "thin" antimissile system.

Navy Secretary Paul R. Ignatius told the Senate Armed Services Committee yesterday that such a system not only would provide early warning of missile attacks, but could shoot down multiwarhead weapons before they could let fly at targets.

BISHOP JOHN CARBERRY
New church post

To St. Louis

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul V today appointed Bishop John Carberry, 63, of Columbus, Ohio, to succeed the late Joseph Cardinal Ritter as Roman Catholic archbishop of St. Louis.

The Pope's appointment left only one other major archbishop's post vacant in the United States, that of New York. Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, died last December.

The Pope also named Bishop Paul F. Tanner as Bishop of St. Augustine, Fla. Tanner, 63, is secretary of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops.

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Arab infiltrators shelled an Israeli settlement on the Syrian border last night, wounding an Israeli woman, a government spokesman said today. Israeli troops returned the fire.

The government spokesman said the intruders were Arab El Fatah saboteurs and their tracks led back to Jordanian territory.

The announcement said infiltrators shelled the Nahal-Golan settlement in Golan Heights. A mine was removed from a road nearby.

Johnson Backer Beats Dove For House Seat

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bertram Podell, a "100 per cent" supporter of President Johnson, won a congressional seat in a special election yesterday, defeating an outspoken opponent of the administration's Vietnam policies.

It was the first election this year in which President Johnson's policies on Vietnam were an issue. Melvin Dubin, an avowed dove, had the backing of presidential "peace" candidate Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn. McCarthy faces his first test at the polls in New Hampshire's presidential primary March 12.

BIG MARGIN

With all the 358 election districts tallied, Podell, the regular Democratic candidate, had 35,913 votes to 27,664 for Dubin, a reform Democrat running on the New Leadership ticket.

Two other candidates ran far behind in the heavily Democratic district in Brooklyn's Coney Island area, which has a heavy Jewish population. Republican George S. Held received 4,909 votes and Conservative Michael V. Ajello ran last with 4,200.

VIET CLASH

The special election, for the House seat vacated by Abraham J. Multer, had been widely billed as a battle between doves and hawks, the result of which would yield clues to the public's attitude on the Vietnam war. Multer now is a state Supreme Court judge.

Podell, a state assemblyman, tended, however, to play down the war issue in his statements after his victory.

"All of us are for peace," he said. "The President is for peace."

'GREAT VICTORY'

Earlier Podell had declared himself as "100 per cent for President Johnson" but had urged early peace talks in Vietnam.

Dubin, a 44-year-old engineer, had been conceded a chance to run close to Podell, 42, because he lost the 1966 Democratic primary to Multer by only 51 votes.

H. Rap Brown May Not Keep Date In Court

NEW YORK (UPI)—H. Rap Brown won't make his date in a New Orleans court today. Mardi Gras crowds booked all the airline seats, his attorney said.

Brown, a black power militant, was arrested yesterday by federal marshals and city police on a warrant charking him with making a trip to California in defiance of a court order limiting him to the New York City area unless he received permission to travel.

BAIL REVOKED

The warrant was issued by Judge Lansing L. Mitchell of the U. S. District Court in New Orleans, who revoked Brown's $15,000 bail on a federal firearms charge and ordered the head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) to appear before him this afternoon.

Brown was arrested last year in New Orleans for carrying a concealed weapon in an airliner while under indictment. He then was free on bail from a Richmond, Va., federal court which indicted him for inciting a riot.

NO PLANE SEATS

Attorney William J. Kunstler said today that he had tried yesterday without success to get a plane reservation to New Orleans.

Kunstler said that because of the Mardi Gras season, the airlines were booked solid into New Orleans and the first available flight left at 10 p. m. EST. He said the federal court had indicated that if it were impossible to deliver Brown the hearing would be postponed.

In court yesterday, Kunstler argued that Brown's trip to Los Angeles, where he addressed a Black Power rally, was in order because a Richmond, Va., federal court had released Brown in Kunstler's custody. The federal judge here before whom Brown appeared rejected the contention.

Judge Marvin E. Rankel said the Virginia bail arrangement definitely restricted Brown to the New York metropolitan area.

times angry affair. Fulbright said he had urged McNamara not to release his statement, but the secretary had it distributed at the Pentagon.

In it, McNamara said the U.S. destroyers had in no way provoked attacks by the North Vietnamese, and had not participated in South Vietnam's bombardment of Communist islands in the gulf, assaults which occurred at about the same time.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said the South Vietnamese used boats supplied by the United States, and contended "North Vietnam had every reason to fear" the U.S. destroyers.

In his statement, McNamara said "we had available to us incontrovertible evidence of these attacks when the decision was made to use our limited and measured response." He said the incidents were "in no sense provoked or justified" by any U.S. action.

Furthermore, McNamara said, the administration had:

"An intelligence report of a highly classified and unimpeachable nature received shortly before the engagement, stating that North Vietnamese naval forces intended to attack the Maddox and the Turner Joy."

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn. ,who is challenging Johnson's expected bid for renomination in several presidential primaries, said if the ships "knew they were going to be attacked, why did they stay around and be attacked?"

McNamara disclosed publicly for the first time that the Maddox was on an intelligence gathering mission off the North Vietnamese coast.

"The primary purpose of the Maddox was to observe North Vietnamese naval activity in those waters, in view of the evidence we had of infiltration by sea by North Vietnam into South Vietnam," he said. "We had the undisputed right to do this. In view of our assistance to South Vietnam, such observations were needed."

McNamara said he knows of no claim that the attack on the Maddox on Aug. 2, 1964, did not occur .It was the second reported attack, two days later, which prompted the U.S. response.

"Some uncertainty existed and to this day exists about some of the precise details of the attack," McNamara said. "But there should be no uncertainty about the fact that an attack took place."

After the first incident, McNamara said, the U.S. ships were ordered to remain 11 miles from the North Vietnamese coastline, instead of the eight miles ordered on earlier patrols, "hardly indicative of an intent to induce another attack."

For the United States to have induced the attack, he said, there would have had to be a conspiracy involving military commanders in the field and at the Pentagon, the secretary of defense, the secretary of state and President Johnson himself. He called that inconceivable.

The Foreign Office also announced that Lennart Petri, Swedish ambassador to Peking, will go to Hanoi "soon" for further talks with North Vietnamese leaders. A spokesman declined to comment on reports he might mediate in the war.

Chanh arrived Tuesday from Moscow for several days of talks and planned to see Prime Minister Tage Erlander this evening.

Many Will Have Tomorrow Off

City and county offices, banks, schools and most grocery stores will have a holiday tomorrow in honor of George Washington's birthday, but many retail stores will celebrate with special sales.

Shoppers will get a chance to park without putting money in parking meters in most cities although Sausalito's parking meters will be in operation.

Public and parochial schools in the county and College of Marin will also have a holiday Friday.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual tomorrow.

Canada May Ask No B52 Flights Over Its Soil

OTTAWA (AP) —The Canadian government may ask the United States to discontinue flights of H-bomb planes over Canada as part of its price for remaining in the North American Air Defense Command, qualified informants said today.

The current 10-year NORAD agreement between Canada and the United States expires in May and negotiations on a renewal have begun .

Canadian officials say the United States has more than enough nuclear missiles in underground silos and aboard submarines to destroy Russia.

They contend that the nuclear bomber patrols, designed to prevent the nuclear strike force being caught on the ground by a surprise attack, serve now only to complicate East-West relations.

agency Tass said the bombing "could have been committed only with the connivance of the American authorities." Tass accused the U. S. government of failing to take "proper measures to protect the embassy.")

A Soviet embassy source speculated that the bombing might have been the work of fanatics inflamed by the mock trial of international communism which concludes today in Washington.

None of the Soviet diplomats live in the embassy building. The elegant mansion four blocks from the White House has become far too small even to provide adequate office space for the Russian mission.

Ambassador Dobrynin and other ranking members of the mission have homes or apartments in various parts of the city, and Soviet embassy offices are scattered among several buildings.

There are no fences around the embassy building and it would be a relatively simple matter for a crank to plant a bomb near it.

The Russians have complained for years that their embassy was too cramped.

The United States and the Soviet Union reached agreement last year on new embassy sites in Moscow and Washington. The new Russian embassy will be located on a 13-acre fenced plot on Wisconsin Avenue with an entrance that can be barred at night by an iron gate.

intervension is nothing less than a prescription for disaster...a grandiose dream of men who suffer from the dangerous delusion of American omnipotence," Church declared.

The real solution to the gold drain, Church added, was the removal of U.S. troops in Europe and the "squandering, on the opposite side of the world, huge sums to suppress an insurrection in Vietnam when insurrection smolders in every major city in America."

could hold on for several more days.

"The enemy is sticking to the last man," he said.

Two Marine Skyhawks knifed through the still grey skies and dropped napalm and 250 pound bombs across the Communist positions around the imperial palace which was the seat of the Annamese kings centuries ago.

The bombs touched off a Communist ammunition dump that exploded in a sheet of orange flame and sent balls of fire soaring into the air above the once sacred shrines now pocketed with North Vietnamese bunkers.

It was one of the most agonizing fights in Marine Corps history. The fight was from house-to-house, through backyards and alleyways and against massive enemy firepower and deadly snipers. At last reports the Marines had made about 150 yards and were about that distance from their goal—the south wall.

Some of the air strikes appeared to hit inside the palace grounds, UPI correspondent Richard V. Oliver reported from the scene. The palace itself is off limits to bombing although the Viet Cong are using it as a fortress.

ARCEO

tioned Bales to take care that he does not prejudice the case through discussions with the newspaper.

Both the paper and the attorneys have a responsibility not to "preheat the community" on any case, he said.

Arceo and Novotny are accused of the stomping and beating murder of Wesley L. Marshall at his apartment at 142 Bungalow Avenue Dec. 6.

A co-defendant, Claude (Frenchy) LeBas, 21, of Long Beach, confessed the murder to the grand jury and pleaded guilty in Superior Court. He was sentenced to life in prison.

LeBas said Novotny participated in the robbery and beating with him and that Arceo helped plan it in his Fairfax apartment.

Arceo is also accused of the armed robbery of Julian's Shell service station in Strawberry Nov. 27 and Don's Market in Fairfax Nov. 30.

His wife, Mary Louise Arceo of Fairfax, is accused of aiding LeBas in the armed robbery of Perry's Delicatessen in San Rafael Dec. 11. Her case has been continued until March 4 for a motion to sever her case from the planned trial of Arceo and Novotny.

Novotny changed attorneys yesterday. He announced that he has hired Michael Lewton of San Francisco to defend him instead of William B. Wolfson of San Rafael.

Accidental Wound

Corte Madera police today reported that Beverly Figone, 36, shot herself accidentally in the right knee while cleaning a .22 caliber gun at her home, 45 Spindrift Passage, at about 4 p.m. yesterday. She was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Retail Clerks Union Favors Marin Strike

Officers of Retail Clerks Union Local 1119 in San Rafael voted today in favor of a strike against Marin County food stores if the companies do not make an acceptable contract offer.

This was the word from Albert DeMello, president of the local. Officials of the local met in the Corte Madera Lion's Club.

A contract with about 55 food stores expired Dec. 31. DeMello said negotiations have produced no firm offer from management of the stores, which include the chain supermarkets.

DeMello said no deadline for an acceptable offer was set.

"We're willing to talk," he said.

The local represents about 800 grocery clerks.

In San Francisco, meanwhile, Retail Clerks Union Local 648 said it has set a vote Sunday on two proposals by market owners to avoid a threatened strike there. The clerks already have voted to strike San Francisco markets if a settlement is not reached.

Marin clerks have a separate contract with the Food Employers Labor Relations Association, representing the large chain stores, and the independent stores, although it annually expires at the same time as the one in San Francisco.

In January 1967, Marin clerks won pay increases of six to 30 cents an hour. The contract was hailed by John Haletsky, Retail Clerks Union southwest division director, as the "best package of improvements won by a local anywhere in the United States in the past year." That settlement averted a threatened walkout.

assessor has established as a fair market value for it."

The Marin County assessor's current valuation on the 2,140 acre Brazil-Souza Ranch is $2,019,000, according to John H. Chambers, chief appraiser.

Chambers said today that investigation showed these sales made to San Francisco promoter John Fell Stevenson in 1964:

The 1,835-acre Brazil Ranch sold for $1,835,000; and the 305-acre Souza Ranch went for $183,000; Total $2,018,000.

In addition to this, Chambers said the appraisers put acreage prices on the ridge lands and on the slopes to compute the price by acreage and came out with $2,109,000.

Chambers said he did not rely on the tax stamps attached to the deed of trust because "stamps are unreliable."

The exact amount involved in the subsequent sale to the First Christian Church of America is not clear, said Chambers, although indications are that the price was somewhere around $2,700,000. However, this was not considered in setting the valuation of $2,019,000.

The land acquisition is slated to go for further approval before the state public works board, Sacramento, Monday. The newly formed group plans to present petitions opposing the purchase at this time as well as to send telegrams and letters.

Beverly Hills Slates Ballot On Viet Issue

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — After being advised by the city attorney that the citizens' petition left little choice, the City Council voted 4-1 to put a Vietnam question on the municipal ballot.

The council voted yesterday to a petition by 1,941 registered voters asking for the referendum.

The proposition on the April 9 ballot will read: "Resolved that the City of Beverly Hills inform the President and the Congress of the United States that the city favors an immediate cease fire and steps toward rapid de-escalation of the war in Vietnam through negotiations with all participants to the conflict, specifically including the National Liberation Front."

San Francisco voters rejected a similar question. Courts ruled that the referendum couldn't be kept off the ballot by city officials.

BERKELEY (UPI) — University of California president Charles J. Hitch, in his first major statement of student regulations since taking office Jan. 1, issued a revised set of rules yesterday to govern the university's nine campuses.

The violations include:

Use, possession or distribution of narcotics or dangerous drugs such as marijuana and LSD except as expressly permitted by law.

Unauthorized entry to or use of university facilities.

Disruption of university functions.

Physical obstruction of persons on university property.

Other violations dealt with forgery, failure to comply with directives of university officials, the damage of university property and disregard for rules governing the university.

Some of the marchers carried American flags today. Others had banners reading "Better Dead Than Red" and "Robert Kennedy to the White House."

General Contradicts Hue Execution Plans

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)--The military commander of Vietnam's northern quarter said today Viet Cong suspects in Hue would be given a military tribunal, not publicly executed as the mayor of Hue had said.

Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam called a news conference to "correct" a statement made yesterday by the Hue mayor, Col. Phan Van Khoa. Khoa had said Viet Cong suspects would be publicly executed. But Lam said otherwise.

"All Viet Cong suspects will be sent to military tribunal and will have a trial," the general said. "All looters will be shot on sight."

Lam said the problem of looting was great because of the large number of displaced civilians in the city. He said there had been reports of soldiers looting but civilians had been involved.

"We have secured 85 per cent of the Citadel now," Lam said. "I have given orders not to bomb the palace. There are 300 enemy left in the Citadel. At least 1,000 were originally in the Citadel."

Lam was asked how long it would take to clear the Viet Cong out of the Citadel.

"Very soon, I hope," he replied. "The problem is weather. We've had 18 bad weather days. With good weather we could do it in three or four days." Poor weather inhibited any action against the Communists.

Lam said the civilian population of Hue had been "cooperative" with the South Vietnamese forces who came to battle the Viet Cong since Jan. 31 when the Communists took the Citadel.

"They leave the VC (Viet Cong) areas," Lam said. He said Hue had about 60,000 refugees and of these 35,000 to 40,000 were in the Citadel.

Lam estimated that 150 to 200 civilians had been killed in Hue in the recent action. He gave the total South Vietnamese troop casualties as 400 killed and 700 wounded in Hue action. Lam said about 1,600 Viet Cong had been killed in the ancient imperial capital.

Civil Rights Bill Facing Change; Cloture Try Fails

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Senate backers of President Johnson's civil rights bill, already dealt one serious setback, plan jettisoning an open-housing provision in an effort to salvage the original measure.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he will propose tabling the controversial open-housing section —an amendment to the administration bill—when debate resumes today. Tabling would kill the amendment.

The civil rights bill itself, would make it a federal crime to interfere with Negroes and civil rights workers pursuing equal rights.

The Senate voted 55 to 37 yesterday for cutting off the debate, seven short of the two-thirds vote needed for cloture. The debate has been going on since Congress reconvened Jan. 15.

GOP senators split 18 to 18 on yesterday's vote after Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen urged the Senate not to gag itself by approving cloture.

The Democratic tally was 37 for and 19 against.

Owner Reports Cabin Is Looted

Fred M. Colland of San Francisco complained to sheriff's deputies Sunday that, sometime during the past few weeks, burglars ransacked and stole several items from his weekend cabin in Drake's Estates.

Stolen were some valuable, antique bookends, electronic equipment, bedding and kitchenware, he said.

Deputies also reported today that thieves stole a $70 auto sterophonic unit from the car of Steven E. Carpenter of Bodega Bay, while it was parket at Tomales High School Friday night.

Pentagon Not Stretching Vietnam Tour Past Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon apparently intends to maintain the one-year Vietnam duty tour regardless of any other actions to boister U.S. military manpower in Southeast Asia.

"There is no sentiment in favor of stretching the tour," one high official said. "The one-year tour is awfully useful as a morale builder."

Possible actions include calling to active duty thousands of National Guardsmen and reservists, increasing draft calls, shortening the interval between tours of duty in Vietnam and bringing more troops back from Europe.

An already tight manpower situation would become worse if President Johnson should order an increase in authorized troop levels for Vietnam beyond the currently planned 525,000 by mid-summer.

Pentagon officials said Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, has not yet requested any over-all increase. But military sources expect that he will.

Last week Johnson approved the speedy shipment to Vietnam of about 10,500 Army paratroopers and Marines specifically asked for by Westmoreland as insurance against an expected Communist assault on the Khe Sanh stronghold in northwestern South Vietnam.

This development highlighted the manpower squeeze because it drew from the United States a brigade of the 82nd Airborne Division, the last divison-size Army outfit capable of quick reaction to meet new crises which may develop in the Caribbean, Mediterranean or elsewhere.

The necessity to draw also on an already thin Marine contingent in the United States also tended to underscore the over-all manpower problem.

About 40 per cent of the paratroop brigade had been back from Vietnam less than two years, and many less than one year. The Marine regiment was in somewhat the same shape.

CBS Films Due In Theaters

LOS ANGELES (AP) — At least two and possibly four motion pictures produced by Columbia Broadcasting System will be distributed in 1968 by National General Corporation, a motion picture theater chain.

This was disclosed by Eugene V. Klein, president and board chairman of National General, after the annual meeting yesterday.

Klein said the CBS films will first be shown in theaters and later on television.

The two companies have $85 million earmarked for the films, Klein said.

Tri-Di Camera In Works For German Police

Hamburg, Germany (GF) — Policemen in west Germany will soon be outfitted with a new camera, developed by Zeiss of Oberkochem, capable of taking plastic, three-dimensional photos. Police will use it chiefly to take pictures at the site of accidents.

For example, policemen will no longer have to use tape measures and chalk in collecting evidence, procedures which in the past often caused highways to be blocked for some time after accidents.

Morever, the photos will deliver much more compelling and acceptable evidence for courts involved in deciding cases concerning accidents.

The camera is still in the final stages of development at Zeiss, but is expected to be ready for use in the very near future.

Republican Woman Cites Confidence Gap

The Novato Republican Women's Club was told yesterday that America's confidence in its national leaders had ebbed seriously and that Republicans would be swept into office this year.

The speaker was Mrs. James A. Rowen, Republican precinct director for Marin County. She said heavy spending, the Vietnam War and a high crime rate have hurt Democrats.

Roman furniture was copied from Greek models.

No Comments In Marathon Paper Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mediator Sam Kagel pressed on today with marathon talks seeking an end to San Francisco's 51-day newspaper strike.

Kagel talked with employer bargainers and joint committee representing 15 unions until late last night. The session started at 9:30 a.m.

The mediator refused any comment on negotiation progress.

"We'll keep on talkinag in the morning," he said.

The Mailers Union went on strike last Jan. 5, closing down the San Francisco Newspaper Printing Co.

Typographers, Hearst Hold Bargain Session

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Representatives of the International Typographers Union and management of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner met yesterday for the first negotiations in the labor dispute since Jan. 26.

Federal mediator George F. Duncan said cautiously following the session, "I wouldn't say a great deal of progress was made although there may be hope for an ultimate settlement."

Sessions between the Machinists and management are scheduled tomorrow and with the American Newspaper Guild on Friday.

The guild struck the afternoon daily last Dec. 15 and the dispute spread to eight other unions at the paper. The newspaper has continued to publish during the strike.

Criminal complaints were issued against four men yesterday charging them with auto theft and arson in connection with the theft and burning of a truck loaded with Sunday copies of the paper.

Police said they were hunting for a fifth man allegedly involved in the incident.

Sanitary Board Awards Contract To Re-Route Main

Richardson Bay Sanitary district directors last night awarded a contract for $11,812 to low bidder Alf Burtelson Co. of San Francisco to re-route a main on Ricardo Road in Strawberry.

Second lowest of five bids was $13,500 from Soiland Co. of Novato, according to Douglas de la Fontaine, secretary.

Final payment of $46,000 to Dorr-Oliver Co. of New Jersey for a sludge dewatering Jersey for a sludge dewatering and combustion system was approved.

Three lots in Reedlands Woods Unit No. 1 were approved for annexation.

Woman Presses Car Theft Charge

When a friend took her car without her permission last night, a Novato woman had him arrested for auto theft, according to Novato police reports.

Raymond John Broughton, 39, of 85 Baca Vista, Novato, was booked into Marin County jail with bail set at $1,150. He was scheduled to appear at 1:30 p.m. today in Marin Municipal Court to answer auto theft charges.

Joan Horne, 49, of 11 Joan Avenue, Novato reported that her 1962 model car value at $600 was driven away without her permission about 11 p.m., according to police reports. Novato police found the car and Broughton a few minutes later at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue.

Alert Tow-Truck Driver Solves Hit-Run On Span

The driver of a car involved in an injury accident on Golden Gate Bridge early Saturday was cited today by the California Highway Patrol for felony hit-and-run driving.

Sgt. Ernan O'Koherty, 24, of Hamilton Air Force Base, tried to give away his car after the accident but it was traced through an alert tow-truck driver, according to the highway patrol.

The maroon Chevrolet driven by Sgt. O'Doherty changed lanes midspan on the bridge at 2:10 a.m. and struck the left side of a car driven by Clarence T. White, 77, of 95 Cascade Drive, Mill Valley, causing it to swerve into the bridge rail, according to patrolmen.

White's wife, Elizabeth, 69, suffered minor injuries but told patrolmen she would see her own doctor.

Doherty reportedly did not stop at the scene of the accident but drove his car to Fort Baker where it became stuck in mud on a road shoulder. He was given a ride home by a fellow airman.

At noon Saturday O'Doherty signed the title of his car over to James Guibbini of 1679 Hill Road, Novato, because he didn't want the expense of having it fixed, patrolmen reported.

But when Guibbini drove the car from Fort Baker onto Highway 101, it was recognized as the suspected hit-run vehicle by a tow-truck driver who called the CHP.

The car was stopped near the Alto Wye and patrolmen reported they found that yellow paint transfers on it matched the paint on White's damaged car.

Rights Panel, Sheriff Seek Closer Work

Closer cooperation between Marin County Sheriff Louis B. Mountanos and the Marin Human Rights Commission on a police-community relations program was promised by both yesterday.

Mountanos met with Austin J. Thompson, human rights executive director; Dante Andreotti, community relations official for the U.S. Department of Justice; Gordon E. Misner, criminology professor at the University of California at Berkeley, and Bella H. Aaron, chairman of the police-community relations committee of the human rights commission.

Thompson said he seeks to have Misner suggest means to put in force some of the recommendations made in his report on police-community relations in Marin City last year. Andreotti commended the officials for developing a procedure under which discrimination complaints made be lodged against county agencies.

She was a member of the league's board of directors for six years.

Boat Mishaps Kill 90, Cost $1 Million In '67

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Boating accidents claimed 90 lives in California in 1967, a drop of 13 from a year earlier, but the property damage from boating mishaps topped the $1 million mark.

The department of harbors and watercraft said there were 561 accidents during 1967, a decline from 591 accidents in 1966. Of that total, 163 occurred on the ocean, 217 in tidal water and 178 on lakes or reservoirs. A total of 716 boats were involved. An estimated 235 of the accidents could have been avoided by greater alertness on the part of the operator.

U.N. Bows Out On Mineral Lease

UNITED NATIONS, NY. (AP) —The United Nations has informed a California company that it has no authority to grant it exclusive rights to a mineral exploration lease in the middle of the Red Sea, a U.N. spokesman said yesterday.

He named the firm as the Crawford Marine Specialists of San Francisco, and said it had requested "a 38.5 square mile exclusive mineral exploration lease to survey thermal seafloor springs in the middle of the Red Sea."

Copper was understood to be the goal of the exploration.

BIRCH SOCIETY MEMBER

Senator Holds Reagan Too Liberal

By DON HARRISON

Schmitz is a Republican from Tustin, in predominantly conservative Orange County. He is the only legislator who is a member of the John Birch Society.

And while many others criticize the Republican governor for cutting too much in state spending, Schmitz said Reagan's budget for the next fiscal year is "too fat."

'FENCING DUEL'

Schmitz said he met with Reagan at the governor's request recently — shortly after Schmitz issued a press release critical of the governor's budget. He said they had "a fencing duel in which no one drew blood or won."

They argued over issues such as state spending, Schmitz' bill to repeal the Rumford open housing act and Reagan's appointment of Caspar Weinberger as state finance director, he said.

Schmitz said he came away from the meeting feeling that Reagan misrepresents himself as a conservative, possibly to enhance his chance for national office.

Schmitz said in an interview he would not want Reagan to run for the presidency and would not support Reagan if he did.

SEN. JOHN E. SCHMITZ
'Budget too fat'

At a news conference, Reagan described Schmitz as a man "in search of a party."

"Many people refuse to give up the dream that is Reagan," Schmitz said later. "Perhaps the wish is father to the thought. Conservatives look upon Reagan as their last hope" and they don't like to hear him criticized, he said.

Schmitz, 38, dresses immaculately, has a pencil-thin mustache, and smokes cigars. He taught philosophy and political science at an Orange County junior college before his election in 1964. He likes to punctuate his conversations with quotations from Dante, J. Edgar Hoover and Thomas Jefferson.

Reagan's appointment of former Republican Assembly leader Caspar Weinberger as state finance director prompts Schmitz' stern disapproval.

TOO LIBERAL

To him, Weinberger is "the embodiment of the liberal Republican in California." He believes Reagan appointed Weinberger to "gain points" with followers of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"It's my belief," Schmitz said, "the governor is looking for a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket."

Reagan insists he is not a candidate for any national office.

Schmitz said Reagan opposes his bill to repeal the Rumford Act, which bans racial discrimination in the sale or rental of property.

The governor prefers another bill modifying the act "because he (Reagan) is afraid of being called a reactionary," Schmitz said.

BUDGET MATTERS

In budget matters, "Reagan recommends aspirin when major surgery is needed," Schmitz said. "It's strange that the governor sees fit to increase the university budget by 11 per cent in a so-called austerity year," he said.

Schmitz also criticized Reagan's proposal to grant state employees a five per cent wage increase. He said the cost of living has only increased three per cent.

When asked about his membership in the John Birch Society, Schmitz makes a point of describing his involvement in other organizations as well. He taught school, is a major in the Marine Corps Reserve, and was formerly Orange County chairman of the California Republican Assembly.

He said Birch Society membership has not prevented him from establishing close relationships with other senators — except for liberals "who would find grounds to attack me no matter what I was."

PARTY BOLTER

Schmitz, chairman of the Senate Committee on Local Government, was one of the Republicans who bolted party lines at the beginning of the current session to support the reelection of Hugh Burns, D-Fresno, as Senate President pro tem.

"Burns has always been a fair dealer," Schmitz said. "I could see no reason for a protest vote."

The Republican admits he is not a great supporter of party unity. He says "I believe in unity in matters of principle . . . not of party."

Marijuana Plea

Ronald Earl Sanders of Gate 5, Sausalito, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court Monday to a charge that he possessed a marijuana cigarette at his houseboat March 22. Jury trial was scheduled for April 22.

Russ Expert Doubts Value Of Bombings

SANTA MONICA (AP) — A five-month study made in 1966 for the Department of Defense by a Rand Corp. expert on the Soviet economy holds that continued bombing of North Vietnam is of doubtful value.

Dr. Oleg Hoeffding, author of the report, said yesterday that it now "is somewhat dated but I believe it is still valid."

Hoeffding has been on the staff of the Air Force-sponsored research facility since 1953. The bombing study report was made to defense officials in December 1966, and recently declassified.

"We have intensified bombing as I speculated we would," Hoeffding said in a telephone interview, "and the general lack of effect is about what I anticipated in the report."

Hoeffding said he considers the report critical of administration policy in the air war in Vietnam.

The report says U.S. air attacks have imposed a severe strain on North Vietnam's resources, "but there is no evidence of critical or progressive deterioration or disruption of economic activity." A major factor, the study finds, is North Vietnam's continued access to military and economic aid from Russia and China.

Robes worn by British lawyers in court dates back to 1694 when it was decreed that as mourning for Queen Mary II, barristers should wear black robes.

Youth Admits Burglary Counts

Steven W. Mitchell, 18, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court Monday to charges of burglary and possessing stolen property. He was told to return to court March 18 for sentencing.

Mitchell admitted possessing more than 200 keys stolen from the Coca Cola factory in San Rafael Aug. 26. He admitted taking auto tires and a car battery from Mac's Disco on Francisco Boulevard in San Raafeal Oct. 16.

A charge that he burgled the Belvedere Villa Apartments in San Rafael Oct. 18, taking a cigarette machine, was dismissed by the district attorney in view of the guilty pleas.

Surgeons Study Fate Of Siamese Twins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Doctors at John Wesley Hospital say it will be several days before it can be determined if Siamese-twin girls, joined from chest to navel, can be separated by surgery.

The twins, who weighed a total of 12 pounds, 2 ounces at birth Friday, were born to an unidentified 16-year-old unwed girl, physicians disclosed yesterday. The infants are being tested to determine if they share any internal organs.

THE FUTURE FASHION PLATE?

A Los Angeles engineer thinks women living in an urban environment in the year 2000 will look like Vicki Dunlap. She wears body paint for insulation against the weather and air pollutants, including radioactivity. A computer necklace programs her day, governing the temperature of her kitchen oven, warning when her children will be home and monitoring the guidance device of her car. Colored jewels are warning signals. Her hat is a receptor and transmitter for a two-way radio worn around the arms with the earrings supplying energy for radio and computer. (AP Wirephoto)

Student Sessions Set On Planning A Career

A career informational center for Marin and Sonoma high school students will be held at the Petaluma fair grounds Monday through March 1.

Counseling will be scheduled for 40-minute sessions Monday, Thursday and Friday, Feb. 29-March 1, from 9:30 a.m. to noon. On Tuesday and Wednesday counseling hours will run from 9:30 a.m. to 2:20 p.m.

The center will be open to the public from 5 p.m. until 10 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 29.

Different grades from each school can participate, according to Arthur Bob Walker, department of instruction coordinator for the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office which co-sponsors the center with the Sonoma County schools office.

Students may select three occupations on which to hear presentations, Walker said.

Forty-seven occupations will be represented at the center, among them: advertising and public relations, carpentry, law, meatcutting, social welfare and veterinary medicine. New subjects added this year will be automotives, aviation, communication media, interior decoration and theatre.

Couple Booked On Marijuana

A Sausalito couple was arrested on charges of psossessing marijuana yesterday in Santa Rosa after a policeman said he found them nude in a car.

John H. Oxendine, 21, a musician, and Dorothy L. Quayle, 22, both of 403 Napa Street, were booked into Sonoma County Jail and then released on $1,205 bail each to appear in Sonoma County Municipal Court Tuesday.

Patrolman Ray Radley said he found in the car a bottle containing a marijuana-like substance and two marijuana cigarettes.

Heavy Rainfall Due To Ease By Tonight

A storm marked by heavy rain at night and clear skies during the past two days will diminish tonight with light rains, the weather bureau said.

Only minor damage due to the storm has been reported in Marin with trees down in front of 39 Belvedere Avenue and 150 Bayview Avenue in Belvedere and small mud slides on Buena Vista Avenue in Mill Valley.

A power failure which affected much of downtown San Rafael last night between 3:20 and 5:12 a.m. was caused by failure of an underground cable on Fourth Street between B and C Streets, according to the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. spokesman.

Rainfall reported in various areas of the county fro m 8a.m. yesterday to 8 a.m. today included: Bolinas .67, Tamalpais Valley .82, Mill Valley .85, Belvedere .58, Terra Linda .38, San Anselmo .55, and Novato .40.

San Rafael had .52 from noon yesterday to noon today.

Slaying Suspect Admits To Drugs

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) —A 25-year-old London chef charged with murdering an American girl student admitted using marijuana with her after they met in a park, Edinburgh high court was told yesterday.

Barry Michael Ashington has pleaded innocent to strangling Anita Harris, 20, of Eureka, at an Edinburgh camping site last September.

Detective Chief Inspector Ronald Clancy said that he traced and arrested Ashington in Ennis, Ireland.

In reply to questions, he said Ashington made a statement admitting meeting the girl and sharing marijuana cigarettes with her in an Edinburgh park.

Bordello Plaque Just Too Much

JACKSON (UPI) — A group of city officials and businessmen, who dedicated a heart-shaped plaque to ladies of the evening in a joyous ceremony Valentine's Day, chiseled the memento from its concrete base last night amid an air of dissension.

A spokesman for the original dedication committee said the decision to remove the controversial bronze plaque was made because of "threats made on a family member of one of the councilmen who approved" the dedication.

The plaque, honoring this gold rush camp's once flourishing colony of bordellos, had been smeared with thick red paint earlier in the day.

$126 Memorial Fund For Honor To Captain

A a memorial to Mill Valley ship's captain William H. Iliff, the crew of his last ship, the Washington Bear, has sent $126 to the Southern Marin Boys' Club "to honor the name of a fine captain and a fine man."

Captain Iliff died on board the Washington Bear Jan. 7 while steaming from Japan to Korea. He had gone to sea for 43 of his 60 years, and had lived in Marin 14 years.

J. H. Kilpack, who is now master of the Washington Bear, sent the $126 cashier's check to the Independent-Journal to be presented to the boys' club in Captain Iliff's memory. The check will be presented to Les Mize, a leader of the club.

Marin Groups Due Overseas For USO

Johnson Names Political Team

By United Press International

Although President Johnson has yet to formally announce whether he will seek re-election, his selection of a campaign team left practically no doubt today that he will be a candidate.

It was disclosed yesterday that Johnson has picked an old political confidant, James H. Rowe Jr., to run his campaign, and spokesmen for the Democratic National Committee said Rowe would go right to work coordinating the Johnson effort in the primaries.

KNOWS ROPES

Rowe, 58, is a Harvard educated member of one of Washington's big name law firms. His association with Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey goes back to New Deal days when Rowe was an assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Johnson was a young congressman.

National committee officials said Rowe would concentrate first on the six states where Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., plans to compete against Johnson in democratic primaries.

OTHERS ON JOB

While Rowe oversees the general strategy of the President's campaign, Humphrey, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien and White House aide Marvin Watson will see to the tapes of the day-to-day electioneering.

Speaking engagements in the contested primary states are already being set up for Humphrey and O'Brien.

Michigan Gov. George Romney meantime told a Rice Lake, Wis., audience that the present U.S. policy in Vietnam could lead "down the road to World War III."

HITS DRAFT

The Republican presidential hopeful also criticized the new draft regulations issued Friday for failing to make the issuance of deferments more uniform and for failing to reverse the present policy and draft younger men first.

Former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, campaigning in Pennsylvania and as a third party presidential candidate, predicted he will win the November election if he polls as many votes as GOP Candidate Barry Goldwater did in 1964.

Wallace said that in a three-way race, Goldwater's 27,177,873 vote to total would be enough to win a plurality.

On Vietnam, Wallace said the United States should deliver an ultimatum to its Western European allies that they either "help us or we ask them to pay back the debts they owe us and we cut off their foreign aid."

Call Sounded For Heavier Cigarette Tax

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Phasing out of the cigarette industry is urged by the president elect of the American Public Health Association.

Addressing an Engineers' Week banquet, Dr. Lester Breslow said yesterday the elimination could be accomplished by an increased tax on smokes.

The former director of the California State Public Health Department, now a University of California at Los Angeles professor, said, "Today, to reverse the rising mortality rate from lung cancer we must complete the job of public education and then phase out a massive industry."

Terming cigarette smoking a modern epidemic, Breslow said, last year but died in anorthern-only now being fully recognized for the hazard that it is."

Assault Charge Booking Is Made

A Tiburon man was booked into the county jail today on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon on a warrant issued Dec. 19.

Kent L. Beardsley, 40, of 75-F Redhill Mesa, was arrested at his residence at 12:15 a. m. Released on bail of $1,250, he is to appear Friday in Marin Municipal Court.

The warrant was issued after Harley Callaway of 157 Marlin Drive, Mill Valley, complained that Beardsley kicked him in the head at a party on Dec. 17.

Student Battles Reclassification

COSTA MESA (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union says it will try to force the Selective Service to restore a student deferment for Stephen Turley, 20, who turned in his draft card to protest the Vietnam war.

An ACLU spokesman said Turley, a Dartmouth University freshman, was reclassified 1-A after he turned in his draft card with 357 other youths at a Boston rally last October.

The spokesman said the ACLU will seek a writ to force Turley's reclassification as a student.

He said similar action was taken in eight other cases across the country. Draft boards restored student deferments in four cases and the other are still pending, he said.

Gov. Kirk Is Keeping Out Of Teacher Halt

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)— Gov. Claude Kirk said today he has no intention of meeting the demands of the 24,800 teachers striking in protest against the state's education spending policies.

"This is a time for cool heads," said the Republican governor, just back from a western speaking tour.

For the first time since the statewide teacher strike began Monday, schools in Miami began to open. More than 6,000 of the 9,000 teachers in Dade County walked off their jobs Monday but today, 101 of the 213 schools there were open.

State School Superintendent Floyd Christian told Kirk that the critical areas were in Miami, St. Petersburgwn Tampa, Daytona Beach and Escambia County. Duval County — Jacksonville —the state's second largest county, was keeping its schools open with 2,800 regular and 800 substitute teachers in schools normally manned by 5,500 teachers.

Kirk disclosed no plans for solving the crisis after a meeting with education officials. He said he might fly to Miami, and to Cross City, where Mrs. Ruth Rains, the Florida "Teacher of the Year," is still on the job.

Kirk said he did not intend to call the Legislature into special session to consider teachers' demands for more money and a professional negotiations law.

$75,000 Bond Vote Slated For April 9

Sausalito City Council last night unanimously called for a $75,000 municipal bond election to be consolidated with the general municipal election April 9.

The bonds would finance the city's share of a federally assisted $200,000 program for water system improvements.

As proposed the $75,000 together with $25,000 from the Marin Municipal Water District would be put up to matching a $100,000 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The council said the bonds would be repaid at the rate of $15,000 a year over a five-year period, and would require no increase in the city's tax rate.

The city has been budgeting $15,000 a year for water line improvements, and would be spending the same amount, but would be gaining the federal grant and completing needed project sooner, the council noted.

School District Wins Property Tax Hike

SANTA CRUZ (AP) — Voters have approved a 47 per cent increase in the $1.32 property taxes for the Santa Cruz High School District.

Returns early today listed 8,480 yes votes and 7,236 no.

Sausalito Drops Plans For Garage

Sausalito City Council last night ruled out construction of a parking garage at the city's lot opposite Village Fair on Bridgeway because it would cut out the waterfront view.

The idea died when D. Jackson Faustman of Sacramento, consulting traffic engineer, reported that the tops of cars would be 10 to 12 feet above the sidewalk in one plan, and higher in two others.

Faustman, in a preliminary report, presented three proposals, one costing about $1.25 million, another at $975,000 and a third at $600,000.

After he reported all were economically feasible, Mayor Mel Wax said, "We can afford it, but I don't want it. I suspect the people of Sausalito won't sacrifice the view to accommodate more automobiles."

Faustman explained that the proposed garage, to be constructed partially below grade, couldn't be lowered anymore because of the waterfront location.

"I think we should abandon the site," Wax said, and other councilmen agreed.

Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin suggested that consideration be given to the possibility of constructiong a parking garage at the city-owned land at Caledonia-Johnson and Bridgeway.

The council asked Faustman to report on this site, and he said he would return part of his $2,000 fee because the waterfront studies wouldn't have to be completed.

Faustman said that the city's existing parking is adequate for weekdays "for some time to come," but doesn't meet the weekend visitor demands.

He said ultimately the city could have a major parking structure at Marinship and a small one downtown.

Drunken Driver Sent To Jail

Clyde Randels Robello, 26, of 25 Elizabeth Way, San Rafael, was sentenced to 10 days in jail, fined $289 and placed on probation for a year in Marin Municipal Court Monday for drunken driving.

A report by the Marin County Probation Office said Robello, had a prior conviction for drunken driving, was arrested after a minor traffic accident on D Street, San Rafael, Aug. 29.

When the police officer asked for his driver's license, the report said, Robello put out his lit cigarette on the officer's wrist. Robello also pulled the trigger on the shotgun in the patrol car, but the chamber was empty, the report said.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is 65.

Citizen Council Airs Views On City Buildings

The Sausalito Citizens Council endorsed the enlargement of the main fire station at its present location at 20 Caledonia Street, in a letter last night to the Sausalito City Council.

The citizens council also favored a common site for the city hall and library, but felt it should be "well to the north in the Caledonia Street area. Astute sale of our antiquated city hall could well pay for this site."

A city hall and/or library shouldn't be placed in the fire station-police station area because it isn't far enough removed from the overcrowded central plaza area, is awkward in shape, minimal in size and traffic congest would be worsened, the citizens group reported.

Police Find Hot Trail In Burglary

YORK, Neb. (AP) — Police found a hot trail in an early morning breakin at a diner here.

The evidence showed the intruder had entered through an air conditioner opening, fried a cheeseburger and a few hash brown potatoes. The grill was still hot when officers checked.

Absence-Plagued Sausalito Planning Body Cut To Five

Sausalito's nine-member planning commission, hampered by absenteeism, is slated to be reduced to five members.

Councilmen, agreed that membership should be reduced, debated last night whether it shoud be reduced to five or seven members.

Mayor Mel Wax took a poll which revealed that only Councilman Earl F. Dunphy and Alexander R. Imlay favored seven, as recommended by the planning commission.

Wax said he didn't see the need for a seven-member commission noting that the council, with five members, is able to handle "more important, more difficult" matters.

Imlay contended that seven members would provide a greater diversity of opinion and decisions would be made by a larger number.

Mrs. Carl Spring, representing the Sausalito Womans Club, said the club favored a seven-member commission which would be "more representative of the community."

Councilmen agreed that planning commissioners should serve three-year terms, staggered so that at the start one will be appointed for one year, two for two years and two for three years.

The council also agreed that a majority vote of three would be necessary for action, even if only three members were in attendance at a meeting, and that the commission should regulate absenteeism.

The council asked City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to draft an ordinance to establish a five-member planning commission with three year terms as proposed.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

ROADSIDE EMBLEMS — Referred to the Community Appearance Advisory Board and the Public Works Department a request from Seapoint Parlor 158, Native Sons of the Golden West to install two or three organization emblems at roadside entrances to the city.

TAXI FARE BOOST — Referred to City Mgr. George M. Patterson a request from Sausalito Taxi Service to increase rates to 60 cents for each additional mile after the first mile and waiting time to $6 an hour. Councilmen wanted more information including existing rates.

ASPHALT BIDS — Awarded Ghilotti Bros. of San Rafael, lowest of five bidders, a contract to provide asphalt for street resurfacing projects at $11.40 a ton and instructed Public Works Director Norman Wohlschlaeger to limit expenditure to $7,592.

TRIDENT VARIANCE — Set March 19 at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on an application by the Trident restaurant, 558 Bridgeway, for a variance on lot coverage to permit the restaurant to cover 55 per cent of its existing deck. Councilman Jan Paul Dyk moved to deny the variance, but Patterson said the council would first have to set a public hearing. The planning commission had approved the variance by a 5-1 vote.

CATV ANTENNA — Continued until March 5 consideration of an application by Cable Television of Marin to relocate its antenna from adjacent to Mead Terrace subdivision to an area along Cloud View Trail, adjacent to the city's southerly boundary.

MARKET HEARING — Set March 5 at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on an appeal by William F. Kartozian of planning commission denial of a variance to permit a Stop 'N Go market at 109 Second Street.

INSURANCE REFUND — Received a report from Patterson that the city received a $6,629 refund from Workmens Compensation Insurance Fund because of a favorable loss experience during the past year.

OFFICER COMMENDED — Passed a resolution commending Police Officer Robert Glynn who was named "Policeman of the Year" by the Marin County Peace Officers Association.

Rock Players' Scandal Claimed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Young rock 'n' roll musicians are being victimized by "unscrupulous managers and employers," the American Federation of Musicians says.

The president of the union's Local 17, John V. Tranchitella, said Monday, that affidavits from hundreds of young musicians alleging falsification of union records and kickbacks by managers and employers will be turned over to authorities shortly.

He said one large company, which he would not identify, signed musical groups to a union contract but paid much less than the price named in the contract.

One young musician received a check for $28.50 rather than $350 for a week's work, said Tranchitella.

Ex-Marine Faces Slaying Term

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After nearly four years in a hospital for the criminally insane, an ex-Marine will begin a prison sentence for five years to life.

Loyd A. Cribbs, 33, was committed to the Atascadero State Hospital after the 1963 slaying of his wife's former husband, Marvin E. Koen, 41, of Temple City.

Cribbs was committed to the hospital, according to Deputy Dist. Atty. Sidney A. Cherniss Jr., because he had lost his speech and memory and was unable to understand the nature of the court proceedings.

Cribbs was sentenced to pris- Monday. Cribbs was convicted of second-degree murder. Psychiatric treatment in an appropriate state penal facility was recommended by the court.

You don't have time to take the Reading Dynamics course?

Until you do, you won't have time for much else!

During 1967, 10,132 Northern Californians who didn't have time took the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics course.

These were the really busy people. Men and women whose professions were so demanding—whose responsibilities were so overwhelming—that they simply had to do something to create more hours in the day.

Many were college students who had found that their academic pursuits left no time for anything else. They were chained to the study table, with no relief in sight.

Fortunately, there is an answer for students, engineers, attorneys, medical doctors, teachers, and people from all walks of life who have to read more with improved comprehension and recall.

How is Reading Dynamics different from other courses?

Conventional rapid reading courses aspire to 450 to 600 words per minute. Most Reading Dynamics graduates can read between 1,500 and 3,000 words per minute, and many go even higher.

Equal or better comprehension

With the Reading Dynamics method, you read every word. You do not skim. You learn a skill that permits you to read faster with equal or better understanding than the average reader. Our average graduate reads 4.7 times faster without sacrificing comprehension.

TIME magazine says

TIME MAGAZINE, in referring to Reading Dynamics' impact on our nation's legislators, said, "Washington has seen nothing like it since the days when Teddy Roosevelt read three books a day and ran the country at the same time."

Senate Leaders praise method

SENATOR TALMADGE, Georgia "...the greatest single step which we could take in educational progress."

Rapid Reading in White House

The late President Kennedy invited Mrs. Evelyn Wood to the White House to teach Reading Dynamics to key members of his staff. To date, over 300,000 people have enrolled in the course. They include Senators, businessmen, engineers, housewives, high school and college students, and busy people from every walk of life... people who like to read but until they learned to read right didn't have the time.

Novato Council Gives 4 Per Cent Pay Hikes

Novato City Council last night gave an across-the-board 4 per cent increase to all city employees with the possible exception of 10 employees who may get more.

This fiscal year's cost of increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, will be $7,476 for the 4 per cent increase for 51 employees and $2,950 for the 10 employees, if their raises are approved.

The council also ordered a study and overhaul of the five-step pay plan and a comparison with starting and top salaries of other cities to be ready within 90 days so a possible second raise or adjustment can be considered at budget time in June.

In recommendations of the council salary committee consisting of Councilmen Harley McAskill and William Jack Adams, the 10 employees recommended for large increases have been at their top scale for several years.

The council authorized the larger increases if the department head and City Mgr. J. Julien Baget agree that the employee has given "over and above satisfactory performance of work in all work factors," and had been at the top step for more than a year. Baget said he would start to review these cases immediately.

Administration approval would give the following employees these increases: Eleanor Klapperich, typist clerk from $458 to $481; Fern Isaacson, clerk, from $493 to $556; Juanita Gibson, administrative secretary, from $505 to $570; George Faustine, assistant city engineer from $628 to $660; Preston Johnson, Harold E. Owen Jr., Thomas Miller and Harry Slagill, maintenance men, from $570 to $598; Wade Lackey, foreman, from $693 to $720; and Maurice D. Lafferty, police sergeant from $763 to $883.

Councilman Adams in explaining the committee's action, said "top people in longevity are entitled to be paid at a higher step."

He said that the step system was unrealistic and that there should be some variation in the number of steps per job.

"Some jobs may require two or three steps to reach the top and others five or six," he said in recommending a complete study of the city's five-step job classification system.

Councilman McAskill said that the study should put Novato in the medium bracket compared to other cities for starting and for top salaries when presented to the council before budget time.

The Novato city employees association had asked for a straight 10 per cent across the board increase. When offered the 4 per cent for six months with a complete study for the second half of the year, Merle Mauroni, a representative of the employees, said that it would be satisfactory to the association.

Councilman M. E. Babe Silva said that he wanted the city employees not to be ashamed of what they are getting and that the new study should "put them in a spot where they are not too low."

The 4 per cent increase does not apply to the city manager nor the department heads whose salaries are set separately by the city council.

The council agreed to consider several changes in personnel rules at its March 12 meeting. These include the length of time required to earn a vacation; when an employee is entitled to sick leave; leave of absence for more than 90 days and the police uniform allowance.

Light Quake Felt

New Muni Cars Proposal Made

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A plan to replace all San Francisco Municipal Railway rolling stock in conjunction with the beginning of service by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District was proposed yesterday by city officials.

The $71 million program would provide the muni with 600 new motor coaches, 160 trolleys, 50 mini-buses and 100 new streetcars.

The new equipment would be furnished through a non-profit corporation financed by tax-exempt bonds. The muni would lease the equipment from this corporation.

City officials said the plan would replace all the equipment now in service between 1972 and 1974.

Kirschke Fights County Firing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Kirschke, convicted last month of murdering his wife and her boyfriend, has been fired as a deputy county district attorney.

Kirschke, who had been suspended when the charges were placed against him, was fired Feb. 8, one month after his conviction. County civil service records disclosed the action Monday, noting a letter from Kirschke, who asked for a hearing on the dismissal.

Jack Ruby Trial Judge Dies Of Heart Attack

JUDGE JOE B. BROWN
"Kinda liked old Jack"

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) —Judge Joe B. Brown, the state district judge who meted out the death sentence for Jack Ruby only to see his verdict overturned, died yesterday of a heart attack at the age of 60.

Brown, a big, affable man who insisted on courtesy but allowed a relaxed atmosphere in his court, had several heart attacks before, and after the Ruby trial.

Ruby shot to death Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, as Oswald was being transferred from the Dallas City Jail to a cell in the county jail.

The soft-spoken Brown told friends of "drinking a Dr. Pepper with old Jack" during recesses of the Ruby trial. "You know," he said, "I kinda liked talking to him."

He refused a change of venue for Ruby, one of the items on which the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals later reversed the original decision and sent it back to Wichita Falls for retrial.

Later, after Ruby died of cancer in 1967 in the Dallas County Jail, Brown told friends he "doubted that Jack Ruby could get a fair trial anywhere." Ruby died while his new trial was pending.

Publicly, he would never comment, but he said of the Ruby trial held in Dallas: "I think his trial here was as fair as any man could have gotten under the circumstances."

Meeting Put Off

The Bolinas Harbor District Board has postponed its February meeting from tomorrow to Feb. 29 because of Washington's Birthday. The board will meet at 8 p.m. at the district office in Bolinas.

Clifford Lund Is Appointed Baar's Finance Chairman

Clifford S. Lund of San Rafael has been named finance chairman of the campaign to elect Louis H. Baar, San Rafael councilman, as supervisor for the Fourth District.

Lund, foreman of the 1967 Marin County Grand Jury, is immediate past president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and a Marin resident for 35 years.

"I believe that good sound government begins at the grass roots level of local government," Lund said. "This is why I have pledged to support Baar for supervisor."

Lund said he was not a resident of the Fourth District, but felt residents have an obligation to work for the good of the county regardless of the district in which they live.

Church Council Wants More Foreign Aid

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The National Council of Churches has urged the United States to develop a "vastly increased" foreign aid program designed to produce "needed and rapid social change."

The major policy statement was approved yesterday by the general board of the 34-deonomination organization on the opening day of its winter meeting here. The council has a constituent membership of 44 million.

VIETNAM ISSUES

The board today considers a proposed policy statement on "the imperatives of peace and responsibilities of power" which was expected to touch on issues raised by the Vietnam War.

The board yesterday approved without opposition the document on "World Poverty and the demands of Justice."

The statement said the new foreign economic aid program should "amount to not less than 1 per cent of the gross national product for governmental developmental assistance and a further 1 per cent for private developmental assistance."

END 'BUY AMERICAN'

Programs to "buy American" should be ended to permit development of industries abroad.

The board said poverty and underdevelopment in foreign nations have become "seed beds of social and political revolutions," a situation which is "breeding a human trouble that will dwarf our present diffculties."

The board also considered yesterday, and will work tomorrow on, a resolution appealing to the Soviet Union for the release of all persons jailed because of their religious beliefs.

Danny Escobedo Sentenced To 22 Years, No Parole

CHICAGO (UPI)—The prosecution said the slim drifter "scorns and laughs at all legal authority." The defense said the police had "hounded" him.

Danny Escobedo, 30, was in court again, adding a footnote to the very large chapter of U. S. legal history he helped write.

Escobedo, released from prison in 1964 after a precedent-setting U. S. Supreme Court decision that bears his name, had little to laugh about yesterday. He was sentenced to 22 years in prison on a narcotics law that stipulates there is no chance for parole.

Escobedo helped make an indelible mark on American law enforcement when he was convicted of plotting the murder of his brother-in-law. The case went to the Supreme Court.

Arthur Goldberg , then a justice, wrote the majority opinion which said Escobedo should be retried. His conviction was based on an oral confession. The Supreme Court, by a 5-4 vote, decided the confession was inadmissable because while Escobedo talked, his attorney was kept waiting outside the police station.

Goldberg's opinion in Escobedo vs. Illinois laid down the doctrine that an accused man is entitled to legal counsel while he is being questioned. Further, it said that when police "focus" on a person as the prime suspect in a case, they must inform him of his legal rights.

The decision, although hotly debated in law school, court and police station then and now, became the basis for a series of even farther reaching opinions on the rights of the accused.

Escobedo, who became known for bravado despite his small stature, was never retried. Witnesses could not be found. He went free but seldom lost contact with police.

In his latest trial on federal narcotics charges, federal agents testified that Escobedo and an accomplice, Daniel Aquirre, sold them $2,200 worth of drugs. A jury found them guilty Feb. 6.

Chamber Presses Link To Highway

The Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce yesterday named a two-man committee to draft a letter to Marin supervisors urging the county to proceed as rapidly as possible with the proposed extension of Miller Avenue to Highway 101.

Lawrence A. Mayer and Robert H. Andresen were named to write the letter after the chamber heard City Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon discuss the extension alignment approved by the city council two weeks ago.

Bragdon also reviewed the city's 701 planning study and gave copies of the study to chamber directors. Bragdon will be invited to appear before the directors again when they have read the plan and are ready to discuss it in detail.

NIXON REUNION — Passing through Boston, Mass., en route to renewed campaigning in New Hampshire, Richard Nixon is surprised by his wife, Pat, as he arrives at Logan International Airport. Mrs. Nixon waited in New Hampshire until yesterday, while her husband was stumping Wisconsin.

Plane-Hijacking Ex-Prof May Try To Reach Hanoi

MIAMI (UPI) — A self-proclaimed American Communist from Michigan hijacked a small plane in South Florida skies Saturday is trying to make his way to Hanoi, according to the pilot forced to ferry him to Cuba.

Donald Doran, 42, of Coral Gables, Fla., said the hijacker, former sociology teacher Thomas Boynton, 31, of Kalamazoo, Mich., claimed to hate the United States and President Johnson and had discovered through his studies that he preferred communism to life in America.

Doran related the tale of his unscheduled visit to Havana, which he made at pistol point, to newsmen shortly after landing at Miami International Airport yesterday.

Boynton has asked for political asylum in Cuba, and the request is being considered by Havana authorities.

Doran, with a day's growth of beard, touched down his twin-engine airplane here after spending more than two days in Cuba. He reported being treated "very well" while there.

Later, Doran described what happened after he picked up Boynton by chance at the Marathon, Fla., air park for a hop to Miami.

"Shortly after takeoff he put a gun at my head," Doran said. "He said, 'I'm an American Communist and you're going to Cuba'."

Boynton, the son of Western Michigan University Prof. James Boynton, lost his $9,000-a-year job as an instructor at the Fort Custer Job Corps Center three weeks ago when the center closed. In December, his Negro wife of a year, Lisa, a go-go dancer, left him, heading for California with plans for a divorce.

Prof. Boynton, puzzled by his son's defection, had described him as a very serious person who drank heavily and took tranquilizers.

"It's a mystery to me why he would chose Cuba," the professor of chemistry said. "He didn't like rules. Of all places, I think that would be the worst place for him to go."

CAMPAIGN 68

Romney Claims He'll Win In Wisconsin

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan Gov. George Romney predicts he's going to beat fellow Republican presidential rival Richard M. Nixon in the Wisconsin primary—and says he's gaining on Nixon in the New Hampshire contest.

"I expect to win them both," Romney told reporters yesterday.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Democratic presidential candidate, meanwhile, accused President Johnson of "eroding and weakening the structures of government."

DIRKSEN ISSUE

And a showdown appeared to be developing between Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., and Republican governors over control of the platform committee at the Republican National Convention.

Romney's predictions of primary victories over former Vice President Nixon came as he brought a temporary end to his Wisconsin campaign to return to New Hampshire.

The governor told a Rice Lake, Wis., news conference he is "still an underdog" in New Hampshire, but he said he is gaining on "my primary opponent."

ROMNEY PLANS

Romney is not scheduled to return to Wisconsin before the New Hampshire primary, the first in the nation, March 12.

McCarthy—who is challenging Johnson's Vietnam war policies—said in Madison, Wis., that the President also is blurring the traditional separation between the Supreme Court, Congress and the military.

"The use of the military to defend political policies," McCarthy said, "has been an increasing trend, particularly since the United States became involved on a large scale in the Vietnam war."

PLATFORM SPLIT

The GO Pplatform committee showdown was indicated in a report by Washington Post writer David S. Broder that Republican governors have decided to demand that Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer be named co-chairman.

Dirksen—whom the governors fear would not produce a moderate stand on issues—has indicated he would agree to Shafer as the committee's vice chairman but not as its co-chairman.

Elsewhere on the political scene:

Third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace canceled a campaign trip into Philadelphia to avoid possible racial trouble. Philadelphia Police commissioner Frank Rizzo said he asked the cancellation because some groups are promoting observance of a city-wide "Malcolm X Memorial Day" Wednesday.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan conceded that hiring of a former Barry Goldwater aide, F. Clifton White, has made it more difficult to convince the nation he is not a candidate for president. But Reagan said White was hired only to guide California's Republican National Convention delegation, which is pledged to Reagan as its favorite-son.

Within a few years, says Dr. Ole Sands, director of the National Education Association's center for Study of Instruction, schools will stay open 12 months a year.

Jackie's Aide Denies Rumors Of Wedding

NE WYORK (UPI)—Women's Wear Daily quoted "very reliable sources" today that Mrs. John F. Kennedy will marry Lord Harlech tomorrow but a spokesman for the former First Lady denied it.

"That is absolutely not true," said Nancy Tuckerman, Mrs. Kennedy's secretary.

Mrs. Kennedy and the former British ambassador to Washington have been spending an increasing amount of time together since their visit to Cambodia last November, leading to speculation of a possible marriage. They were the house guests of John Hay Whitney, former U.S. ambassador to Britain, and Mrs. Whitney at their North Carolina estate last weekend.

The former First Lady has returned to New York and will spend the Washington's Birthday holiday with her children. She had been expected to attend the opening of the film "Half A Sixpence" on Broadway last night, a benefit for the John F. Kennedy International Memorial Games, but did not make an appearance.

Marinites Hurt On Gate Bridge

Two drivers were injured Monday in a head-on crash at the north end of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Gene T. Ng, 28, of San Francisco, a teacher in the Larkspur School District and Franklin L. Hansen, 35, of 1707 Center Road, Novato, were treated at the Park Emergency Hospital in San Francisco.

An unidentified vehicle spun out ahead of Hansen's car forcing it across the center line to strike Ng's vehicle at 2 p.m., the California Highway Patrol reported.

Vietnam Airlift Cuts U.S. Flights

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two major U.S. airlines, United and Pan-American World Airways, canceled some cargo and passenger flights yesterday because of a diversion of jet planes for military runs to Vietnam.

A United spokesman said the Air Force's Military Airlift Command had chartered five DC8F jet freighters and two Super DC8 passenger planes. Seven additional jets were chartered from Pan American.

Flights canceled by United were a San Francisco to Honolulu round trip which operated three days a week, a daily Los Angeles-Philadelphia round trip and several cargo runs.

Senator Casts Doubts On Reagan Tax Relief

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's prized plan to give the counties $155 million for property tax reductions faced a major obstacle today in the Senate Finance Committee, where Democrats are in control.

"You're not going to get any property tax relief," said Chairman George Miller Jr., D-Martinez. "There's no way."

"He got conned into this nonsense by the county boards of supervisors," added Miller, whose committee must pass on any fiscal legislation.

But the administration brushed Miller's opposition aside and went ahead with the debated plan, reshaping it in hopes of winning more support.

Reagan had proposed that the $155 million — part of the proceeds of his $1 billion 1967 tax hike — be given to county governments, which presumably would pass the reduction on to local taxpayers.

Yesterday, he proposed a revision to meet objections that the supervisors will spend the money for their county programs, instead of cutting taxes.

He said he now favored specific elimination of the personal property levy on household furnishings, worth about $55 million a year.

Edwin Meese III, Reagan's legal affairs secretary, said the administration wants to eliminate the personal property tax in one of two ways.

Boards of supervisors would either drop the tax on their own or they would be specifically ordered to under the terms of the bill.

Meese insisted that Miller was wrong, and "there is going to be tax relief."

If the legislature refuses to allocate the $155 million for tax relief by July 1, the sales tax — boosted from four to five cents last year — will be dropped by half a cent.

The half-cent sales tax hike, however, actually brings in $194 million. So, Reagan would be short $39 million in expected tax revenues, in addition to being unable to deliver on his promise of property tax cuts.

Miller suggested a remedy — one that probably won't be acceptable to the governor. He said the state could permit the sales tax to drop to 4.5 cents, and then use $35 million now set aside for reduction of the property tax on business inventories to balance the budget.

Reagan Assists Crippled Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has authorized an emergency measure to rescue the state's program of care for crippled children from a financial crisis.

Reagan yesterday gave the necessary approval required before the legislature can pass a bill providing an additional $750,000 for the program.

However, Reagan's statement did not say how large an appropriation he wanted. In addiation, he can reduce or veto any appropriation measure passed by the legislature.

The bill's author, Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, contends that more than 100 crippled children services were reduced by a Reagan administration economy move last summer.

Reagan, in contrast, maintains that the spending cuts were necessitated by "restrictive control language" written into the budget by legislators.

"We have made available to the counties all the funds the legislature appropriated for this purpose. However, we now find that the needs have become greater than the counties anticipated," Reagan's statement said.

Finch Urges Local Boards For U.C., State Campuses

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch says local governing boards should be created for each state university and college campus.

Such a move would strengthen administration of the schools and prevent any further "erosion in power and authority" of University of California chancellors and state college presidents, Finch said last night.

The boards would have 9 to 12 members each drawn from the surrounding community and appointed by the governor. They would have authority to decide such local issues as campus development and student discipline, Finch said.

Finch said the campus administrator is too far removed from his governing board and "has no one really to rely on" when decisions must be made. The administrators are fighting a "rear guard action" against increasingly militant faculty and student groups, he said.

But the Republican office holder said he opposes the idea of a statewide higher education police force to handle demonstrators and disorders.

Under Finch's plan, the 24 U.C. regents and 16 state college presidents still would set broad policy for California's 190,000-student higher education system.

South Gains In Road Cash Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Southern California has won the first skirmish in its annual, and previously unsuccessful battle to get a bigger share of state road funds.

The Assembly Transportation and Commerce Committee yesterday approved a bill raising the southern share of road building money from the present 55 per cent to 60 per cent. That would drop the northern share from 45 per cent to 40 per cent.

The same bill cleared the southern-dominated Assembly last year but died in a northern-controlled Senate committee.

Governor Replaces Veterinary Official

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday appointed John H. Woolsey Jr., 44, Santa Rosa, to a four-year tearm on the Board of Examiners in Veterinary Medicine.

Floating Hotel Work Picketed

LONG BEACH (AP)—A proposed six-week renovation of the Queen Mary was blocked early today when a dozen Maritime Union pickets at Long Beach Harbor prevented the luxury liner from being moved to dry dock at Long Beach Naval Shipyard.

The dispute is over the Queen Mary's status. The city contends it is now a building and that city employees and contracted firms should do the renovating. The union says it is still a ship.

The city bought the 81,000-ton retired British liner last year for $3.5 million.

Judge Is Challenged In Bribe Case Hearing

I-J Special Report

RED BLUFF — The attorney for David Green, a Greebrae contractor charged with trying to bribe three Tehama County Supervisors, yesterday challenged the right of Superior Court Judge Curtiss E. Wetter to hear the case.

The attorney, William O. Weissich of San Rafael, filed papers saying Wetter knew of the alleged bribe attempt before charges were brought and was an acquaintance of the three supervisors.

Wetter denied the charge orally, saying he will submit written response. Plumas County Superior Court Judge Bertram D. Jones ras been asked to rule formally on the challenge at 10 a.m. Feb. 28 here.

Green, 55, of 70 Corte Dorado, had been bound over from Red Bluff Judicial District Court to appear before Wetter yesterday for arraignment on charges of trying to bribe the supervisors to vote for a vacation housing development. He is free in $15,000 bail.

No license is required to fish in the streams and lakes of Yellowstone National Park in northwest Wyoming.

Trustees Discuss Ways Of Cutting New School Plans

Lagunitas School Board last night discussed ways of trimming plans for the San Geronimo Valley School in an effort to attract bids.

Earlier construction bids proved higher than expected and the board last night put off making a decision on whether to call for new bids until the next meeting, scheduled for Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Lagunitas School.

By that time full extent of the plan changes made by San Francisco architect J. Martin Rosse should be known, Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff.

Revision involved insulation and other constructional items and did not effect educational facilities, said McCunniff.

Joint Summer School Gets Sausalito Nod

Plans for a joint Mill Valley-Sausalito summer school project were unanimously approved Monday night by the Sausalito School District Board. The plan had already been approved by the Mill Valley board.

Approximately 1,200 children, including 200 to 300 from the Sausalito district, will attend summer school at Alto and Edna Maguire schools in Mill Valley. Students will be bused as necessary. The staff will include 34 student teachers from the Sausalito Teacher Education Project (STEP).

The board was told a state review team which inspected the special mathematics project at Richardson Bay School found it the best of three such programs in the state. The program is funded by the state under Senate Bill 28.

The Sausalito School District Board also:

OLD MANZANITA — Approved a seven-year lease under which Marin County will use old Manzanita School as a child care and pre-school center. The lease is for $1 a year and the county will install $70,000 worth of improvements in the building.

PORTABLES — Learned that plans for portable classrooms to replace Bayside School's six first grade classrooms are now in Sacramento and may be approved this week. Installation will take 45 work days after approval by the State Department of Education.

TEACHER — Hired Mrs. Sandra Locasto as a teacher in the Sausalito Teacher Education Project, replacing William Hughes, who is now involved in a special project for STEP. Mrs. Locasto's salary will be $6,750 a year, pro-rated for the time remaining to June 30.

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed meeting to discuss replacement of teachers leaving the district this year, but made no decisions. Another closed session on the subject will be held this spring. Chairman David E. Freedheim said. He said the board discussed which teachers are leaving and whether they should be replaced from within the system or by hiring new teachers for the posts.

Six Commuters' Autos Collide

As rain fell on heavy commute traffic Monday, six northbound cars tangled on Highway 101, north of the Golden Gate Bridge, injuring one driver.

Two unidentified cars collided at 6 p.m., the California Highway Patrol reported.

The ensuing chain-reaction crash involved cars driven by Robert C. White, 27, of 72 Wood Lane, Fairfax; Norman Ross, 38, of Pinole; Frederick H. Linley Jr., 46, of 123 Woodside Drive, San Anselmo, and Charlicia L. Delz, 24, of 11 Brown Drive, Novato.

Drunken Driving Penalties Set

Two persons were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court Monday for drunken driving violations on Highway 101 where they were arrested by the California Highway Patrol.

Thomas N. Norton, 55, of Muir Beach, was sentenced to five days in jail, fined $289 and placed on six months of probation. He had a prior conviction for drunken driving. He was arrested Nov. 17.

Eula Rene Jones, 44, of Ukiah, was fined $115 and placed on probation for six months. She was arrested Wednesday.

GI SEEKS PRIVATE ARMS

Michael R. DiNunzio of Boston holds a photo of his son, Mike, and the letter the young GI wrote home, asking his son to send him a snub-nosed .38-caliber pistol. The son, stationed at Tan Son Nhut airbase outside Saigon, reported yesterday that his only weapon presently is a hunting knife.

Drugs Study Commission Bill Through Committee

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation creating a state commission to investigate medical and social problems of drug use — particularly by youths — has passed the Assembly Public Health Committee.

Yesterday's action was the first legislative test for the bill allocating $140,000 for a 30-member California Commission on Drugs and Society.

The commission would recommend changes in existing law after pulling together results of research, particularly into the growing use of hallucinogenic drugs and marijuana by younger persons.

But the commission would do no actual research itself ,said the bill's author, Asuemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker, D-Lompoc.

Nearly identical legislation passed the Assembly last session but was killed in a Senate committee.

Runaways Reported From Sunny Hills

Two runaways from Sunny Hills, 910 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, were reported by police today.

Officers aid Nora Allen and Robert Dingman, both 17, apparently left about 4 p.m. yesterday. She was described as five feet, one inch tall, and weighing 120 pounds. She wore an orange sweatshirt and blue jeans. Dinghman is five foot, seven inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, and was wearing white jeans.

Airport Master Plan On Agenda

The Marin County Aviation Commission will meet tonight in the Civic Center to discuss a proposed county master plan for airports and heliports.

The meeting will be held in the supervisors chambers at 8 o'clock.

Other items on tonight's agenda include:

1. Progress report on operations at the Marin County Airport by manager Francis E. Torr. He announced that temporary fuel service will be in operation Friday.

2. Discussion of aircraft storage, hangars and shelters.

3. A suggestion by Commissioner Benjamin R. Ostlind that the county apply for air space allocation at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Empty Lots Have Water Line Service

Manager Jerome B. Gilbert of the North Marin County Water District reported last night to the district board that there are 1,485 lots with water service furnished to them on which houses have not been constructed.

The empty lots, he said, reflected a building slump in Novato.

The North Marin County Water District Board also:

CONTRACT — Awarded a $6,745.50 contract to Bay Boring Co. of Richmond, lowest of four bidders, to install a 12-inch water main from the Russian River aqueduct across Highway 101 to the Marin County Airport north of Novato.

EASEMENTS — Exchanged easements with Marin County and the City of Novato for the relocation of the water main at the Novato Creek Bridge on Novato Boulevard. This bridge is being reconstructed by Marin County.

PIPE — Changed the order of Jay Forni Steel Co. of Concord to include another 800 feet of 12-inch steel pipe costing $2,130.

AGREEMENT — Approved the transfer of the water distribution agreement on San Marin Unit 9 to Hoffman Construction Co. of Concord from Sunset International Petroleum Corp.

MAIN — Approved laying 1,000 feet of main on Fernando Drive, costing $7,340.

MEETING — Set 8 p.m. Feb. 28 as a tentative time for a special meeting with the Novato Sanitary District board to discuss its differences on sewer service areas as requested Monday by the sanitary district board. The meeting is scheduled in the water district office.

1,287 Inmates Back To Jobs At Quentin

About 1,287 San Quentin convicts who had shown a conciliatory attitude went back to their prison jobs today, while another 2,315 inmates remained locked in their cells. Today is the fourth day of an inmate-worker strike at San Quentin.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said the 1,287 who returned to their prison jobs this morning are quartered in the north and west cellblocks. Park said the custodial staff in the cellblocks learned from the inmates yesterday that they wanted to go back to work.

The inmates, who remained locked up except for guarded trips to meals in the mess hall, are in the east and west cellblocks.

Park said the inmates in the north and west blocks are "a better class of prisoner" and are ordinarily give a few more freedoms.

(At Folsom Prison, a maximum security facility east of Sacramento, prison officials said they were trying to weed out ringleaders of a work strike called in sympathy with the San Quentin walkout. A Folsom official said a few agitators had used threats to keep 1,600 of the 2,600 prisoners at Folsom away from their jobs.

The San Quentin inmates were locked up Monday and all work and recreation programs were canceled. The unrest began last Thursday when long-term inmates complained of prison policies on parole, administration and rehabilitation. Some complained about the length of indeterminate sentences.

Park said the administration at San Quentin had not yet received from the Inmate Advisory Council a list of grievances which the inmates agreed to draw up.

Park said he did not know whether or not the grievances would be made public when they are received from the inmates, but they will be forwarded through channels to the proper authorities.

One parole rule which particularly angers the convicts, said Park, is the Adult Authority's resolution 171, which provides that convicts returned to prison for parole violations are sent back under maximum sentences for their original crimes. The Adult Authority is state's parole body.

A paroled convict is without restored civil rights, said Park, and the Adult Authority passed the resolution on an administrative basis, without recourse to the Legislature.

Girl Admits Setting Two College Fires

An 18-year-old Dominican College freshman has admitted to police that she had set both the small fire last night which drove students from her dormitory and the larger one the night before which did $10,500 damage to the building.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze last night, which again was on the third floor of Meadowlands dormitory on the college's San Rafael campus. This fire was started in a cardboard carton containing papers.

Last night's damage was minor, estimated at $50.

The fire on Monday night, however, which was set in a clothes closet, burned the corridor and damaged three bedrooms in the dormitory.

Nuns at the college became suspicious of the girl who later admitted setting the fires. They called police. The girl, who is from out of state, will see a psychiatrist at the request of her father.

No charges were filed against her, police said.

The 65 residents of Meadowlands dormitory, all college freshmen, have returned there after spending Monday night in other dormitories and nearby residences. Only the three badly damaged rooms are uninhabitable.

Reports Differ About One Garbage Contract

The operator of Bay Cities Refuse Service, one of 15 strike-threatened Bay Area garbage collectors, says he has agreed to a contract with his Teamsters Union employees, but Teamster officials said they don't know anything about the contract.

Bay Cities collects garbage in Sausalito and Marin City.

Lewis R. Figone, president of Bay Cities, said he agreed to a contract last Friday in a meeting with eight of his 10 employees.

Joseph Davis, assistant business agent for Teamsters Local 315, said, "We heard a rumor of some kind of a contract. But we haven't seen it, and we don't know anything about it."

Federal mediator Jerry R. Finley, who lives in Larkspur, said he met until midnight last night with Teamster officials and representatives of Richmond Sanitary Service, the key company in negotiations. It is the only one of the 15 companies against which local 315 has obtained a strike sanction.

Finley said that "significiant progress" was made in some areas, but the parties remained separated on wages. The Teamsters' man, Davis, declared, however, that the negotiations had "broken down."

Davis said a meeting of local 315 will be held at 10 a.m. Sunday in Martinez to "make plans for a strike."

Figone said he agreed to two step plan wage increases with his drivers and collectors, one predicated on rate increase the company is asking in Sausalito, and the other granting increases exclusive of a rate increase.

Figone said that if his company does not get a garbage fee increase in Sausalito, the contract would give drivers $26 a day, as of February 1, and helpers $24.50 a day, as of February 1. By 1970, the drivers would be getting $31 a day and the helpers $28.50 a day, he said.

The helpers presently get $20 and $22 a day, Figone said, and some of the drivers, but not all, $26 a day. The union is asking $29 a day for collectors and $30 a day for drivers, from the Richmond Sanitary Service, but Figone said the union never presented him with any figures.

The step plan increases would be boosted by 10 per cent if the company is allowed to raise its garbage collecting fees in Sausalito, said Figone.

Parks, Recreation Budget On Tap

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission will meet Monday in the Civic Center to disucss the budget for 1968-69. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Room 343.

A budget meeting, set for last Monday, was postponed a week because many of the commissioners were unable to attend.

Fire Station Go-Ahead In Kentfield

The Kentfield Fire District Board last night whittled $19,000 off its proposed new fire station costs, then awarded the construction bid to Commercial Construction Co. of San Francisco for $289,000, or $89,000 more than original estimates.

Commercial was lowest of nine bidders Feb. 5 at $038,000, which was $108,000 higher than the district had anticipated.

Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said today that the $19,000 saving costs will come mainly from eliminating a dense concrete floor topping that had been planned for the engine room and shop areas and use a pint instead of vinyl covering on several walls.

He said several cabinets also will be eliminated, and that firemen themselves will construct a needed work bench and install a hose rack.

The new construction cost figure came after several conferences between the architects. Bushnell, Jessup, Murphy and Van de Weghe of San Francisco and Commercial Construction Co., Chief Kamp said.

He said construction is to start next week, but the completion date was not immediately determined.

Arraignment Held On Morals Charges

Bobby Jack Bartlett, 32, of San Francisco, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on three charges of lewd and lacivious conduct with children and one charge of committing an unnatural sex act.

McInnis Suggests Meal Session Tab

Marin County should pay the tab for periodic breakfast or luncheon meetings of department heads in order to encourage constant liaison between various departments.

This suggestion came yesterday from Supervisor John F. McInnis during a workshop session between the supervisors and departments heads dealing with people and their problems.

Both the supervisors and department heads agreed that coordination between departments is important. Supervisors instructed County Administrator Alan Bruce to look into the breakfast check suggestion.

"Maybe they should get together for breakfast or luncheons on a regular basis," said McInnis. "And the county should encourage this by picking up the tab."

Austin J. Thompson, new executive director of the Human Rights Commission, said that because he is new, he is especially conscious of the lack of coordination.

He said employment information or a file of the unemployed in the county should be centrally located instead of being scattered among various overlapping agencies.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

EEL RIVER — Appointed William R. Seeger, general manager of the Marin Municipal Water District, to the executive committee of the Eel River Association.

HOUSING AUTHORITY—Reappointed Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. to the Marin County Housing Authority Commission. His new term will run to Jan. 26, 1972.

PETALUMA RIVER — Appointed Supervisor William A. Gnoss to represent Marin at an Army Crops of Engineers hearing on the need for flood control in the Petaluma River basin. The hearing is set for 8 p.m. March 21 at Petaluma City Hall.

HEADSTART — Authorized the Marin County Superintendent of Schools to apply for available federal funds to take care of 30 additional children in the 1968 Headstart program.

HISTORIC SITE — Asked the county counsel to prepare a resolution urging that Fort Point, under the south end of Golden Gate Bridge, be designated a national historic site.

STATUTE REPEAL — Passed a resolution to support AB 387, which would repeal a 1967 statute that provides for removal and storage of evicted tenants' goods at county rather than landlord's expense. AB 387 is by Assemblyman William M. Ketchum, D-Bakersfield.

FIFTH SUPERIOR COURT — Postponed for two weeks a request to support legislation creating a fifth department in Marin Superior Court. Attorney Robert W. Corlett, representing the Marin County Bar Association, said the court is bogged down with backlog. Supervisors decided to delay a decision until March 5 to study alternatives.

AIRPORT BIDS — Accepted the bids of Marin Aviation Corp. and Navair Corp. to serve as fixed base operators at the new Marin County Airport at Novato. They were the only two who submitted bids.

CONVALESCENT HOME — Granted Earl D. and Jane K. Brown permission to build a convalescent hospital on three-acres of land at 170 San Geronimo Valley Drive, Woodacre.

RELIEF FUNDS — Authorized the county counsel to file suit against Edward Kessel of Novato, a professor at University of San Francisco, to recover $1,518 which was given his adult son, Joseph Kessel, in general county relief over a two-year period. The elder Kessel denies legal responsibility.

LAWSON'S LANDING — Rezoned about 75 acres of Sand Point, Dillon's Beach, from agricultural to resort-commercial. Merle E. Lawson asked for rezoning.

SCENIC HIGHWAYS — Heard a report from Hugh Dougherty on a recent meeting of the state Scenic Highways Committee. He said the state is making various corridor studies, and Shoreline Highway, Black Point cutoff, and even Waldo Grade might qualify for such corridor study.

MEADOWLAND — Approved the final subdivision map for Meadowland Unit 1, a 21-unit subdivision on the north side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to the west of Fairfax.

MORE PARKING — Approved the purchase of a three-fourth-acre parcel of land behind the Civic Center Post Office from E. D. and Patricia Stutsman for $45,800. Four acres in all are needed there for parking and for road access to the armory area. The county administrator estimated that $135,000 more may be needed to purchase property on both sides of the Sutsman parcel.

Guilty Plea To Labor Violation

Phillip G. Williams, 40, of Sacramento, and Ronald R. Lopez, 31, of Oakland, operators of Pacific Studios in San Rafael, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of violating the state Labor Code.

Both admitted paying their employees with bad checks, a misdemeanor offense.

Busher Holds Juvenile Hall Not In Chaos

The operation of Marin Juvenile Hall is "not in chaos" but is "moving ahead with new programs, leadership and enthusiasm," County Probation Officer Walter H. Busher declared yesterday. In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Busher defended his department against what he called "misinformation, insinuation and innuendo" from disgruntled former employees.

Last week Francis M. Griffin of Petaluma, former group counselor at Marin Juvenile Hall, questioned the ability of the chief probation officeer and some of his key aides. Griffin charged that operations at Juvenile Hall had deteriorated, and capable people are needed from the outside.

Probation Officer Busher assured supervisors that "Juvenile Hall has been and is discharging its responsibility to the Juvenile Court and the community in an orderly, safe and satisfactory manner."

In the face of criticism, Busher said his staff has performed its difficult and heavy workload well.

Injuries Minor In Chain Crash

A Petaluma driver suffered minor injuries yesterday in a three-car chain reaction crash on northbound Highway 101, south of the Lincoln Avenue on-ramp.

Angelo Tagliavento, 32, told California Highway Patrolmen he would see his own physician for chest and neck pains.

But a car driven by Edward C. Herndon, 49, of 7 St. Paul Circle, Novato, slid into the rear of Tagliavento's car knocking it into the pickup truck. The crash occurred at 5:10 p.m.

Arrigoni To Decide On County Race

Fairfax City Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. today said he may run for the second supervisorial district seat now held by Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

Arrigoni, 36, said he will decide by Monday whether he has enough time "to do justice to the job." He said he has been urged to run by "a balanced group of people."

Their intention, Arrigioni told the Independent-Journal today in a telephone interview, "is that if I do not run, Roger Kent then will decide if he wants to." Kent, of Kent Woodlands, said last week he may run because he did not want Marin "to go down the drain."

Arrigoni already is seeking re-election to a second term on the city council, btu said he would withdraw if he decides to run for supervisor. It is too late to remove his name from the April city ballot, he said, "but I would endorse one of the other five candidates."

Kettenhofen announced last week that he will seek re-election to a second term on the board of supervisors. No one else has announced his candidacy for the post.

Arrigoni, a stock broker, lives with his wife, Patricia, and their two sons, aged 7 and 4, at 35 Oak Tree Lane.

Undergrounding Policy Advances

A committee studying placing utilities underground in Fairfax met last night and agreed to recommend adoption of a general enabling ordinance as already proposed by the League of California Cities.

Next step is for the recommendation to go before Fairfax Planning Commission at its Feb. 29 meeting at 8 p.m. in the women's club.

City Administrator David J. Sumbardo said that if the city council eventually adopt the ordinance, it will put members on record as favoring undergrounding. Specific cases will still be subject to council resolution.

General Plan For Fairfax Gets Endorsement From Supervisors

The Fairfax General Plan, which will serve as a guide for the future development of the 6.6-square-mile Fairfax area, won the approval of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The supervisors, however, carefully noted that they were approving in principle only that portion (1.7 square miles) which is within the Fairfax city limits, because the Fairfax City Council has complete jurisdiction within the city limits.

Fairfax Councilman Adelaide Wilson, called upon to comment, said she was "pleased with the plan." Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni called the approval for the general plan of "paramount importance to the future of Fairfax."

County Planner Albert Solnit, who prepared the general plan for Fairfax, said Fairfax will reach "saturation" when the present 3,000 dwellings increase to 5,100 dwellings.

He said the plan visualizes no major changes in Fairfax's role as a small residential community with village flavor in its commercial center.

Solnit said Sir Francis Drake Boulevard can become a four-lane expressway, but a freeway through Fairfax has been ruled out. In order for the four-lane expressway to work, Solnit said, traffic generated in San Geronimo Valley would have to be bypassed by another route from White's Hill, instead of coming over Sir Francis Drake through Fairfax and San Anselmo.

The general plan calls for improved traffic circulation in the downtown area, rehabilitation of the city park, a playground area for the Town and Country Club area, playgrounds at each school, and parks in several locations.

Solnit said that high density residential will be concentrated on the valley floor, and low density will be maintained along ravines and canyons.

Senior, 17, Wins $800 Math Award

Thomas P. Worth, 17-year-old Redwood High School senior, won the second place $800 award in a science and mathematics competition for high school students conducted by the San Francisco Bay Area Engineering Council.

A total of $4,200 in scholarship awards were made last night in San Francisco at a banquet highlighting Engineers' Week. Top award of $1,100 went to James L. McFarland, 17, a Pleasant Hill student.

Worth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Worth of 136 Cypress Avenue, Kentfield. He plans to enter the University of California at Berkeley.

Government Falls

BRUSSELS (UPI)—King Baudouin today ordered the dissolution of the Belgian parliament, last step in the collapse of a coalition government over a French-Flemish language dispute.

A palace announcement said the king instructed the caretaker government of Premier Paul Vanden Boeynants to oversee the dissolution and set elections for a new parliament.

Anti-Communist Rite Upset By Peace Signs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A brief scuffle interrupted the final session of a mock trial of international communism today when a young girl carrying antiwar placards invaded the room.

Herbert A. Philbrick, a former FBI counterspy who infiltrated the American Communist Party in the 1940s, had just finished testifying before the World Court of Public Opinion, an anti-Communist group, when the proceeding was interrupted.

An unshaven man who identified himself as Arthur Landow, spotting the girl carrying the antiwar placards, jumped up and yelled: "What the hell do you think you're doing?' 'He tore the signs out of her grasp.

"How many people have the Viet Cong killed?" he shouted. "This really makes me mad."

The five-judge tribunal, which almost lost control of the trial yesterday when a screaming Romanian minister tore off his shirt to display scars he claimed were caused during 14 years of imprisonment by the Communists, appeared taken aback by today's incident.

Philbrick testified he was convinced the Communist campaign to overthrow the American government had not moderated in recent years.

"I can find no evidence in any material that the Communist party bosses have told their members anywhere in the world to cease or desist in their campaign to overthrow the government of the United States," Philbrick said.

Home Is Looted

Wilbur Joseph Carlson of Gate 5, near Sausalito, complained to Marin Sheriff's deputies Sunday that someone walked through his unlocked door the night before and stole an $8 radio, $60 watch and $15 in pennies. Deputies reported the theft today.

Mill Valleyan, 75, Charged In Acid Throwing

Albert Earl Gushee of 190 Edgewood Avenue was released without bail by Judge Hadden W. Roth and ordered to return Tuesday for entry of plea to the felony charge.

Robert Wilfred Fraser, 67, of San Francisco, told police he and Gushee argued at Gushee's home over a civil matter and Gushee ordered him to leave, threatening to blind him with acid.

As he left, Fraser said, Gushee threw a liquid at him which burned his shirt and caused a burning sensation on his neck, head and hands.

Gushee told officers that Fraser entered his house illegally and threatened him. He said he ordered him out and threw some shaving lotion at Fraser. He denied throwing or possessing any acid, police said.

Officers searched the house and found a half full bottle labeled Muriatic Acid. Fraser's shirt and the bottle were sent to the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation for analysis.

Judge Roth told Gushee he would be freed without bail only if he promised not to see Fraser. Gushee agreed.

Innocent Plea To Having Marijuana

Ronald Lee Martin, 33, of 290 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge he possessed marijuana Feb. 7 in Sausalito's Vina del Mar Park.

Two men accused with him were referred to the probation office to see if they are acceptable in juvenile court. They are John L. Sund, 20, of Fort Baker, and David Eugene Smith, 18, of 90 Princess Street, Sausalito.

Preliminary hearing for Martin was scheduled for March 19.

Marin Democrat Tags War Policy 'Genocide'

in Vietnam, but we had no say in whether these people should be killed — if was strictly a policy decision dictated by the dead hand of John Foster Dulles, whose policies still live," said Schiller, a former member of the committee.

"We will never effect a military victory in Vietnam," he said. "We can destroy everything there physically, but if that is our aim, we should reconsider," he said.

Johnson's only supporter among the 16 committeemen present was Gately, who argued that the committee's obligation "is to get Democrats elected.

"We're not going to get a Democratic administration by fighting over the Vietnam issue," he said. "And if we're going to have a Democratic administration, we're going to have a Johnson administration, because there is no other declared candidate who is electiable," he said.

Gately conceded the administration's "appraisal of the situation in Vietnam has been atrocious," and said "it's just ridiculous that nations in this day are using war t osolve problems." But he insisted that "the only alternative is complete isolation and to forget our obligations."

Gately said the committee's duty "is to support the Democratic nominees after the primary," but he then added he would not support Phillip Drath, peace candidate for the Democratic congressional primary in the sixth district, if he were to win the nomination. "He is not a Democrat, he's never done anything to help the Democrats and he's completely contrary even to good citizenship," said Gately.

The war "can't divide the party indefinitely," argued Mrs. Elaine Guthrie, who supports McCarthy. "We have to keep the party going in California or go down the drain," she said.

When several committee members asked if a new volunteer supports Johnson, she said "if you start asking this, you're going to kill it in the beginning."

"This is just a debating society," committee member Cameron Baker declared at the conclusion of the meeting. "We're not doing anything effective," he said.

In the understatement of the evening, Robert Mertle conceded "There isn't the cohesiveness we'd like."

The Marin County Democratic Central Committee also:

GREYHOUND — Unanimously adopted a resolution asking the state Public Utilities Commission to deny Greyhound Lines' application for a 50 per cent fare hike in commute rates.

TREASURY — Received a report that $32 remained in the committee treasury "with all bills paid that are most pressing.

Two Boys Cut Classes For An Outing On Bay

Two Tiburon boys, one 12 and one 13, cut classes at Del Mar School yesterday to sail an abandoned catamaran in the Bay and one later failed to return hme.

Lt. William Johansen saw them offshore from San Rafael Avenue at 9:30 a.m. and ordered them to dock the boat, which he learned they had taken from an old boat yard on Tiburon Boulevard.

The boys were warned against repeating the escapade and released to the custody of the mother of one youth, Lt. Johansen said.

At 8 p.m. yesterday the father of the 12-year-old reported to deputies his son had not returned home from his newspaper route. The boy is still missing today, deputies said.

A $510,000 School Bond Call Made

The San Anselmo School District board last night passed a resolution calling for a $510,000 bond issue in the June 4 primary election.

The money would provide six additional classrooms at Red Hill School, a multi-purpose room at Hidden Valley School and drainage work at Sleepy Hollow School. A $950,000 bond issue was defeated at the Oct. 10 polls and the new issue is for only the most vitally needed projects, according to Supt. Stephen L. Parodi.

The board also agreed to make application for about $54,000 in state funds for diagnoses of pupils with serious educational or emotional problems. The diagnoses would be by a team of psychiatrists and pediatricians from the child center in Kentfield.

The Dixie and Kentfield School districts have indicated they want to participate in the project, Parodi said.

The board was advised by a group of citizens that they want to withdraw an earlier proposal that they would install lighting at the Hidden Valley tennis courts. No action was taken on salary increase proposals for certified and classified personnel for next year.

Progress reports on the report card system for the district were given, but no action has been taken, Parodi said. Two new teachers, Joyce Woods for the second grade at Sleepy Hollow and Mary Coons for the second grade at Wade Thomas School, were hired.

most critical issues facing Marin, with 38 per cent indicating taxes as the "most critical issue" and 25 per cent indicating transit.

The poll also showed that 71 per cent of the respondents favored a tuition for students at the University of California and state colleges.

Results showed that 81.9 per cent "favor stronger law enforcement for illegal demonstrations, riots and other civil disturbances," McCarthy said.

"Somewhat surprising are the results relating to the Rumford Fair Housing Act," said McCarthy, with only 43.3 per cent favoring its repeal. When asked, "If you do not favor repeal, should it be modified?" only 48.1 per cent said "yes" and 51.9 per cent said "no," McCarthy reported.

These results were in contrast to the 1964 election results, which showed a majority of Marin voters in support of Proposition 14, which had the effect of repealing the act, McCarthy noted.

Respondents to the questionnaires, mailed to all voters in November, were 58.9 perc cent Republicans and 32.2 per cent Democrats, he said. Almost two-thirds were male, he said.

After taxes and rapid transit, other issues such as regional government, education, narcotics, Medi-Cal, civil disturbance, freeways and crime were cited as "most critical" by only 2 to 6 per cent of the respondents.

On other questions, 35 per cent said that if property taxes were decreased, cigarette and liquor taxes should be increased to make up the deficit. A shift to the sales tax was favored by 26 per cent and the corporate income tax by 20 per cent. Only 7 per cent favored a shift to the personal income tax.

If some service must be curtailed because of a reduction in property taxes, it should come in social welfare, 53 per cent said. Only 8.7 per cent favored cuts in education, 5.3 per cent in mental health services and 16.8 per cent in Medi-Cal.

Respondents were split on whether parents of college students should receive a state or federal tax credit, with 53 per cent favoring it.

Only 16 per cent believed that "police brutality" charges are more often true than not.

Forty-five per cent favored modification of marijuana laws.

Marin City Plans Session Is Tonight

Marin County Redevelopment Agency will hold a special meeting on proposals by PACT, Inc., for development of Marin City Monday at 7:30 p.m. at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church, Marin City.

An earlier announcement that the meeting was to have been held last night was incorrect. Also discussed at the meeting will be alternative uses for the site originally set aside for a high school in Marin City.

Top Swedish Envoy Enters Pueblo Case

SEOUL (AP) — A ranking Swedish diplomat who arrived today to join the four-nation commission which supervises the Korean armistice may mediate in the Pueblo case, reliable Korean sources said.

The sources said Lt. Gen. Lennart Finnmark, Sweden's first ambassador-level member to be assigned to the 15-year-old commission, arrived long before the scheduled expiration in late March of the term of his predecessor, Maj. Gen. Gunnar Smedmark.

They said it was no accidental coincidence that Finnmark arrived as a deadlock was reported in the secret U.S.-North Korean talks at Panmunjom on the seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship.

The United States has met with North Korea nine times, including today, in an effort to obtain the release of the 83-man crew of the ship captured Jan. 23.

Finnmark will be one of a handful of men in Korea who can travel back and forth between South and North Korea across the 2½-mile no man's land.

Quentin Warden Is Rapped For Inmate Strike Handling

He said the records of the 382 inmates who staged the initial stoppage were being documented "and for possibly the first time in their lives they are being held accountable for their actions."

The strike resulted in all 3,900 inmates being confined to their cells because of alleged threats from the strikers.

No inmates, the Warden said, have radios or televisions sets and they are being fed because the law requires it. "I am stopping the feeding of striking inmates in their cells by prison staff. The men are told they can either go to the mess halls or stay in their cells," he said.

He said few people had any conception of what life was like for prisoners confined to small cells without a chance to leave them for work.

Walking through cells blocks yesterday, he said many inmates had given him an indication they were more than willing to return to work.

Everything was calm, he said, and he expected that normal routine would be resumed by the end of this week.

Explaining why he had taken the decision confining the total population in cells, he said a whispering campaign had been going the rounds at the weekend.

Non-strikers were told that unless they supported the strike they would be "got at" sooner or later, he said.

"It had got to a stage when a small number of men were dictating the routine of the institution," said Nelson. "I had to take command and give orders."

The inmates had no grudge against the San Quentin administration. Their complaints concerned legislation which had to go through normal channels.

Nelson said that when he first heard of the inmates' underground newspaper The Outlaw he had been grateful "for the channel of communication regarding grievences."

Then the paper began to attack his staff bandying about allegations of homosexuality and wife-swapping which, after investigation, were "found to be untrue."

The Berkeley Barb began to "rehash" strike calls from The Outlaw and, he said, for the first time in history "you had the situation where an outside newspaper puts out a call for a work strike."

Artistic Cake's Perfect For Tomorrow's Dessert

February is the month of birthdays. You'll want something special to commemorate George Washington's natal day. We're suggesting a lustrous, cherry-topped cake that's new, easy and as glorious as the Fourth of July.

Start with one of the three-layer cakes available in frozen food sections. The devil's food is dark and rich with a fluffy white frosting swirled over the top and sides . . . giving you a perfect background for what's to come.

Top squares of this tender, old-fashioned cake with Tidewater Cherry Sauce. The brandy extract and ground nutmeg in the recipe below provide a flavor complement reminiscent of colonial days.

If you're feeling artistic, you can use bright red maraschino cherries instead of black pitted Bings. Buy the largest available. Make sauce, cool slightly, and arrange cherries in six rows of six each across the top of the cake — like stripes of the flag. The cake may then be cut in as many as 12 servings or as few as six. More sauce may be served with cake, as desired, or used to top ice cream.

TIDEWATER CHERRY SAUCE

1 1-lb. can black pitted cherries, drained
¾ cup cherry juice
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon butter
1 teaspoon brandy extract
½ teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
Red food coloring, optional

Thoroughly drain juice from cherries; measure ¾ cup cherry juice. Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan; add juice. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add butter, brandy extract, lemon juice and nutmeg. Carefully stir in cherries. Add a few drops of red food coloring if more pronounced red color is desired. Cool. Serve as topping on three-layer devil's food cake. Yield: 9 to 12 servings.

Note: A 1-lb. jar of maraschino cherries may be substituted for black pitted cherries, if flavor and color are desired.

Spring Brings Special Food Customs To Many Religions

NEW YORK (UPI)—Spring festival time signifies Shrove Tuesday, Lent and Easter to the Christian world, Purim and Passover to the Jewish faith, and a variety of celebrations to other religious and secular groups in the West and the East.

Most such holidays have their own special food customs. Pancakes and fritters have been traditional for Shrove Tuesday since pre-refrigeration days when housewives made them to use up fat, eggs and butter before the beginning of the 40-day Lenten fast.

Lenten tradition calls for many meatless dishes. For Easter, ham is accepted widely as the usual main dish in America, but roast lamb still is favored by many Europeans.

Purim, which falls this year on March 14, is a happy holiday that marks the escape of Persian Jews from destruction plotted by Haman, a Persian prime minister many centuries ago. A traditional food for his holiday is named for him—hamantaschen. It is a small triangular pastry with sweetened poppyseed filling.

The Jewish Passover, which commemorates the escape of Jew from Egyptian slavery, is celebrated with many symbolic foods, including matzoth, or unleavened bread.

And in India, the Muslim population of this Hindu nation follow their 40-day fast of Ramadan with Ramzan-Id, a time for attending religious services at mosques and for feasting at home and exchanging bits of confections with families and friends. Birianis are the traditional main dishes and they have dozens of variations. Make Birinia with pigeon, duck, chicken, lamb or fish, cooked with rice and whole spices such as cinnamon, cardamon pods and green ginger.

A spokesman for the India Government Tourist Office here says birianis also are served for VIP feasts throughout the nation. Cooks make ornate patterns atop the food with almonds, pistachios, cashews, raisins flower petals or fresh mint leaves.

Northern and central India also celebrate a secular holiday called Holi whose festivities sound like a combination of New Year's and Hallowe'en. People dance and sing in the streets and pelt one another with water and powder colored with vegetable dyes. The dyes are supposed to tarnish the old year and give everyone a fresh start.

Foods for Holi include saeo or saez a spicy, cracker-like snack made with a chick pea flour, and gujia,which is a deep fried pastry shaped like a half moon with milk and almond paste filling.

Confections called barfi are served for still another Indian festival, Teej, which is celebrated in Rajasphan. It marks the coming of the annual monsoon, or rainy season. A westerner might liken barfi to fudge—a very sweet fudge. Like many other festive Indian foods, it often is served with a covering of tissue-thin edible gold or silver or a sprinkling of rose water.

Almond barfi is easy to make. Dissolve ½ cup of sugar with 3 tablespoons of water. Boil until syrup spins a thread from a spoon. Remove from heat, add 2 tablespoons of butter and 8 ounces of shelled almonds, blanched and ground. Pour quickly into a thin layer on a greased plate. Flatten and cut into diamond shapes.

Salad Has Protein

Make a high-protein, low-calorie salad with artichokes and cottage cheese. Mix two cups of cottage cheese with one hard-cooked egg, finely chopped, two tablespoones of chopped canned pimiento and one tablespoon of chopped chives. Arrange this mixture on lettuce leaves with four artichokes. Serve with french dressing. Makes four servings.

Unusual Fondue Dips Beef In Herb Flavored Broth Instead Of Oil—

Because California beef is so versatile, adaptable and ever popular, it's the hostess' choice when planning parties. And to give extra interest and distinction to party menus, try this beef idea borrowed from one of the world's greatest culinary traditions.

A favorite of visitors and skiers in the Austrian Tyrol is an unusual version of beef fondue. Choose lean top sirloin to cut into chunks for cooking in a boiling herb and wine flavored broth. After a minute or two, the beef is ready to dip into a trio of piquant sauces. It's a wonderful idea for intimate little dinners and a nice change from the usual cooked-in-oil beef fondues.

BEEF FONDUE

This unusual fondue dips beef chunks in herb flavored broth instead of oil—the broth may be used as soup after the beef is cooked.

1 (10½-ounce) can beef broth
1½ cups white table wine
1 thinly sliced onion
1 halved clove garlic
1 cup coarsely chopped celery and celery tops
3 sprigs parsley
1 whole clove
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cracked pepper
½ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon tarragon
2 pounds lean top beef sirloin
Horseradish sauce
Mustard mayonnaise
Sweet sour sauce

Combine all ingredients except beef and sauces; simmer 5 minutes. Cover and let stand 2 hours. Strain. Heat to boiling in fondue pot. Trim fat from beef and cut into bite-size cubes. Spear beef with fondue forks. Cook in hot broth 1 to 2 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

HORSERADISH SAUCE

Try Bavarian Cream Recipe With All The Ingredients

Editor's Note: We're reprinting this recipe in response to the many queries received after one of the ingredients was left out by the recipe's source in last week's Food Page.

BAVARIAN CREAM

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
2½ cups milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups heavy cream

Mix together gelatine, ½ cup sugar and salt in saucepan. Beat together egg yolks and milk and add to gelatine mixture. Place pan over boiling water and heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Chill mixture until the consistency of fresh unbeaten egg whites. Beat egg whites until stiff and moist. Slowly beat in remaining ½ cup sugar until stiff. Whip cream until stiff. Gently stir gelatine mixture into beaten egg whites. Stir in whipped cream. Spoon into 2 quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold.

Trip Abroad For Princess Ann?

By MARGARET SAVILLE

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Anne, who broke all royal precedents just by going to school, may soon crown this achievement by traveling abroad to be "finished."

At 13, Anne became the first daughter of a ruling British sovereign not to be educated at home. Now at 17, she is nearing the end of her days at Benenden boarding school in southern England while her mother, Queen Elizabeth II, is deciding what she should do next.

Princess Anne will be told what the queen has in mind when she goes home to Windsor Castle at Easter for the holiday break from school.

Informed sources said the queen was seriously considering the possibility of sending her abroad in the fall for a year's finishing.

THE QUEEN was deeply impressed 16 years ago when her cousin, Princess Alexandra, went to Paris as a bouncing schoolgirl and came home an elegant young lady with fashion sense and cultured tastes.

Quiet poise, self-confidence and gracious social manners are considered more important for a princess than academic qualifications even in the 1960s.

So instead of college days, Princess Anne may well find herself at an exclusive Swiss finishing school or staying with an aristocratic French family in Paris.

Princess Anne is not the intellectual, academic type of girl and evinces no special desire to go to university, though she is dutiful enough to do whatever the queen decides is best for her.

Her best marks are for English language and literature. Her best love is sport, particularly horse riding, sailing, swimming and tennis.

SHE IS AN extrovert, like her father, Prince Philip, who is said to be in favor of the idea of a sojourn on the continent for his daughter.

Princess Anne will be 18 on Aug. 15 and will then become an adult under royal law. According to custom, parliament will vote her an annual allowance to cover her expenses, now paid by the queen.

She will be old enough to carry out engagements alone and will have a lady-in waiting and an equerry to act as her personal secretary. She will not, however, be free to marry without the queen's official consent in writing.

But then, there is no sign yet of any royal romance.

PRINCESS ANNE, who broke all royal precedents just by going to school, may soon crown this achievement by traveling abroad to be "finished." Here, in London, she watches a tennis match.

Swedish Princess, Husband To Sail On Sausalito Boat

By MOLLY MARIN

A member of the Swedish royal family, Princess Margaretha, the granddaughter of King Gustav VI Adolf, will arrive in the Bay Area tonight with her husband, John K. Ambler. During their stay they will be guests of Sweden's Consul General for the Western United States and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carl-Henrik Petersen of San Francisco. Plans call for the Princess and her husband to sail on the weekend aboard the Petersen's sloop "Panche" which is berthed in Sausalito Yacht Harbor. On Monday the princess will greet local press at a tea at the consul general residence in San Francisco and the couple will leave the following day for Los Angeles.

The princess' brother, Crown Prince Carl-Gustaf, was a visitor to the Bay Area last year when he was serving as a midshipman aboard the Swedish navy training vessel which docked in San Francisco.

The princess, who has three sisters, married Mr Ambler, an English businessman in 1964 in a 16th Century church on the Swedish island of Oland, and the couple now have a small son and daughter. The princess is a graduate occupational therapist and her husband was a personal life guard of Winston Churchill at Chequers before becoming an executive of a London tranport firm.

The couple has visited New York, Washington and Chicago before coming west and will also visit Dallas before returning home to England.

LATEST VOTE tabulation on the Mardi Gras queen contest shows Mrs. Joseph Flahavan leading with 19,175; Toni Luz next with 18,455; Kathee Murdock of Ross with 5,900; Mrs. Peter Maier, 5,550 and Mrs. George Gatter with 3,265. Following the rehearsal tonight for the Saturday ball candidates, their husbands and escorts and committee, will be entertained at a cocktail party by Mrs. Dan London at the St. Francis Hotel.

FOLLOWING AN 1800 mile tour of Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McGee have returned to their home in Novato. They flew to Mexico City and then traveled by car.

DR. AND MRS. William H. Spencer of Sausalito are having an active season of skiing. They returned Saturday from a week in Sun Valley and will leave soon for Vail, Colo., for another week on the ski slopes.

BACK IN their Belvedere home are Mr. and Mrs. David Allen and their family. The Allens have been living in a house on Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, while construction work was being completed on their home, which was damaged by fire last August.

MR. AND MRS. William Meyer, formerly of Tiburon, have recently moved to Bolinas. Penny Meyer will continue to teach at the Tiburon Peninsula Nursery School and Marin Child Development Center, however.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Are You Sure Willing Weakling Isn't Feeding You A Line Too?

DEAR HELEN:

What do you think of a woman who leaves her children every other night to entertain a man, and I do mean entertain?

This friend of mine says she is okay for a good time, but he wouldn't have her as a wife; she's not his type.

He is tired of her and wants to drop her, but she hangs on. He tells me he can't hurt her feelings by throwing her out.

What should he do? — MISS CONCERNED

DEAR MISS C:

He should either put starch in his backbone or truth on his tongue. And you should stay clear of this willing weakling.

How do you know he isn't feeding you both the same line? —H.

DEAR HELEN:

As a newsletter at Christmas writer myself, I must take umbrage with the tenets of Mrs. Inadequate. This is a once-a-year get-together for our friends all over the world, and at what more joyous season?

Granted the letter shouldn't be an encomium of our fabulous family, but though we include the unhappy events with the good, we bear in mind that this is the season to count our blessings, not recount our mean, growl-y moments.

If Pop takes a garden show award and junior makes Eagle Scout and junior miss is making all her own clothes, these are the highlights of our year. Can you imagine writing or receiving: "Merry Christmas! Jack was picked up in an LSD raid. Big Jack is in the cooler for taking pot shots at the gendarmes. Sally left for Haight Ashbury last month, and I've got the D.T.'s"?

What's wrong with Mrs. Inadequate? Serving on a Parent-Teacher Association membership committee is not nothing-news as she implies. Offspring always come up with something wild and wonderful even if it isn't A averages and, as to writing in July, (which she suggests to avoid the Christmas rush), it takes all year to put this one together! — UP WITH CHRISTMAS LETTERS!

DEAR UP:

I like 'em too, especially when they are written with the kind of flair you show in your letter. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Why does a wife belittle, needle or attempt to beat down her husband in front of her relatives or mutual friends. This happens often, not only to me, but to other men. —MR. B. L.

DEAR MR. L:

Perhaps she needs an audience for her sharp wit, but more likely she's evening the score for past slights. If you needle in front of company, it cuts deeper, and it's also safer. A gentleman hardly ever slugs his wife when relatives or friends are around, and by the time he gets her home, he's lost the urge. (But the resentment lingers on and starts a new round of slights and slurs.)

Note to wives: Fight fair! You'll have less fights in the long run! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When I invite friends for dinner and the evening, why is it some insist on bringing their pet dogs with them? If I wanted the dog, I would include him on the invitation. After all, they have a garage or basement, and it won't ruin his psyche to be left alone three or four hours.

It certainly ruins my disposition, however, to clean up dog hairs and whatnot the next day, not to speak of tripping over the animal while I'm cooking dinner. — UNHAPPY

P.S. Tell 'em, Helen.

DEAR UN:

Dog lovers aren't easily told, but you can cross them off your invitation list. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

The Total Look

The big idea in both men's and women's fashions is coordination of the new looks into the total look. This means a blending of patterns and colors in everything from head to toe. Too many colors and too many pattern variations can result in a confused look, however. Remember the rule of contrasts. If a suit or sports outfit is bold and colorful, then the accessories should be subdued. Conversely, if the clothing is subtly patterned, the accessories ought to be bright and bold.

MR. AND MRS. PHILIP E. NABER

St. Isabella's Setting For Naber-Lytle Rite

St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda was the setting for the wedding of Charlene Lytle of Larkspur and Philip Eugene Naber of Ft. Cronkhite on Feb. 10.

Sandra Lytle was her sister's maid of honor. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lytle of Larkspur. Bridesmaids were Maureen Mulvaney of Tiburon and Patricia Quaster of Mill Valley.

Andrew Czuback of Novato was best man, and ushers were Art Quaster of Mill Valley, Jim Hartigan of Chicago and Paul Naber of San Rafael, the bridegroom's brother.

The couple left for Carmel after a reception at Ft. Mason Officers Club in San Francisco. They will live in San Rafael.

The bride was graduated from Redwood High School and attended College of Marin. She is the sister of Sandra, Chuck, Thomas and Daniel Lytle.

Philip is the son of Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Gene Naber of San Rafael. He was graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended College of Marin. He is serving with the U.S. Army. Mildred, Rose Ann, Veronica, Paul and Bill Naber are his sisters and brothers, and Philip Stephaney of San Rafael is his grandfather.

Travel Special Preference Of Museum Guild Officer

No wonder Bobbie Heldt puts travel high on her list of special activities. She met her husband while traveling in Italy, and after their marriage they lived in Rome for three years. Heldt, a landscape architect, was asssociated with a firm of American architects, who had offices in Rome.

For the past four years, the Heldts have lived in Marin. They have three young children, Katie, 5, John, 4, and Kevin, 3.

The new president, who has been a member of the guild a year, outlined plans for a benefit movie preview and champagne party to be given at the Tiburon Playhouse in the fall, and participation in the festival of trees in late Nobember. Anyone interested in helping with these fund-raising projects, or assisting with staffing at the museum, is welcome to become a member.

With a young family, her interests now are often centered on family outings. She enjoys skiing, tennis and reading, as time permits.

CHERRY LYNN NOBLE

Cherry L. Noble To Be June Bride Of David Spiller

A family dinner at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Gladstone Kellogg in San Marino, was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of their dauther, Cherry Lunn to David Stephen Spiller by Mr. and Mrs. H. Morgan Noble of Belvedere.

Cherry, who resides in San Marino, is a graduate of Newport Harbor High School and University of Southren California where she was a Delta Gamma. She is employed with Pan American Airways in Los Angeles.

David, who resides in Newport Beach, is the son of Mr. and Charles R. Spiller Jr. of that city. He attended Loyola High School, Orange Coast College and Long Beach State College and is employed with Douglas Aircraft Co. in Newport Beach.

A June wedding is planned.

Generation Gap

Closing the generation gap between the late 30's and late 60's is no mean feat, but Don Simonelli, an associate of Anne Klein Inc., has done it with his spring collection of Modelia.

His fresh-looking, super-contemporary coats and suits are only a little evocative of post-prohibition days, but they bear nostalgic names such as Slim Summerville, Rochelle Hudson and Helen Twelvetrees. Other styles in his spring collection hear such up-to-date names as Speed, Acid, Billie Joe and Galahad.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

San Francisco: — Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the new achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at The Emporium Bras and Girdles: All seven Big E's.

Giving Children Dull Jobs Kills Sense Of Challenge

Assigning dull and inconsequential chores to children to teach them the value of work is bound to fail, a psychological counselor warned, contending that such lessons "end up teaching the exact opposite — that work is an unpleasant duty we assign to others."

"Children need to feel involved," wrote psychological counselor Eda LeShan in an article in the current issue of Redbook, as she cautioned parents against interfering too much in jobs that children undertake.

"Part of a child's learning to enjoy work is his being permitted to execute and complete it to his satisfaction, not to someone else's," Miss LeShan said. "Too often we will fill in, according to our standards, when a child does something imperfectly."

When a child makes an apron "with one fat tie and one skinny tie, that's the way it ought to stay," she said.

She said "children too need to feel that they are involved — that they are participating and contributing to life."

Lynda's Husband Is Going To War

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The war in Vietnam soon will look large to the First Family in a very personal way.

President Johnson's son-in-law, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, will be on his way to the war front next month and he is champing at the bit to go.

Robb has been seeking a combat assignment in Vietnam since 1962. He recently told a reporter he has many Marine buddies fighting in Hue and at the embattled outpost of Khe Sanh in the north.

He wants to go to fulfill his duty to his country, but he admits he is equally reluctant to leave his wife Lynda Bird.

THE PRESIDENT recently told a group of young scholars that Robb is getting ready to go to Vietnam and Lynda "doesn't know whether he'll come back or not."

The President spoke of reading a cable about Vietnam while his daughter and son-in-law were with him. He told the students he saw the expression on Lynda's face and "knew just what they were thinking."

Robb was scheduled to wrap up his duties at the Marine Corps barracks here at the end of this month. Then Lynda and her husband will take a leisurely tour across country and Robb will report for duty at Camp Pendleton, Marine Corps training base.

He embarks for Vietnam March 29.

Marine Corps officials have stated on a number of occasions that Robb will get the same treatment as any other Marine of his rank. He probably will command a rifle company of about 200 men.

When asked once whether she wanted Chuck to fight in Vietnam, she snapped: "Well he is going."

Lynda will move back into her old room at the White House after her husband is gone.

But while the future is very much in the present picture, Lynda and her husband are enjoying life as young marrieds. He brags all over town about her cooking. "She can cook anything," he said proudly, "meat, fish, poultry."

Lynda chimed in that she cooks by "concensus"—combining the recipes from many of the cookbooks she received as wedding gifts.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Evening's Frost' Is A Fan Pleaser

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — If you're a Robert Frost fan, don't miss "An Evening's Frost," the American Conservatory Theater's latest offering at the Marines' Memorial.

I open on this note of qualification because even the ingratiating portrayal of Frost by veteran actor Will Geer fails to rouse in me more than a flicker of interest in what Frost wrote. So he won the Pulitzer four or five times — big deal. Show me!

YOUNG AND OLD

Donald Hall attempts to show it with his arrangement of Frostiana, tied together by a narrator, and using a young and an old Frost, with one woman playing Eleanor Frost and other female roles. Hall sticks to chronology pretty closely, and except in one instance, makes little effort to dramatize the darker and more dramatic aspects of Frost's life.

The exception is the violent disagreement between the Frosts after the death of an infant son. As played by Peter Donat and DeAnn Mears, this scene takes on dimension and makes one hope for more insight into the poet's life. Alas, it does not come, although lots more of his poetry does.

PERSONAL THING

Poetry is a very personal thing, and hence it's useless to criticize — so on to the production itself.

It was conceived by Marcella Cisney, artistic director of the University of Michigan's Professional Theater Program, after hearing Geer read Frost at his daughter's wedding. With Hall, Miss Cisney put together the present script, produced it at Michigan and then saw it go on to New York and a national tour.

Geer is an ideal actor for Frost. Stockily built, with thick white hair and solid features, he looks like Frost. He plays him with a constant touch of pixie humor jumping from under his bushy brows. Even in his bitterest moments, we see a Robert Frost who is able to laugh at himself — laugh as he says "Forgive, O Lord, my little jokes on Thee / And I'll forgive Thy great big one on me."

William Paterson plays the narrator, who occasionally becomes Frost's grandfather. Paterson has a nice, easy air that lends itself well to this type of narration.

SHOWS VITALITY

Miss Mears, whose ability to project a vital warmth grows with every new appearance she makes at ACT, uses her vitality to good advantage. She slips in and out of the scenes serenely, becomes violent in the dramatic scene mentioned above, and does a fine character bit as the lady describing the bones which walked from the basement to the attic.

Peter Donat, an intense young man, seemed a bit stagey at times compared to the homespun of Geer, the complete naturalness of Paterson and Miss Mears. Perhaps director Cisney wanted him that way. I just feel he would be better toned down. Miss Cisney throughout keeps a good pace.

"An Evening's Frost" will be presented on Saturday, March 7, 16, 17 and 27, April 10, 11 and 16.

Free Films Set

Two Sierra Club films, "Glen Canyon" and "Zero Hour in the Redwoods," will be shown free at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Gallery of the Mill Valley Library. If audience response warrants, the library plans a monthly series of free films.

Senator Asks A Juvenile Film Board

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A state motion picture review board would be set up to determine if movies are suitable for juveniles under one of the latest measures introduced in the Legislature.

"The shocking decay in the moral and ethical content of motion pictures today is a question we can no longer ignore," said Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale, author of the bill introduced yesterday.

All movies shown to the public would be screened by the board which would then classify them as suitable, unsuitable or harmful to juveniles. The classification then would have to be advertised with the movie.

"The fantastic emphasis on perverted sex and trying to pass it off as 'realism' has rendered much of the motion picture industry an instrument for the potential destruction of our whole way of life," Harmer said.

Hamlet, Don Juan On Double Bill

A shortened "First Quarto" version of "Hamlet" and Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell" will be presented by the San Francisco Repertory Theater at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

The unusual double bill is sponsored by the Homestead Valley Improvement club.

The production is said to be the first in the United States of the "First Quarto" Hamlet, believed to be the version usually performed in the post-Elizabethan era although not as faithful to Shakespeare's manuscript as the usually-performed Second Quarto version.

Appeal Made To Olympic Boycotters

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The president of the South African Olympic Games Committee will personally ask all the countries boycotting the summer Olympics because of his country's participation to reconsider.

Frank Braun said last night, "I am going to approach these nations on a personal basis in order to emphasize to them they will be participating in an historic event by supporting South Africa.

"It will be the first time a team representing all races of South Africa will be competing."

So far, 14 countries have pulled out of the Mexico City games because of South Africa's admission to them. Kenya, Sudan and Iraq were the latest to withdraw, taking action Tuesday.

In addition, three Scandinavian politicians have urged Norway, Sweden and Denmark to ask for a reconsideration of the decision to let South Africa compete.

The South Africans, who did not compete in the 1964 games, have said they will send an integrated team to Mexico City in October, but will not have mixed trials in their country preceding the Games.

Braun said he expected South Africa's invitation to the Games to come from Mexico within the next 10 days. The vote to allow South Africa back into the games was taken last week at the winter games in Grenoble, France.

In Mexico City, meanwhile, Pedro Ramirez Vazquez, president of the Olympic Organizing Committee, said, "It is up to the South African countries to decide their own attitude. Mexico will fulfill as it always has done in the past all of its international pledges."

Vazquez went on: "Mexico is inviting each and every country member of the IOC and will extend equal treatment to everybody without differences of any kind. Mexican plans will not change, regardless of the number of athletes or countries attending."

OFFICIAL KNIGHTHOOD FOR FRENCH SKI STARS

PARIS (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy, Marielle Goitschel and Annie Famose, French skiing stars, have been named Knights of the Legion of Honor, the French cabinet said today.

The nominations were made by sports and youth minister Francois Missoffe and approved by the cabinet, a spokesman said.

Killy won three gold medals in the Grenoble Winter Olympic Games which ended Sunday. Miss Goitschel won the gold medal for the women's special slalom. Miss Famose was second in the giant slalom and third in the special slalom.

My old flame is in the Hall of Fame. She is Beth (Mrs. Jack) Kaufman, of Greenbrae, but I won't give you her address or phone number. I'm jealous and don't trust you guys.

BETH KAUFMAN

Beth Kaufman has more oomph than most cupcakes half her 73 summers. Oh, that sense of humor, laugh and sparkle simply destroy me and everyone else who knows her.

This being an Olympic year, Beth Kaufman's name will come up from time to time, particularly next October when the United States again will dominate the swimming competition in the Games at Mexico City.

Perhaps her greatest contribution to swimming was as chief architect and mother of the Amateur Athletic Union's Age-Group program in 1951. She nursed it from a controversial idea into what today is known as the biggest free world youth program any Olympic sport has known.

Successful? In 1964, every U.S. Olympic swimmer was an Age-Group alumnus and the same, I am sure, will be true this year. The rules and regulations Mrs. Kaufman helped write in 1951 have never been altered!

Unsinkable Beth, to my way of thinking, has done more for swimming than Esther Williams, Johnny Weissuller, H20 and Jantzen combined. Though she has never won a championship herself, she has developed more speedsters than a swampful of hungry alligators.

Chairman Of AAU Program

And the honors have poured in on this mother of two, grandmother of nine who still swims a half-mile a day. In 1955 President Eisenhower cited her for the age-group contribution. In 1956 the International AAU honored her as the world's outstanding contributor to amateur swimming.

And just last December Beth earned her niche in the Swimming Hall of Fame at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. as outstanding contributor of 1967.

Recalling that thrill the other day, Beth said: "The ceremonies were quite impressive. I had to take off my shoes and stockings to have my foot imprinted in fresh cement. Owing to my bum leg, I had trouble keeping balance and had the honor of being steadied by the mayor of Fort Lauderdale. But, believe me, it's pretty hard to get cement out from between your toes.

Teased Johnny Weissmuller

"During luncheon we had time to chat with all our old friends. I had known Johnny Weissmuller long ago and when I saw him again I teased him about his added weight. But he told me he'd actually lost 35 pounds just for the Hall of Fame ceremonies.

"Yes, it was quite a thrill for me and I am so very proud of the part Marin County has played in the development of women's swimming, starting back in 1920 when Eleanor Garatti (of San Rafael) brought fame to the county as a national champion and was instrumental in setting up the very first Red Cross swimming campaign in 1925. I've so thoroughly enjoyed my years in swimming. . ."

I've told this story many times in the past, but I think it bears repeating — about how Mrs. Kaufman got interested in swimming. It happened on a beach at Ventura in 1923 when she and others in a party stood by helplessly as a close personal friend drowned in the surf. "It was awful," she said. "None of us knew the first thing about life-saving. We just stood there and watched him drown."

That spurred Beth Kaufman into a 43-year career dedicated to water safety, including several years as a Red Cross instructor.

"Lord knows how many people I've taught to swim," she smiles modestly, "but if I have been responsible for saving just one life, then I feel my years of work have been successful."

Bethie, you're beautiful.

To Begin Playoff Action On Friday

By KIMO CAMPBELL

The Mariners, who have come to regard GVC basketball titles as something of a hereditary right, won the Western crown by clouting arch rival Santa Rosa Junior College 70-58 before a near-capacity crowd in the Kentfield gym last night.

Marin finished with a 10-4 GVC mark to SRJC's 9-5. Both will compete in the GVC playoffs at the College of the Siskiyous (Eastern Division champions) in Weed Friday and Saturday nights.

LONG LEAD

Despite a fine performance by the Bear Clubs' superb guard, Rochelle Collins, the Mariners led from the early moments, breaking the game open midway in the second half and leading by as much as 19 points before SRIC recouped a few points against the reserves.

Chip Tyson, the Tars' frosh forward, continued his hot streak by scoring 17 points to lead a balanced Marin attack. Russ Smith hit for 16 and Tom Stetson for 14. Collins had 21 to pace Santa Rosa.

Collins kept the Bear Cubs close in the first half, hitting for 12 points, plus making four steals and chipping in with a couple of assists. His fine speed and moves kept him always a half-step ahead of his pursuers. Just one hitch. He wasn't high scorer for the half. Tyson was, with 13. And Santa Rosa trailed at the intermission, 32-26.

STRETCH

A bucket by Tyson put the Tars 10 points up with 10:51 left, three points by Russ Williams gave them a solid lead at 8 minutes, and Smith's jumper gave them their biggest lead, 69-50, with less than two minutes remaining on the clock.

Marin's defense in the second half continued Collins and shut off some easy baskets the 'Cubs had gotten in the first 20 minutes. The Tars' rebounding was also improved in the second half, with Stetson and Tom Hernberger doing yeoman work off the boards.

The Tars will almost certainly face old enemy Sierra in the first GVC playoff game Friday night. The Tars have lost three straight to Sierra, falling in last year's GVC finals to the Wolverines, losing 70-63 in the finals of the Marin Tournament at Christmas, and losing 88-84 in the last minute in Rocklin 10 days ago.

Sierra has had its best games against Marin, and several players notably forward Bill Penaluna, who averages 30 points against COM and half as many against other teams, seem to perform better at the sight of the Tars' black and gold jerseys.

HIGH HOPES

But Marin coach Cal Riemcke thinks that will be enough of that. "I don't think Sierra can play that well against us a third time," he said, "and I think we can shut off their fast break. The team played well tonight, keeping to our game plan. Tyson has really come through for us, and Tom Herrnberger gets those defensive rebounds. Tom didn't play in the other Santa Rosa games, which I think obviously hurt us."

Time Running Out For 'Cats

Time is running out for Marin Catholic High School in the Marin County Athletic League. And the Wildcat cagers can only wait and hope.

The 'Cats, a game behind pace-setting Tamalpais, broke open a tight game with a 31-point last quarter to dump stubborn cellar-dweller Terra Linda 83-62 in Kentfield yesterday afternoon, but gained no ground as Tam's Indians rolled to an impressive 64-45 win at Novato High.

Thus Tam is 10-1 in MCAL play to MC's 9-2 with each team having one to play. The 'Cats are at Novato tomorrow night, while Tam hosts scrappy San Rafael Friday evening. San Rafael came achingly close to beating Tam last month, but that was on the Bulldogs' home floor. In their own gym the Indians figure to stay on top. But M.C. can hope.

Some sloppy defense had Tam caught in a 17-17 tie after a quarter at Novato, as Steve McNally of the Hornets had 10 markers in the first period. The Tamites moved out to a 30-25 halftime bulge, led by Pat Schafer and Ron Balsingame, then put the game away with a 19-6 third quarter.

Novato tried to stop Tam with a box-and-one zone — that is, a four-man zone with the fifth man, the "chaser" assigned to guard one particular man. The target of the Hornets' defense was Tam forward Floyd Jackson, the league's top scorer. It worked, on the face of things. Jackson had no field goals in the first half and ended with seven points. Great. But Blasingame and Leroy Barrow hit for 12 apiece from outside. And when they missed, Schafer grabbed the rebound (he had 26, one off the Tam record) and put in the shot. Schafer had 24 points, plus 3 blocked shots.

Marin Catholic had a shaky 52-48 lead as the last quarter began, but then the dam broke. The 'Cats outscored the Trojans 31-14 to win going away.

Center Ches Bornia led Marin Catholic with 21 points, while Harry Matsinger had 16. Paul McCarthy had 13 markers and 17 rebounds. Pat Purcell had 19 to pace Terra Linda, followed by Bob Nadell's 14.

Cokes And Lester To Fight In Oakland Non-Title Bout

OAKLAND (AP) — Curtis Cokes, world welterweight champion, and Jimmy Lester, San Francisco middleweight, were matched yesterday for an over the weight non-title fight in Oakland Auditorium March 15.

Cokes was guaranteed $7,500 plus expenses for the fight which promoters Jimmy Consenza and Max Blum had been negotiating eight months.

Cokes, whose record is 51-7-2 made Charlie Shipes of nearby Hayward his 50th victim in a championship fight here last October.

Lester will go into the 10-rounder with a 30-7-1 record including 24 knockouts. Last year, although trailing on points, he kayoed Charlie Austin of San Diego with only 13 seconds left in the final round.

Lester, who signed to weigh in at 156 or less, was guaranteed $3,000. Cokes is expected to weigh about 148.

Japanese Golf Differs From American System

Takeo Ishizumi came a long way to make a speech yesterday to 3,000 Golf Course Superintendents of America at their 39th annual convention. Ishizumi is course superintendent of Aiichi Country Club in Japan.

Ishizumi's eyes lit up when he saw one fascinating exhibit after another at the convention's headquarters in a downtown San Francisco hotel. In all, there were 125 exhibits, including an $8,000 lawn mower which commanded a second look from Ishizumi.

However, the dazzling display of modern equipment did not prompt Ishizumi to depart from the prepared text of his speech.

"AT AIICHI Country Club," he began, "our maintenance crew consists of 30 men and 20 women. Our budget is $70,000 a year. Wages for our male crew are $3 per day, $2.00 for the female crew. I realize such daily wages may be about equal to your wages per hour. This is the principal point of difference between the system in Japan and that in the United States."

Although he may not have been aware of it, Ishizumi also pinpointed another difference between the gold systems in Japan and America.

"OUR ENTRANCE fee at Aiichi is $3,000 per person and the monthly fee is $50," Ishizumi said. "In addition, there is a $1 charge for a caddy fee per round, $1 green fee per day and a $2 tax."

Can't you hear the screams if America's hackers were plastered with a $2 tax for playing a round of golf?

Ishizumi reported there were only 100 golf clubs in Japan prior to World War II but since then, particularly the last decade, golf has become increasingly popular.

"WE ESTIMATE that there are between 3 million and 5 million golfers in Japan now," said Ishizumi. "The total number of golf courses in Japan is just a little over 500, or approximately the same number as in California."

Japanese courses have two greens for each hole. Zoysia grass is used for summer greens, bentgrass for winter greens. The zoysia greens are used from May to October, bentgrass from November through April.

DIVOTS ON zoysia turf are covered by sand or soil since zoysia growth is slow. This is the caddy's job.

"Japanese caddies are women," said Ishizumi. "They carry small sand bags. We also have the women repair crew go over the course to cover divots with sand or soil. We have no trouble with crabgrass. And the crew of women pull out weeds by hand. They wear caging on their backs to protect them from golf balls."

Novato 'B' Cagers Gain Ground On League Leaders

Novato High School Class B basketball team moved to within a half game of first place yesterday, whipping the Tamalpais "B" team 50-42 at Novato.

The victory gave the Hornet Bees an 8-3 record, half a game behind Redwood at 8-2. Gary Howard whipped in 22 points to pace the victory.

In the only other game played, Terra Linda went over the .500 mark at 6-5 by topping winless Marin Catholic, 51-32. The Trojans held Wildcat ace Mike Luchessa to just three points although Mike Parnow picked up the pace for scoring honors with 18 points. The Wildcats have lost 11 straight games.

Record Set By High Chaparrals

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas broke the American Basketball Association's scoring record while breezing to a 148-130 victory over Oakland Tuesday night and moving into second place in the Western Division.

The Chaparrals scored 79 points in the second half to roll to the victory. Cincy Powell was the team's leading scorer with 35 points. Every player on the roster scored, and six players hit double figures.

Dallas nursed about a 20-point lead throughout most of the last half, but five three-point baskets by the Oaks, four by Steve Jones, in the last quarter pulled the Oaks into contention.

New Format For Hockey All-Star Tilt

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Hockey League's board of governors decided yesterday to change the complexion of its annual All-Star game.

President Clarence Campbell nnounced that starting in 1969 the game will match all stars from the established East and expansionist West divisions. In past years the game has been played between the defending Stanley Cup champions and the previous season's all stars.

Show Stops For Barnett As Knicks Edge Warriors

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Barnett was given the game ball last night and then had to give it back when Bill Bradley said he wouldn't play without it.

Barnett obviously did not mind. He simply continued dropping the ball in the basket and after shooting the New York Knicks to a 115-112 overtime victory over San Francisco in a National Basketball Association doubleheader at the New Madison Square Garden, he reclaimed his basketball and went home.

Barnett's willingness to overlook such callous gift-giving came after the Chicago Bulls had staged a stirring rally for a regulation tie and then toppled Detroit 124-121 in another overtime thriller.

In other games, Philadelphia outscored Seattle 30-2 in a torrid fourth quarter en route to a 104-108 rout and Earl Monroe shot Baltimore to a 127-115 triumph over St. Louis in a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Spectrum. Boston walloped Cincinnati 126-110 in an afternoon game in Boston.

In the American Basketball Association, Dallas outlasted Oakland 148-130, Minnesota tripped Denver 119-117 and Pittsburgh beat Anaheim 121-114.

New York salvaged a 104-all tie at the end of regulation time as Barnett scored the Knicks' last 10 points while Jim King and Jeff Mullins were wiping out a 92-82 deficit for the Warriors.

After Mullins' jump shot tied the game with eight seconds left, Barnett quickly got the Knicks ahead with the first basket of the overtime and suddenly the game stopped.

"I thought the officials were going to take the basket away and call a foul," said Knicks' Coach Red Holzman, an angry man at the time.

But the stoppage was to give the ball to Barnett, who had just scored the 10,000th and 10,001th points of his NBA career.

"I didn't know they were going to stop the game," Barnett said. "I thought someone was hurt."

Then, when play continued, Bradley, Barnett's teammate, complained that the new ball had too much air in it, prompting a grinning Holzman to plead with Barnett to let them use his ball again.

Barnett agreed, dropped in two more baskets in the overtime for a total of 32 points and the Knicks went home happy along with a record sellout crowd of 19,500, the largest gathering ever to see an NBA game.

Top Long Jumpers To Face Challenge

OAKLAND (AP) — The United States' best long jumpers will meet a Russian challenge in the National AAU indoor track and field meet at the Oakland Arena Friday night.

The Russian, Tonu Lepik, surprised with a 25-foot-8½ inch victory over Bob Beamon and others at the recent Los Angeles Times meet. He also won at Seattle.

"But it will be very difficult" to defeat Beamon again, Lepik said on arrival here to top off his training. Lepik's best is around 27 feet. He is accompanied by six other Russians who will compete in the AAU meet Friday and Saturday.

Beamon won the recent Athens Invitational in Oakland with 26-10 but was disappointed he didn't clear 27 feet. His best is 27-1, an indoor record. Also in the long jump field will be the former Olympics champion, Ralph Boston, rounding toward top form, and Gayle Hopkins, Pasadena AA, who has a best of 26-9½. He's former NCAA champion from Arizona State.

Beamon's loss to Lepik in the Los Angeles meet has Bob Schul, co-director of the two-day AAU event, wondering.

"Why was it that Beamon, who hadn't lost in an indoor meet all winter, lost to Lepik?" asks Schul, who won the 5,000 meters in the 1964 Olympics.

"Could it be that he collapsed under pressure? Hard to say, although he had been against the best in Ralph Boston many times.

"Pressure is a funny thing for many athletes. Some can only compete well when there is no pressure while others perform best when the pressure is greatest.

"Lepik will be out to prove to the American audience that the win in Los Angeles was not a fluke," Schul said.

"Beamon has said he likes our arena pit better than any other in the nation. There is a strong possibility he may have to surpass his own indoor record, 27-1, to win."

The meet has attracted entries of the nation's best men and women athletes. Women will compete in 11 events and men in 15. Trials will be held each afternoon; all finals at night, beginning at 8 o'clock.

More Players Are Coming To Terms

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitchers Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox, Al Jackson of the New York Mets and Moe Drabowsky of the Baltimore Orioles are among the major league baseball players who came to terms with their clubs yesterday.

Peters, 16-11 last season with the second best ERA in the American League, was one of three players who signed Chicago contracts. Others were catcher Gerry McNertney and pitcher Bob Priddy.

Jackson, 9-4, last year signed for a reported $30,000 and became the final Met to sign a contract. Manager Gil Hodges begins workouts with the club today.

Drabowsky, a bullpen hero for the Orioles in the 1966 world series and 7-5 with 11 saves last year, also signed for about $30,000. Rookie first baseman Mike Fiore also agreed to terms yesterday.

Catcher Jerry Zimmerman of the Minnesota Twins signed for about $17,000. The regular catcher for the Twins last year, Zimmerman, who hit only .167, figures to give way to John Roseboro, acquired in a winter trade with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Right-hander George Culver, acquired by Cincinnati in an off-season trade with Cleveland signed his contract yesterday. The Oakland Athletics signed two of last year's Birmingham farm club players, pitcher George Lauzerique and outfielder Reggie Jackson.

Players still unsigned include pitchers Al Downing and Dooley Womack of the New York Yankees, outfielder Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins, outfielders Frank Robinson and Curt Blefary and infielder Boog Powell of the Baltimore Orioles and outfielders Rusty Staub and Jim Wynn of the Houston Astros.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

What You Should Know In Case Of Emergencies

It should be a conditioned reflex with all boaters that, when they are in a small boat and have to cross a large wake, they should automatically turn to hit the waves bow-on.

It's quite true that most of the time you don't need to do it, but if you do it every time, you'll never be caught the one time that you should have. Turning to catch the wave on your bows may waste 15 or 20 seconds, but think what a dunking would cost.

Here are some of the questions I've been asked on the subject of boating emergencies:

Q. Will my 27-foot cruiser sink if it's holed? What do I do if I hit a rock?

A. The weight of the engine and other heavy gear on most cruisers will pull them down. When they are full of water, they'll sink. So if you run up on a rock, you may wreck the boat but save your life.

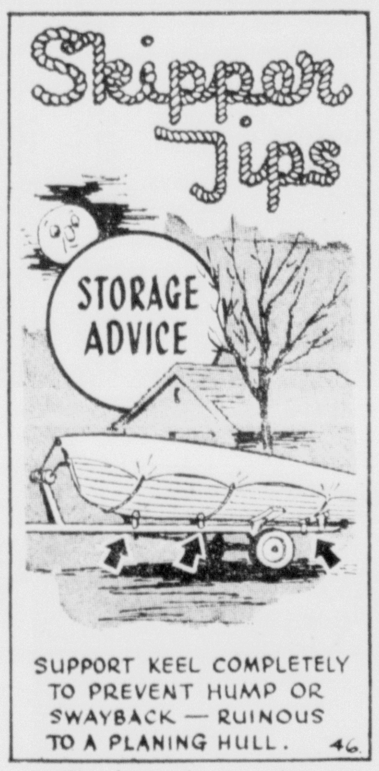
Q. I didn't realize boats "skid" sideways as much as they do on a turn. I hit another boat. What should I have done?

A. There is always an instant in a circumstance such as this when you realize you are going to hit. Kill the motor dead at that moment. Outboard boats stop very fast, and you may not hit. If you do, at least you hit at lower speed. Damage is less.

Q. Our lake becomes quite violent in high winds. What's the right thing to do if caught out on it under such conditions?

A. Keep the bow into the wind and waves, and go very slowly. Stay low in the boat, with life jackets on. If you can get to shelter this way, fine; otherwise wait out the storm.

Q. I followed your advice about rigging up a plastic pail as a sea anchor in case of a storm. Do I put it over the bow or the stern?



SUPPORT KEEL COMPLETELY TO PREVENT HUMP OR SWAYBACK — RUINOUS TO A PLANING HULL.

A. The bow always, the stern never. The whole idea is to keep the bow into the wind and waves. It's the front end of the boat that's designed to take the brunt of violence and shed the water. The back end is the vulnerable area.

Q. I was swamped and rescued by a police boat. The officers told me I should never have let the boat broach. Exactly what does that mean?

A. Back in the days of sailing ships, the expression was "broach to," and meant to allow the ship to turn broadside to wind and waves. . . with inevitable, calamitous consequences. The old, high sailing ships just flipped over. It still means the same thing, mostly the result of trying to turn in the face of high winds.

Q. I pulled out of a slip and another boat hit me. I didn't know what to do.

A. I think I would have given her the gun forward. Better to chance hitting the wharf than be hit by the other boat. He had the right of way; you were in the wrong and wide open for a damage suit.

Q. You keep preaching, "If swamped, stay with the boat." I'm a good swimmer. Why should I?

A. Statistics say you should. They indicate that the poor swimmer who hangs on to the boat is always the rescued one, but the good swimmer who strikes out for shore is frequently drowned.

Christiansen Would Take Colorado Job

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—If he were offered the job as athletic director of Colorado State University, says former San Francisco 49er coach Jack Christiansen, he would take it.

"It hasn't been offered," Christiansen said yesterday.

He said he had no idea that Colorado State's athletic director, Jim Williams, was planning to retire. "He's doing a great job," said Christiansen.

Christiansen, fired by the 49ers after a 7-7 season, said rumors about him taking the job apparently started because he went to the school last month as an athletic consultant.

Christiansen was graduated from Colorado State in 1951 after having earned letters three years in football, four in track and one year in basketball.

Teenaged Southpaws Steal The Show

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Terry DeYoung is quite a learner.

He watched Ron Pulley bowl an even 700 series last Thursday night at Nave Lanes — the first 700 of the year at that house — and then came back the next night with 717 three-gamer.

Pulley, 19, was subbing on the Hagen and Smith team of the 840 Scratch League. DeYoung is the anchor man on that team. Pulley started off with a 210, added a 254, then finished off with a 236.

The following night in the 905 Travel League, 18-year-old DeYoung, a lefthander like Pulley, but together games of 237, 235 and 245, to beat out Pulley for the year's high honor at Nave Lanes.

I guess there's something to be learned by this story. If you're over 19 and righthanded, forget about trying for a 700 series.

MARIN BOWLING

STRIKES TO SPARE — Joan Moore of the 605 Ladies Classic at San Rafael's Country Club Bowl went up the ladder by the tens, bowling games of 141-151-161. Watch out for a 171 next week, warns league secretary Bea Hoffman . . . In the same league, the Roto Rooter team rooted the pins for a 752 game and 2,110 series. . . . Vi Ratcliff, 117 average roller in the Reno League at Country Club, missed a 152 triplicate by 18 pins her last game. . . . Phyllis Rockwell went up the ladder 115-116-117 in the Alley Kats II League at Nave Lanes, while Savon Cleaners rolled that league's top team game of the year, 624. . . . Burrdyne Perry of Nave's Mystery League rolled a 191 game & average is 99. . . . If the gals in the Forget Me Not League at Nave Lanes want to know how to convert the 5-10 split, talk to Betty Zechlin; she picked it up three times in one day. . . . In the same league Donna Strockbine made the 3-7-10.

ON THE LANES — Vickie Campanella of the Hi Lo's at Country Club has been bowling in leagues for nine years,always aiming for that first 200. The other night she did it, with a pin to spare, 201. . . . Marilyn Coffing of the Wig League No. 4 at Country Club went down the ladder with games of 128-127-126 whilt Joan Whooley was rolling a 104 triplicate. . . . John Craig, president of the Novato Unified Bowlers League, took over league leadership with his 245 game. . . . In the Mighty Misses League at Country Club, Emily Dillehay was a pin too good her last game, following a pair of 104 games with a 105. . . . Same thing happened to secretary Carolyn Schwab in the Blue Chip League at Country Club, two 128s followed by a 129.

NOTE: League secretaries should carefully read the I-J bowling news forms. They should not merely report high scores because the three Marin Bowling houses are providing us with their honor rolls. Secretarits are urged to report oddities and other highlights, as clearly defined on the I-J forms.

NCAA BASKETBALL

Second Showdown Eight Games Away

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The countdown for collegiate basketball's "second showdown" was at least eight games and 30 days away for Houston's top-ranked Cougars today.

The Cougars, 71-69 winners over fabulous UCLA in "the game of the century" last month at Houston, won't play the second ranked Bruins again until March 22 in Los Angeles—if they are to play at all.

Houston (30-0) has five regular season games remaining and then would have to win three National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) playoff games in the Mideast to reach Los Angeles.

Houston and fourth-ranked St. Bonaventure, the nation's only other major college unbeaten team at 19-0, landed two of nine at-large berths yesterday in the 1968 NCAA championships.

Other bids went to 1963 champion Loyola of Chicago (13-6), to be Houston's foe March 9 at Utah in one of seven first-round games, 13th-ranked New Mexico State (18-4), 15th-ranked Marquette (18-3), Florida State (17-5), St. John's of New York (15-6), Boston College and the Ivy League champion, either sixth-ranked Columbia (17-3) or Princeton's (17-4) Tigers.

The selection of nine at-large teams meant the 30th annual NCAA championship bracket would be composed of 23 teams—14 representing major conference (the Ivy League winner does not automatically qualify.)

With only its loss to Houston marring a two-year record, UCLA would be one of the 14 major conference champions automatically qualifying providing it wins the AAWU as expected.

The Bruins then must win the West regional March 15-16 at the University of New Mexico and Houston, providing it gets past Loyola, would have to successfully defend its Midwest tourney title at Wichita (Kan.) State University before the two collegiate giants could meet again this season—in the semifinals at Los Angeles March 22.

Of the nine at-large teams selected yesterday, only Loyola a past champion. The Chicago team beat Cincinnati 60-58 in overtime to win the 1963 championship. St. John's is the only other among the nine ever to reach the finals—bowing to Kansas, 80-63, in 1952.

Only Florida State has never appeared in an NCAA post-season basketball tournament.

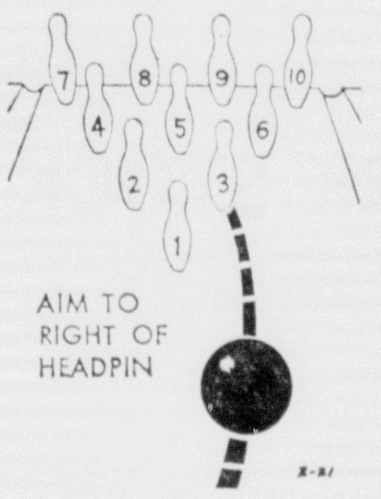
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Splits are usually caused by the ball coming in too high on the headpin. That ol' nose hit can cause a lot of trouble. If you're splitting, aim a bit farther to the right of the headpin for a time. You won't get splits that way. Then, as you get the feel, work gradually back to the 1-3 pocket.

Mill Valley To Gain Another Franchised Cleaning Shop

A new cleaning establishment — another franchised One Hour Martinizing plant — will open at 31 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley in April

This is in the former Post Office Annex, where Seth R. Dole of Fairfax has leased 2,400 square feet. Owner of a self-service laundry in Fairfax, he will supervise the cleaning plant, but will probably have someone else run it. Hours will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

A NEW DISCOUNT furniture store, Value Corner, has been opened at 1101 Grant Avenue, Novato by Howard Young, formerly of Woodland and now a resident of Novato. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays, extended to 9 p.m. Friday evenings.

Young is also a partner in Young's Discount Store in Woodland with his brother, who manages that establishment.

WALDRON AND CO. INC., investment securities firm that moved its home office from San Francisco to Margarita Plaza, Northgate Industrial Park last April, became a member of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange this week. Apparently the company has not suffered any setback in business resulting from its move to Marin. On the contrary, says president Darrell O. Hollyman, volume for last month exceeded combined sales for January and February a year ago. About two-thirds of its sales are in mutual funds.

Since coming to the county, several local residents have been elected officers: H. D. Holleyman of Terra Linda and Bink H. Beckman of Marinwood, vice presidents; and John Lowry of Mill Valley, manager of the trading department. Marin registered representatives now on the staff include Emmett W. Barrow Jr. and George H. Gregory of San Rafael; Robert H. Browne and Glen L. Caldwell of Terra Linda; and Paul Mendelsohn of Greenbrae.

KAISER FOUNDATION HOSPITAL in Terra Linda and the San Rafael medical offices of the Permanente Medical Group on Fourth Street are installing extensive new switchboard equipment. San Rafael medical offices now have the same telephone number as the Terra Linda Hospital. Number for the outpatient offices remains the same.

RICHARD FINNIE of Belvedere has retired from Bechtel Corp. after more than 25 years service with the company. His work for Bechtel was producting still and motion pictures and writing.

ADDRESSOGRAPH representatives A. J. G. Matson of San Anselmo and C. J. Mengedoht of San Rafael have been made members of the Hundred Club of Addressograph Multigraph Corp. for their last year's sales records. They will attend the club's annual meeting next week in West Virginia.

Think of the many pleasant hours of baseball, football, basketball, and hockey your wife can enjoy when you give her a Sylvania color TV.

Sylvania makes color TVs for people who love their wives. And baseball, football, basketball, and hockey (not necessarily in that order).

There are 53 models in all, and each makes a timely and thoughtful gift anytime you give it. (They're televising more baseball and football than ever this year. Same with basketball, hockey, golf, etc.)

Behind the tube is a mystifying assembly of transistors, integrated circuits, and other components called the chassis.

Sylvania chassis are made by people who couldn't care more about such things. For people who couldn't care less.

There's the automatic degaussing circuit. Which automatically degausses. (It keeps the colors from mixing. It also lets you move the set around the living room without calling in a repairman to get them unmixed again.)

And since some wives also like furniture, Sylvania takes its cabinets seriously.

Go ahead. Splurge.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Wikel

There is a new withholding allowance which acts like extra exemptions. If you qualify for them, the sooner you file your 1967 tax return, the sooner you can increase your 1968 take-home pay.

You can increase the amount of your paycheck by increasing the number of exemptions on your withholding certificate form W-4, that you file with your employer.

You get one extra exemption, or more, for 1968, if you itemized your deductions when you filed your 1967 return and your 1967 return has been filed and the amount of your itemized deductions was at least $1,400, provided your wages were at least $6,000.

The Revenue Service has sent your employer copies of Form W-4 and Schedule A (Form W-4). Use the table on Schedule A to figure your allowance. It shows that you must take the following amounts of itemized deductions in 1967 to claim one allowance in 1968.

$ 6,000 to $ 8,000	$1,400
8,000 to 10,000	1,705
10,000 to 12,000	2,045
12,000 to 14,000	2,385
14,000 to 16,000	2,725
16,000 to 18,000	3,065
18,000 to 20,000	3,405
20,000 to 22,000	3,745

If you think this applies to you get a Schedule A, Form W-4, from your employer, read the instructions carefully, determine the number of extra exemptions to which you are entitled. Complete the form and file it with your employer.

It is important to do this because it will result in an immediate increase in your paycheck and it will also decrease the amount of refund that you would have next year.

This is the only way permitted for figuring the number of extra withholding exemptions you can claim.

While the Internal Revenue Service does not tell us the criteria they use for determining which tax returns are going to be audited, it is a safe bet that any return with a large refund is going to be suspect. It is always a good idea to try and have the withholding and the tax come out pretty close to even.

Of course, if you know that you are not going to have as many deductions this year as you had last year, it might be a good idea to file a new W-4 with your employer and not claim as many dependents as you are entitled to because your withholding is inadequate if your net taxable income is in excess of $500 for a single person or $1,000 for a married couple.

Sales Up But Earnings Decline

PALO ALTO (BW) — Hewlett-Packard Co. has reported a gain in sales and a decline in earnings for the first three-month period ended Jan. 31.

Sales totaled $59,120,309, a 7 per cent increase over sales for the first quarter of fiscal 1967.

Net earnings amounted to $3,835,908, a 10 per cent decline from the corresponding period last year, equal to 31 cents a share of common stock outstanding, compared with 35 cents in the first quarter of 1967, but incoming orders for the period totaled a record $66,465,060, a gain of 8 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

FULL STOCKS ON SATURDAY

Rally Puts Market Ahead Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today, running a technical rally through three straight sessions. Trading was fairly active.

Gains had a late advantage of nearly 2 to 1 over losses and the Dow Jones industrial average was up several points.

The rally took place despite the fact that tomorrow is a holiday for exchanges because of Washington's birthday and many Wall Streeters will take a four-day weekend.

International Nickel and United Aircraft were strengthened by earnings reports. Du Pont, highly influential in the industrial average, ran up 5 or 6 points in a continued climb based on its eminent position in the burgeoning synthetics field.

Benguet, the Philippine gold miner, was the most active stock by a wide margin and dropped nearly a point.

General Time, Amphenol and Dennison Manufacturing were heavily traded gainers.

Coppers were weak.

Gains of a couple of points or so were posted by IBM, Merck and Xerox.

Prices also advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Leasing Firm's Earnings Boom

CHICAGO (BW) — Consolidated Leasing Corp. of America has reported a 37 per cent increase in net earnings on a 12 per cent increase of revenues for the fiscal half-year ended Jan. 31.

Revenues for the six months ended Jan. 31 advanced to $17,793,119 from $15,860,047 a year ago. Net earnings increased in the current first half to $1,037,966 from $752,391 in the first half last year.

After preferred dividends net earnings per share in the latest six-month reporting period were $1.05, compared with 80 cents last year.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

When Income's Adequate, Build Growth Position

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are both 68, retired, with our home clear and adequate insurance. Annual income from pension is $8,400 plus Social Security. Savings total $16,000. We own $22,000 in bonds and 11 stocks on list enclosed. We will have about $15,000 available for investment this year and would like to increase our holdings in the above stocks. What are your suggestions? — P.A.

A. Your Telephone, Pacific Gas & Electric and Textron bonds are satisfactory. All our stocks are of good quality, but some — such as Allied Chemical and National Lead — seem better situated for yield than for growth.

Since your overall income appears more than adequate, I suggest you strengthen the growth section of your list in the expectation that stocks of this caliber will protect you over a period of time from continued dollar erosion, which seems inevitable.

I would add to IBM; Sears Roebuck; and American Telephone, which I consider oversold at current levels.

Q. Can I buy government bonds to yield as much at 5 per cent? I have E bonds but would like now to get something to yield more. I do not want to buy stocks. — G.B.

A. The highest rate obtainable from government bonds or notes at recent levels is about 5.7 per cent. You could get this yield (figured to maturity) on the Treasury 5¾s due 1974 which have been selling around 100½.

You can do a little better on good corporate bonds. Jersey Standard 6s due 1997 were selling recently to yield 6 per cent to maturity. They are nonredeemable as a whole until 1977. A yield of 6.05 per cent could be obtained from American Can 6s of 1997 which cannot be redeemed before 1977.

Both of these issues would give you a satisfactory degree of security and good call protection.

Pound, Politics And Paris Plague Nuclear Scientists

By DIETRICK E. THOMSEN
By Science Service

WASHINGTON — While the United State's project to build a 200-billion-volt proton accelerator at Weston, Ill., goes forward with the measured tread befitting such an elephant among atom smashers, European plans for a similar machine may be foundering on a combination of British devaluation, French hunger for glory, and West German foot-dragging.

The Europeans already have a 30-billion-volt synchrotron at Geneva, which was built by cooperation of 13 countries and is managed by an intergovernmental organization called CERN.

The proposal for a cooperative venture in a 300-billion-volt machine was made and has been discussed through the CERN organization although the new machine would require a new treaty of collaboration and might wind up with a governing body separate from CERN's. Scientists who have had the experience of international collaboration at CERN are among the keenest in pressing for the new construction.

Scientists made preliminary studies, diplomats began to examine the legalities of the situation, and member nations were invited to submit site proposals (which just about everybody did).

There the project hangs. Only three countries—France, Austria and Belgium—have pledged participation in the project. This leaves Denmark, West Germany, Greece, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom and Yugoslavia to be heard from.

Britain may not be heard from—at least for a time. In its efforts to prevent the kingdom from sinking into insolvency, Prime Minister Wilson's government may have hit upon Britain's proposed $70 million share in the 300-billion-electron-volt project as a postponable expense.

The British may be willing to go in if their offer of a site in Norfolk is accepted. They would then get back more than they spend, and much of it would go to benefit a rather depressed section of the respectable working class on whose votes Mr. Wilson's government depends. (But British opinion has it that the French site offer is most likely to be taken.)

Meanwhile, the British have made a technological exchange agreement with the Soviet Union—which now operates the world's biggest accelerator, a 76-billion-electron-volt installation—and hope to send some of their physicists to work in Russia.

The French are already sending scientists to work in Russia. But, as befits their new dedication to grandeur, they have something else on the fire. They would like to build a national accelerator of 40 to 45 billion volts at their own Saclay laboratory, according to Prof. Francis Perrin, their delegate to CERN.

This has led some observers to feel that the French are playing unfairly with the Germans, who have put forward a 40-billion-electron-volt plan of their own, which, though built in Germany, would be "international." The Germans are dragging their feet on the 300-billion-volt project (they are asking for more study), partly because their economy has turned a little soft and partly because they might like to save their own 40-billion-volt machine.

Both Germany and France have agreed to drop their 40-billion-volt plans if the 300-billion-volt deal goes through, but this act of renunciation would hurt the Germans more than the French. The French already have a variety of accelerators of various sizes; the Germans have very few.

Germany came late to the field because for a long time after the World War II occupation authorities forbade Germans to pursue research in this field. When they finally got started, in the mid-1950s, the traditional organization of the German science community, which is both complicated and inflexible, made funding of large projects difficult.

Baker Indicted On Liquor Raid

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Bobby Baker has been indicted by the Worcester County Grand Jury on charges of liquor law violations.

The Valentine Day indictment against Baker, owner of the Carousel Motel in Ocean City and former secretary to U.S. Senate Democrats, was made public Monday by Calvin Hall, county sheriff.

In addition to Baker, the indictments were against Baker's wife Dorothy, and Robert S. Bounds, a co-applicant for the Carousel liquor license.

Police Chief V. Jack Phillips said the charges stemmed from a raid on the Carousel on New Year's Eve by his department, as well as sheriff's deputies.

Phillips said liquor was being sold after hours and all evidence was confiscated.

Home Is Looted

A .38-caliber revolver, a transister radio, speaker and tapes were stolen from the home of John B. Chandler at 82 Rollingwood Drive, San Rafael, Monday, police reported value of the stolen property was $425.

Street Lighting Joint Idea Liked

Belvedere Planning Commission Monday night decided to recommend that the city council combine a street lighting plan with the undergrounding of city utilities.

The commission is recommending that the city go ahead with the combined project "so far as is financially feasible," according to William H. Rafter, secretary.

Rafter said commissioners also will recommend that priority be given to the Beach Road area when the project starts.

Bagley Facing Test For GOP Nod In Primary

Marin-Sonoma Assemblyman William T. Bagley faces a contest for the Republican nomination in June, and a four-way race for the Assembly seat is in prospect for November.

Filings of notices of intention to seek the Assembly seat at the Marin County Courthouse and at the secretary of state's office in Sacramento today promised a four-way race.

Candidates for the Legislature have until 5 p.m. today to file notices of intention in Sacramento. This, however, does not qualify them for the primary ballot. Nomination petition filing will begin next Monday.

Bagley has filed his notice of intention at the secretary of state's office. His Republican opponent, Clayton Barham, secretary to cosmetics tycoon William Penn Patrick, filed both places.

Also filed in Sacramento was the notice of James E. Pockrus of Petaluma of intention to seek the Democratic nomination. Pockrus, a school teacher, twice before had run against Bagley.

George Wallace's American Independent party has a candidate in the person of Albin Bionda Jr. of Petaluma, who filed his notice in Sacramento.

The Peace and Freedom party primary shapes up as a race, if Christopher Bratt, Tomales school teacher, qualifies for the ballot. He and Earl Bryan Arnold, a San Francisco Theological Seminary student, filed notices of intention for the Assembly race both in Sacramento and at the Marin County Courthouse.

A third Peace and Freedom aspirant also filed in Sacramento for the Seventh District Assembly post now held by Bagley; but according to the address he gave the secretary of state's office, he lives in Republican Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti's Second district. He is Adolph Hofmann of Santa Rosa.

Peasant Dressed Anti-Viet War Group Protests

The demonstrators did not intefere with the inspection of the ROTC unit by Lt. Col. Albert Froede of Sixth Army Headquarters.

Also yesterday it was announced that the Stanford student judicial council has found nine students innocent of charges they violated campus rules last November during a demonstration against the Central Intelligence Agency.

Couple Reports Deserter Son Will Not Return

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (AP) —A Pennsylvania couple just back from Sweden where they visited their son, a Navy deserter, said he does not plan to return to the United States.

"My son has no intention of returning," Charles Lindner said today.

The son, Michael Lindner, 20, and three other American sailors deserted their ship, the USS Intrepid, while it was in Japan. They said they were protesting America's involvement in Vietnam.

Three Car Crash Hurts Sonoman

Norman A. Wallace, 49, was treated at Marin General Hospital.

The collision occurred at 6:58 a.m. when a car driven by Isaac F. Hunsaker Jr. 61, of 38 Knoll Road, San Anselmo, slowed for traffic ahead, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The Wallace car slid into the rear of Hunsaker's car then collided with a station wagon driven by Eugene John Peil, 49, of Petaluma, according to patrolmen.

Clifford Lund Named 'Man Of Year'–1967

CLIFFORD S. LUND
Chamber honor

Clifford S. Lund was named last night as San Rafael's "Man of the Year" for 1967.

The award was presented to Lund at the annual dinner of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, at which he turned over the chamber presidency to Charles W. Try, manager of the San Rafael store of J. C. Penny Co.

Robert W. F. Severin, "Man of the Year" award committee chairman who made the presentation, said that in most years it is difficult to pick out one citizen for his outstanding civic work, but for 1967 Lund's record stood out above all others.

Lund took over the chamber presidency with the organization in financial straits, and turned it over to his successor with money in the treasury. The chamber manager was let go early in the year to save money, yet the organization did not curtail its programs.

Besides heading the chamber of commerce, he was foreman of the 1967 Marin County Grand Jury, one of the most active in recent years. He also served as president of the Louise A. Boyd Museum, and was a director of several other organizations.

He is president of Lund Associates, Inc., insurance brokers. He and Mrs. Lund reside at 550 Heather Way.

Oil Firm Asks Union Injunction

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An injunction against Local 85 of the Teamsters Union in San Jose and $3,000-a-day damages are being sought by Southern Pacific Pipelines.

The company contends that illegal pickets were thrown up around S.P. Pipelines San Jose Terminal starting Monday.

The strike began against Texaco Inc. ,but the suit said drivers for other oil companies are refusing to cross the picket lines and thousands of gallons of petroleum products are stalled in storage.

Strep Infections Lead Disease Count

Streptococcus infections soared to the top of the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin last week, with a total of 121 cases, 83 of them in Novato, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Other communicable diseases reported were measles, 30 cases; infectuous hepatitis, 4; measles, tuberculosis and gonorrhea, one each.

CAMPAIGN STYLES

Romney, Nixon Tactics Differ

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI)—The governor of Michigan paused on a sidewalk in Portsmouth, N.H., and fished in his pocket for a pen.

He took the small white paper bag the pretty young blonde offered and wrote "George Romney" on it. Then he set off at a brisk pace to visit more stores and shake more hands.

Romney will sign many more autographs and shake many more hands before New Hampshire residents vote March 12 in the nation's first presidential primary of 1968.

"Mine is basically a people to people campaign," the Republican presidential hopeful says.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Romney's major rival in the GOP primary, is waging a different kind of campaign. Nixon is generally conceded to be the favorite, perhaps by a margin of two or three to one.

A typical Romney day starts about 7 a.m. He likely will visit a couple of factories, address a college group, do an hour's worth of sidewalk campaigning, visit a newspaper office, address another school group, spend some time at a university winter carnival and address a dinner meeting.

It will be a 15-hour day.

Nixon probably will hold staff meetings all morning, visit one store-front headquarters in the afternoon, tape a television promotional piece, and address a rally in the evening.

His working day may be as long as Romney's but his public exposure will not amount to much more than two hours.

Remarking on his rival's tactics, Romney says, "His campaign is built up on large crowds and having infrequent appearances. The two campaigns are quite different."

For his part, Nixon says, "The whole point of the exercise is reaching the people." He feels there's a "mystique" to this. "A lot of things in campaigning can't be justified by a computer."

Nixon says there's something about "physical presence" that television cannot equal. In an obvious reference to Romney's campaign style, Nixon says, "If you have to go into the homes or factories—you do."

As a matter of fact, the former vice president said in recent days that he is considering a swing through the more rural areas of New Hampshire, perhaps hitting 10 or 12 communities a day.

Newsmen have more access to Romney than to Nixon.

Romney has made a habit recently of riding on his press bus with the newsmen. Nixon usually rides in a private car and is seen only when he makes his public appearances.

Nixon acknowledged in a recent talk at the University of New Hampshire that one of his problems in politics has been his reluctance to follow the advice of public relations men.

He said that, among other things, they would advise him to wear makeup so he would look better under the glare of television lights. "Of course, I don't do that," he added.

This remark surprised some of his listeners. Nixon looks deeply tanned, especially in New Hampshire where in February tanned faces are usually found only on ski slopes.

Both candidates provide the usual facilities for newsmen following them: a bus, press rooms and telephones.

But Romney's organization does it with more of a flourish. The bus is much newer and the press rooms have typewriters. Sandwiches and hot and cold drinks are available.

Both men use the question-and-answer period with their audiences.

Romney usually talks longer than Nixon before throwing the meeting open to questions. But both use the method effectively.

The questions are mostly the same—Vietnam, the Pueblo incident, riots at home, and taxes.

But questions on Vietnam are the most frequent. And the candidates' answers to those questions probably will have more bearing on the results of this primary than sandwiches, hot drinks and television makeup.

Gun Collector Trial Postponed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The trial of millionaire gun collector William E. Thoresen III, 30, was postponed Monday in U.S. District Court.

Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli said a new trial date will be set March 11.

Thoresen was indicted as a result of a raid on his home in which a large quantity of arms and ammunition was seized.

Similar charges were brought against his wife but they were dropped earlier this month following a ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court.

If Air Doesn't Get You, Perhaps The Water Will

Here and there over Marin, on almost any sunny morning, one can see light plumes of smoke wafting skyward where someone is industriously burning papers or rubbish in his backyard.

Each little plume is a flag of annoyance to some people, and causes them to inquire why the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District has not banned backyard burning—which was the first thing done by its counterpart in Los Angeles many years ago.

This month, garbage collectors of the City of New York went on strike, and in nine days, trash piled as high as nine feet along some streets, accumulating at the rate of 10,000 tons a day. In what happened there is part of the answer to why the "smog board" has held off on banning the simplest method of getting rid of the quantities of paper, cartons, dry leaves, etc., that rapidly accumulate around every home.

"Smog district" people say, however, that a ban on the backyard incinerator — a notably inefficient affair, especially when carelessly stoked — is bound to come.

THERE IS A GREATER problem than those wisps of smoke. It is what to do with the trash that is not burned. Some hints of its immensity already have come to our area.

The once-blue waters of San Francisco Bay have turned brown. Much of the bay's pollution comes downstream from the central valleys. But much of it comes also from around the bay itself, with an undetermined but increasing amount from materials dumped into the bay to avoid the bans on burning.

"Fill-and-cover" has replaced the former burning of trash dumps. Yet, despite this and despite controls on industrial burning, the smog district has failed to hold its own in the fight against air pollution.

And while smog has increased, suitable areas for "sanitary landfill" have been rapidly disappearing. And rats have increased, along with smog, attracted by the fill-and-cover dumps and by the accumulations of stuff that would be burned if burning were not banned.

SOME TIME SOON, our public officials are going to have to look at the over-all picture of pollution. As it stands, we have the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District fussing about burning, the California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board contending with automobile exhaust pollutants, and the cities and counties struggling piecemeal with garbage disposal. And all the while, pollution of our water supplies becomes greater.

In a book on "The Archaeology of San Francisco," Robert C. Suggs thus describes the Emeryville Shellmound, which has yielded diggers their greatest treasure in the clues to the life of Bay Area Indians before the Spanish came:

"The Emeryville Shellmound was, in fact, little more than a huge garbage heap that had collected through the many centuries the Indians had lived in the area. Here they had lived, collected oysters, clams, and mussels, caught fish and birds, and hunted. When they finished their meals, they simply dumped the empty shells, bones, and other refuse a reasonable distance away from their huts. Through the years, the mound grew and grew as the shell refuse of generations of Indians who lived on it and around it piled up and mingled with charcoal, ashes, broken or lost tools, tumbled-down huts, and the general kind of debris that one finds around a camp. Burials were also made in the discarded shells and debris. The digging was probably easier there."

There does not seem to be too much difference in what is happening today. We dispose of our garbage much like those Indians did. But there are a lot more of us, and we have a lot more rubbish. So the mound grows a great deal faster.

Suggestions For Tax Reform So Far Appear Unpalatable

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — No matter what type of tax program the administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan offers to the Legislature this year, it's going to be unpopular and no doubt unpalatable to a good segment of the people of California.

Just what the administration will have to offer in the way of tax reform has not as yet been announced, and probably won't be for quite some time. However, the office is working on it, and has a report from the citizens advisory tax structure is one which "just grew," often without rhyme or reason (primarily without reason) until now it has reached the point where it has become almost confiscatory.

THE TAX STRUCTURE has grown by the method of expediency, rather than through a planned program of equity. This has resulted in the taxing of almost everything that held the potential of offering some tax return to meet the ever-growing obligations of the state. The problem of equity never has been given any real serious consideration.

The citizens' advisory tax structure task force has come up with some proposals, but so far none which have been announced has been particularly attractive to the general run of the public.

The task force suggests extending the sales tax to utility bills, to food and to personal services. This has been suggested before, and the suggestions have gotten no further than the front door.

The committee also has suggested a new tax on business, which would be known as a gross margins tax. In other words, it would be levied on the difference between the gross profits of a firm, and its operating expenses. This tax would be designed to supplant the business inventory tax, which has caused much dissatisfaction in the sector of commerce and apparently eventually will be repealed.

However, this suggested tax would accomplish little more than taking money from one pocket instead of the other, though it undoubtedly would result in a larger return to the state, as not all businesses are required to pay the business inventory tax.

IT CAN BE concluded that any so-called tax reform will be highly unpopular in areas where the tax is going to hit.

The power of the Legislature to tax is unlimited, but this body is now being confronted by the problem of the ability of the taxpayer to meet his obligations and still have enough left to exist without lowering his scale of living, which a good many people already have done to support government.

Lesson In Seizure Of Pueblo

(Reprinted from St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

The seizure of the Pueblo by an insignificant little Asian country has cast a strong light on America's pretensions to be the world's policeman. The United States is so deeply mired in its 30-billion-dollar-a-year war in Vietnam, where its policing now looks a bit sick, that it is unable to terrify the North Koreans. And the incident of the Pueblo may be only an example of what could be in store for us.

If the Communist world were in truth the monolithic structure imagined by far-right American anti-Communists, Pueblo episodes would be routine. Communists would have been stirring up trouble throughout Asia to force the United States to spread itself still more thin. But communism is not monolithic and this has not happened.

What continues to happen, however, is the insistence of nationalist movements and indigenous revolutionaries on a better life for the world's downtrodden. Communists have exploited these movements, and will continue to do so, and if the United States cannot amend its general policy of support for ruling cliques it is going to find itself continually on the wrong side. It is too late to assume that misery and poverty are going to be accepted by the miserable and poverty-stricken forever.

Student Corrects I J Misquotation

Editor: Independent-Journal:

My name is Yasuhisa Shiozaki and I am an exchange student from Japan. I was interviewed the other day with another student from India by a gentleman from Independent-Journal, and the article was printed in last Friday's paper (Feb. 3). But as I read it I found a misquoting in it, and it is not a small one. . . .

"Shiozaki, commenting on Japanese youth demonstrations against a recent visit of an American nuclear warship, said the youth were correct in objecting to the visit."

The last part is the misquoting. What I said at the interview was that everybody in any country had a right to demonstrate and show his opinion. . . . But I did not say that they were correct in objecting to the visit. So, I hope, if you can, you rectify it. But I'm sure it wasn't your fault; I think my poor English expression caused this mistake.

Not Worried About Census

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your Feb. 12 editorial about the federal census as an "invasion of privacy" is surprisingly misdirected.

First, the census is a collection of statistics about the nation, not about individuals. I would guess that the people who are most alarmed about the census as an "invasion of privacy" are the ones who actually use statistics the most. Most people in business and public affairs complain about the inadequacy of data, the lack of reliability of "samples," etc. The decennial census is one of the most critical pulse-takings that a nation undertakes; it is one of the rare times an actual "inventory" is taken of our population.

Census data are used for a tremendous variety of purposes: calculating future pressures on schools, projecting the demand for housing and the markets for wide varieties of consumer goods, estimating the scope of the "poverty" problem; indicating the age composition — and the resulting service needs — of individual cities, to name just a few. Statistics are vitally necessary to the operation of much of our economy.

An invasion of privacy? We do not complain about our stock transaction becoming part of the day's record. We aren't too reluctant to let the credit bureau know about our financial shape. So, merely giving accurate information about facts that are vital to the operations of the market and the development of our society can hardly be considered an invasion of privacy. In fact, for most of us, the 1970 census will be conducted by mail, eliminating even the personal interview of old.

Will the census data become part of a personal dossier of information about each of us individually? No. First, the Census Bureau will not ask for your social security number, without which it would be virtually impossible to make the data part of your personal file in their records. . . Second, the Census Bureau never allows the publication or release of any data that would reveal vital information about any person, family or corporation.

A penalty for refusing to participate? Not pleasant, perhaps. But again accurate statistics are in the national interest, and in the interest of each of us as users of statistics. So once every ten years we have to "go for broke" and get them, even if a few people are reluctant.

Conventions May Drop In Nielsen

Editor, Independent-Journal:

When we look forward to the fall TV shows, ratings on the political conventions seem in doubt this year. Now that the ancient but famous old routine of "Tax, Spend, and Stayinoffice" is being panned, the old trouper Tax is retiring from the act and will be replaced by Conserve, a rising young talent.

New billing would read "Conserve, Spend, and Tryand Stayinoffice," and backstagers hint the old comedy theme is being shelved so the act can be re-scripted to rely heavily on Magic.

Members of the ensemble unseen by the audience but vital to success of a smooth performance are Depreciation Depletions, and Corporate Labor. Eventually all may be required to contribute more to the act rather than add the emergency ten per cent to box office prices requested by one of the act's original producers.

Once enthusiastic critics are playing it cautious about the coming productions in comparison with the jubilant kudos lauded the former shows. Rumor has it the critics are a poorer crop this year.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

IT WAS ONE of those nights not fit for man or beast, but a hard-hearted father sent his son out to herd the sheep with nothing but an old, flickering lamp to guide him. A few hours later, the father found his son fast asleep under a tree, with the lamp extinguished, and awakened him with a solid kick in the rear. Rubbing himself in the appropriate place, the son complained, "It was so cold and dark when my lamp blew out that I surrendered to Morpheus. Do give me a new wick for my lamp." "Nay, nay," his father rebuked him, "and know you this, you sleepyhead: There is no wick for the rested."

Viet Cong Offensive Falls Short Of Hopes – But Not Too Far

SAIGON — The shape of the war and the prospects of peace in Vietnam have been significantly changed by the rampaging attacks of the Vietcong.

There should be no shrinking from this fact.

What South Vietnam has witnessed is an explosion of hidden VC power capable of beleaguering 32 cities simultaneously and exceeding all intelligence expectations.

It reveals the ingenuity and the capacity of the VC to secrete large forces and substantial arms deep within South Vienamese urban areas long deemed secure.

It reveals a degree of South Vietnamese civilian cooperation with the Communists which cannot fail to be deeply disturbing.

I AM NOT suggesting that the Vietcong have achieved a major victory. There is just not enough evidence yet to permit such a final judgment. But it is crucial to avoid Pollyanna thinking and not to conclude that, because the South Vietnamese and U. S. troops pushed the VC out of most of the invaded cities, all is well. It isn't.

There are certainly some favorable facts which came to the fore during the course of the savage offensive which has probably not yet exhausted itself.

HANOI miscalculated the degree of weakness an disintegration within the government of South Vietnam. The Communists expected it to come apart at the seams at the onslaught. It didn't.

Hanoi miscalculated the volume of disaffection among South Vietnamese civilians. No South Vietnamese rushed in any number into the arms of the self-proclaimed guerrilla liberators.

These facts show that the Vietcong expectations exceeded their reach.

But the present winter-spring offensive, for which Hanoi has been stockpiling men and arms, isn't over —in the judgment of most knowledgeable persons here.

And responsible officials of the Thieu government with whom I have talked and who have always taken a cautiously confident view of the trend of the war believe that a basic review of military policy is absolutely essential.

THIS MAY PROVE to be a crisis-judgment which further developments may show to be premature. But it rests on those views which cannot be lightly dismissed:

That the Vietcong presently have the inititative.

That the U. S. and South Vietnamese are waiting for the other side to attack them — not the other way around.

That the VC may well have the resources to undertake another major offensive.

Theat the North Vietnamese have shown that they can outflank the heavy bombing of supply routes and that, while the bombing is a valuable arm of the war, it does not prevent a massive VC build-up inside South Vietnam.

I FYO ULOOK at how far short of the Vietcong hopes the offensive fell, there is good reason for pessimism in Hanoi.

It the VC expected to create enough havoc to induce a general uprising —which captured documents mention — they didn't get it.

If the VC expected a kind of victory which would stagger the U. S. and South Vietnamese forces, they didn't come near to it. If the Vietcong expected to deliver a shattering blow to the Thieu government, it didn't shatter.

If the Vietcong expected to create a state of mind in the U .S. which would force President Johnson to quit the war, they did just the opposite.

At this stage the Vietcong's convulsive offensive is in stalemate and the timetable for ending the war or beginning peace talks is set back.

World Economic Meet Falls Into Name-Calling

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

For nearly three weeks now, 1,500 delegates from 132 countries have been meeting in New Delhi, ostensibly to find ways of bridging the increasing gap between rich and poor nations.

So far the conference has produced:

—A walkout by three-quarters of the delegates on the representative of South Africa in a demonstration against South Africa's white supremacy policies.

—A denunciation of the United States by Cuba which accused the United States of "madness for persecution."

—An attack on western capitalism by the Soviet-led Communist states which accused the west of "subverting" the economic growth and development of poor countries through unfavorable terms of aid.

—A demand by developing countries for more aid at lower interest rates and longer repayment periods.

THE QUESTION of trade, one of the main purposes of the conference, scarcely has been mentioned.

And, while talking of more and more aid, the underdeveloped nations are reacting with less than enthusiasm to Japan's willingness to help finance their development through an increase in private investment.

Their explanation is they fear this could lead to their economic growth falling under the control of foreign capital.

THE CONFERENCE screcely could have come at a less propitious time.

The United States is worried about the dollar and has served notice that it must cut back on the billions it has advanced annually since World War II in foreign aid.

The U.S. position virtually closes the door on the subject but the delegates keep talking as if they hadn't heard.

The British continue to be preoccupied with their own problems since devaluation of the pound, and, like the United States are unwilling to undertake new commitments which might endanger their own economy.

Further complicating the picture is the European Common Market which, led by France, directs most of its aid and trade preferences toward the developing nations of Africa at the expense of such items as Latin American coffee and tropical fruits.

AT THE MEETING of American presidents at Punta de Este, Uruguay, last year President Johnson promised to try to break down these preferences in favor of a general agreement under which the developed countries would agree to stabilize the prices of basic commodities and grant nonreciprocal tariff preferences to less developed nations.

These the United States will discuss, along with realistic steps toward development of resources.

But as things are going now, amid the flow of oratory and conflicting self-interests, it seems unlikely the conference ever will get around to basic problems in the four weeks remaining.

Happy Sequel To John Dong Story Follows His Return To Tiburon

John Dong's determination to be hired as a Cook in Marin won out last week, proving that an individual can still be his own best agency for aid.

In the chapter before, the 75-year-old Chinese man had been taken to the bus depot in San Rafael and given a ticket for San Francisco by sheriff's deputies. He had been booked for vagrancy after he was found wandering around the Belvedere-Tiburon area looking for employment.

But last week Sheriff's Lt. William Johansen found Dong back in Tiburon, standing by the post office in a heavy downpour. Dong accepted Lieutenant Johansen's invitation to ride in the patrol car to the Tiburon sheriff's sub-station, to get out of the rain.

SOME INTERESTED citizens were alerted that Dong was back in town.

One of them was Betty Frost, who recalled saving the telephone number of a woman who called in response to Betty's "Reporter's Notebook" about Dong after he was taken to the county jail. When she called, Dong was presumed to be on his way to San Francisco.

A quick call found the woman still interested in offering Dong employment as a cook in her Mill Valley home. Lieutenant Johansen took him there for an interview.

Dong and his new employer quickly reached mutually agreeable terms, including a room of his own plus salary.

Dong certainly had lost his fear of policemen, which speaks well for sheriff's deputies in both Tiburon and San Rafael.

Crewmen Paul Smith of La Jolla, William Johnston and John Fortner of Seattle met at the Tiburon center Friday to board the vessel, which has been doing research work along the coast between Seattle and Tiburon.

Special research equipment sent from La Jolla was put on board during the Tiburon stopover, before the ship headed back to sea on Sunday, en route to San Diego.

The vessel is now the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries' largest one. It will carry fishery scientists and oceanographers on research cruises to distant areas of the North Pacific and the Bering Sea.

Its mission is to seek methods for more fully harvesting the food potential of the ocean.

The ship is named for a publisher in the Northwest, the late Miller Freeman, whose publication, the Pacific Fisherman, founded in 1903, crusaded for scientific fact as the basis of managing international fisheries. Freeman supported many other progressive steps in commercial fishing before his death in 1955.

The Tiburon Marine Laboratory, under the wing of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries and Wildlife, Department of the Interior, usually charters boats for three or four weeks a year for its research trips, according to Gerald B. Talbot, director.

Talbot estimates this costs only one-third as much as having the laboratory operate its own boat.

How To Win Hearts Of People: A Little Lesson From Vietnam

WASHINGTON — My friend Kober doesn't seem to identify too much with what is going on in the cities of South Vietnam these days; so my friend Schultz had to explain it to him.

"Suppose," said Schultz, "you came home one night and found the police surrounding your house, and suppose you said to the chief:

"Hey, what are you shooting in my house for?'

" 'Don't worry, sir. Charlie's in there, but we'll get him out.'

" 'That's fine, but do you have to shoot at every window to do it?'

" 'It's the only way. If we don't rout out Charlie, there will never be nay peace in this neighborhood.'

' "THAT'S JUST GREAT, but in the meantime, would you stop using that flame thrower on my house?'

' "Charlie's dug in and we have to use everything we've got. It's for your benefit, sir. The sooner we get him out of there, the better it will be for everybody.'

" 'I'm sympathetic with your problem, and I'd like to get Charlie out, too, but where am I going to live if you keep firing mortars into the roof?'

" 'Good heavens, man, don't be unreasonable. There's more at stake than your house. If we don't get Charlie out of there, we'll lose the respect of everybody in this city.'

" 'Why did you just blow off my chimney?'

" 'YOU CAN'T FIGHT crime and lawlessness without doing some damage. Now, be a good guy, and just stand back so we can move this artillery piece up here.'

" 'Now wait a minute, you're going too far. I forbid you to use artillery against my house.'

" 'You are in no position to forbid us to use anything. Charlie has to pay for his crimes.'

" 'That's all right with me, but who going to pay for my house?'

" 'I'm sure somebody will take care of it. Besides, that's not our department.'

" 'I don't want to be a bore about this, and I know I can't see the big picture, but that happens to be my dwelling and I worked 25 years to pay forit. By the way, you know you just wrecked my kitchen, don't you?'

" 'SORRY ABOUT THAT. I guess he must be in the bedrooms.'

" 'What are you doing with that tank?'

" 'We can hit the second floor better with a tank.'

" 'I'll bet you can. Let me ask you a question: suppose he's not in the bedroom?'

" 'Then we'll have to knock out your living room.'

" 'It figures. I guess one last appeal to spare my house would fall on deaf ears, wouldn't it?'

" 'WHAT DID YOU SAY? I can't hear you because of the dive bombers.'

" 'ARE YOU GOING TO DIVE BOMB MY HOUSE?'

"'it seems to be the only way. Listen, this hurts us more than it hurts you.'

" 'There they go. Holy smoke, the whole house is falling down! The whole house! My house is gone!'

' "There don't seem to be any bodies in the rubble. I wonder if Charlie's in the next house?' "

'Bug Stations' Again Are Target For Bay Lawmaker

SACRMAENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-Redwood Ciy, has renewed his drive to eliminate the 18 border quarantine stations — often referred to as 'bug stations" — and isn't too impressed with a department of agriculture report suggesting improvements.

Britschgi tried last year to eliminate the quarantine stations but was unsuccessful. He said the operation of the stations costs the state about $1.2 million a year.

Britschgi argues that the stations do not do an efficient job of insepcting entry of fruit, vegetables and harmful plants and soil into the state. In addition, they cause travelers unnecessary inconvenience and give a bad impression of the state, he said.

When Britschgi's bill came up last year, the department of agriculture agreed to study operation of the stations and make some recommendations. Gov. Ronald Reagan's task force on government operations since has recommended elimination of the stations.

Among recommendations made by the department were: work with county agricultural commissioners to develop an inspection at airports; eliminate the graveyard shift at seven of the stations; and put up signs at three busy stations to funnel local or recreational traffic through the stations without inspections.

George Washington was the only president to be unanimously elected. He received all 69 of the electoral votes cast.

A $3,000,000 MISTAKE?

We Think California Is about to Make a Bad Deal With $3 Million of State Park Tax Money!!

LET'S DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT!

The Marin Citizens Committee For NO on Brazil Souza has been formed to help stop the State's purchase of the Brazil-Souza ranch property.

We feel this property is not suitable for a state park area, and that the $4 million committed to Marin County for state park expansion can buy far better property for recreational use.

We need your support. Just ask yourself some of the questions we are asking. Don't you think we taxpayers deserve the answers when more than $3 million of our tax money is being spent?

QUESTIONS

1. Why is the State about to pay $3,009,200 for the Brazil-Souza property?

The County Assessor has established a fair market value for the Brazil-Souza property of approximately $2 million.

One county supervisor has said that public opinion he has encountered indicates that many feel there is nearly a million dollars worth of water in the asking price for the property.

Why is the State about to pay $3,009,200 for the Brazil-Souza property?

2. Why are we rushing into a $3,009,200 purchase?

The bond issue of 1964, passed by California voters, provided $150 million to be used to meet the recreational needs of the people by acquiring and developing lands for recreational purposes. $4 million of that was allocated to Marin County. The Brazil-Souza property will not meet the recreational desires of 95% of the people.

The money will not be lost to Marin or transferred to another county if the purchase of the Brazil-Souza property is halted or delayed. This has been assured by a state Senator, Assemblyman, and several department directors of the State who are in a position to know. Scare tactics of the proponents are untrue, undignified and unfair.

Why are we rushing into a $3,009,200 purchase?

3. Why is the State not waiting for the results of the County Investigation?

The First Christian Church of America has agreed to sell the property in question to the State. The property is beleaguered with more than $3 million of loans against it, plus a federal tax lien of $547,000. The Marin Board of Supervisors has asked for completion of an investigation by County Counsel.

Why is the State not waiting for the results of the County Investigation?

4. Whose recreation enjoyments will be fulfilled if the Brazil-Souza property becomes a State Park?

The property consists of 2,140 acres best dedescribed as "three barren, windswept ridges separated by steep ravines which in real estate circles are commonly called 'junk land'."

The State Study of 1964 shows no camp or picnic sites planned for the property, pr marily because the terrain does not lend itself to development of camp or picnic sites, or to hardly any other type of family recreation.

In the three summer months of 1967, some 12,000 campers were turned away from Marin's Samuel Taylor State Park, and this kind of crowded condition for outdoor recreation facilities and activities exists throughout the State.

The Brazil-Souza property offers only limited recreational activity. Hiking, primarily. But even that is limited, and there are again many more suitable hiking areas within alternative sites.

Whose recreational enjoyments will be fulfilled if the Brazil-Souza property becomes a State Park?

5. Why are we not considering alternative sites in Marin for our State Park area?

This property is barren and empty of desirable camping, picnicking, fishing or swimming areas. It is frequently windswept and foggy, especially during the heavy summer recreational months of July and August.

There are many other sites in Marin available and suitable for State Park areas — and well within the $3 million cost factor.

Why are we not considering alternative sites in Marin for our State Park area?

6. Who is really backing this purchase?

Proponents of the Brazil-Souza property are a relatively small group, many of which have not even been on the land.

About 95% of the people who have toured the property come away shaking their heads and wondering why it is even being considered as a recreational area for the State.

The proponents and planners of this acquisition are not representative of the majority of the people. Some of Marin's leading conservationists are against this purchase.

Who is really backing this purchase?

7. Do we need $3 million worth of more barren land for Marin?

Marin County already has many miles of barren land in public ownership. Another $3 million worth is unnecessary and a poor use of scarce tax dollars.

It is not conceivable that another parks expansion bond will be passed in the foreseeable future. And even if it were, there is no guarantee that Marin would receive another allocation for park expansions.

Let's use the $4 million now committed to Marin wisely and for the benefit of the majority of the people of the State for a wide scope of recreational enjoyment.

Do we need $3 million worth of more barren land for Marin?

Army Recruit Protest Report Hits Campus

A student resistance group to recruiting on campus at College of Marin by the Armed Forces was reported yesterday.

Michael Everett Albaugh, 18, Public Relations Commissioner of the Associated Students, said the group — under the name of Students Against War (SAW)—has not yet identified itself further, but has reported it will seek petition signatures against possible recruiting by the Army at the college March 11-12.

Albaugh said the Army requested permission by telephone to be on campus, and that he replied with an invitation, a procedure he understands is necessary to permit the military to be at the college for such purposes.

Yesterday, he said, he received a letter from Rickey Hall, officer candidate school selection officer, Army Recruiting Station, Alameda, confirming the request.

"The purpose of our visit is to orient interested students, male and female, on the eligibility requirement and the advantages of applying for one of the Army's programs upon receipt of their degrees," Hall wrote.

"The recruiting team can provide valuable information on officer candidate training, warrant officer flight training, Women's Army Corps and Army Nurse Corps," he added.

Hall said about 10 days prior to the visit, advance material and posters will arrive at the school.

Albaugh said word of the visit spread around the campus and a few students appeared at a college student commissioners' session Feb. 7. They said the Students Against War will circulate petitions if the Army attempts to recruit on campus, according to Albaugh, but all added they could not officially speak for SAW and were not identified.

"They're a rather nebulous group," he said. "They don't even have a leader, so I wouldn't hazard a guess how many members they have."

He said the College of Marin Times has also been informed of the impending petitions.

Albaugh said a Marine Corps officer reportedly has requested permission to visit the campus for the same purpose, but confirmation has not been received.

Repairs To Slow Bay Span Traffic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Brief north lane closures occurred again yesterday as repair work continued on the upper deck of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

Workmen were replacing a steel girder damaged Feb. 11 when a Navy jet trainer smashed into it, killing two pilots.

Work is expected to continue until March 8, officials said, and the affected lane will be closed from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. while repairmen are operating.

Death Penalty Talk Set By Ex-Warden

Clinton T. Duffy, former warden at San Quentin prison, will talk about "The Death Penalty — Is It the Answer," at a fund-raising cocktail party from 5 to 7 p.m. March 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kent, 200 Woodland Raod, Kent Woodlands.

Duffy's talk will be sponsored by the Marin Committee to Abolish Capital punishment. The party is open to all interested, but there will be a charge, the committee reported.

Key Student Jobs Filled By Elections

Results of a second phase of student elections at College of Marin last Thursday and Friday were announced yesterday.

Manuel Saenz, a sophomore from San Anselmo, was elected vice president of the Associated Students. Elizabeth Johnson of San Rafael had been elected to the Post Jan. 5 but failed to meet grade point standards, officials said.

David Harrington was elected to the post of Spirit and Athletics Commissioner. The San Anselmo sophomore replaces Harry Gilbert, elected Jan. 5, but who also failed to qualify.

Ray Lawler of San Rafael was elected freshman male representative to the executive council; Judy Wallace of Tiburon, freshman woman representative; Kim McDowell of Novato, sophomore woman representative; Kirk Mitchell of Fairfax, sophomore male representative; and Aileen Madera, freshman, San Rafael, was named executive council secretary.

It was the only election held for the representative and secretary posts. Other election results were announced Jan. 8.

Clothing Stolen

Clothing worth $90 was reported by Odeva F. Ivy of 105 Birch Way, San Rafael, as stolen from her car parked outside the Kettle Restaurant, San Rafael, at 3 a.m. yesterday, said police.

New Try To Abolish Dry Cleaners' Board

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, said the State Board of Dry Cleaners is "silly, wasteful and useless" and has introduced legislation to abolish it.

Knox's bill is the same as one authored by Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Richmond, last year. Approved by the Senate, the bill was killed on a close vote in the Assembly, with the idea in mind that the board should be given another year to prove itself.

"The time is up," Knox said. "It is now time to eliminate a board which does not protect the public against damage or loss or fire hazard, but which protects only its own existence."

Knox and Miller are backed by the Little Hoover Commission. That commission, which studies organization and efficiency in state government, has been hard on all boards and commissions and concluded they should be abolished unless they actually were necessary for the protection of the public. Too often, the commission reported, boards and commissions served merely to restrict entry into a particular business.

"I offer this measure as a unique opportunity to wipe out a useless board and cut state expenditures by about $300,000 a year," Knox said. "This is a stacked board, with six members representing the dry cleaners and a grand total of one member representing the public.

"The board exists to collect license fees to finance the board so it can collect license fees," he said. "It is silly, wasteful and useless."

In 1967, the fight over the bill to abolish the dry cleaners board was largely one involving organized labor, which sought representation.

Lines are being drawn for another battle over Knox's bill. Assemblyman Leo. J. Ryan, D-Burlingame, has announced his opposition.

"I am convinced that the board both directly and indirectly serves the public's interest . . . it maintains some watch over those who apply for a license," Ryan said. "The past history of the industry in other states has shown an occasional invasion by hoodlum elements that use a small dry cleaning establishment as a front for questionable and illegal activities."

Ryan has introduced AB521 which would change the makeup of the board to include one public member, one shop owner, one wholesale plant owner, one retail plant owner and two owners of any category.

Burglary Denied

DAYS OF GLOOM

Vietnam, Korea Haunt The Nation's Capital

By GEORGE J. MARDER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—On the bus, in the bar, under the Capitol Dome you can sense it—a mood of baffled frustration gripping Washington.

Conversations about the cold and traffic congestion are shot through with bitter comments about the all-season problems of a troubled nation.

Vietnam haunts the capital day in, day out, hour to hour, showing no sign of solution. No longer is there trust in the promise of a phasedown in the U.S. involvement in a year or two.

Despite official assurances on Vietnam, there is fear that the trend again is toward escalation. You can smell it both in the flutterings of the doves and the flapping of the hawks.

It is a time such as Washington has not undergone since the Red Chinese crossed the Yalu River into Korea or the Battle of the Bulge in World War II.

Today in Washington the problems mount steadily.

There is a stark realization that more must be done in the ghettos of America. But no one has come up with a way of getting at this problem and fighting a war at the same time. The national preoccupation is with Vietnam.

President Johnson, faced with this situation, managed in his new budget to scrape up a half-billion dollars to meet what he called the nation's most urgent needs.

The Senate came into the second session of the 90th Congress with unfinished legislative business on civil rights. It has been alternately debating and ignoring that business from the outset.

The rights measure has been torn between pressures to sweep it under the Senate carpet or expose it to full-dress debate, dehydrate or inflate it, weaken or strengthen it, kill it or kiss it to death with compromise.

The civil rights debate has become something which cannot be labeled a debate or a filibuster, but as a frustrated something in between.

On taxes, it is the same. The administration, taking on the coloration of an irresistible force, has marched to Congress for the third time, with its "indisputable" argumentation for a tax increase.

It met, for the third time, the immovable object in the man from Kensett, Ark., Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, where tax laws are written—or the page is left blank.

There are, despite all this, a couple of bright spots.

There is enthusiasm this winter about what the federal government will do for the consumer. The cost is minimal; the benefits, political and otherwise, are multitudinous.

And there is the rallying cry for law and order. The criminal must be put in his place.

Innocent Plea To Intent To Defraud

Henry Charles Kates, 23, of Richmond, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge he possessed a bad check with intent to defraud Bank of Marin in San Rafael.

Placing Of Federal Grants Into State Budget Is Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The vast amounts contained in federal grants escape policy review because they are not included in the state budget, an official of the California Taxpayers Association said yesterday.

Robert C. Brown, executive vice president of the association, urged that federal grants to state and local government and higher education be placed in the budget.

"The cold truth is we do not know how much federal money is distributed to state and local government in California," Brown said to the National Taxpayers' Conference on Federal Affairs.

Because federal grants do not appear in the budget total, he said, state and local budgets "almost uniformly ignore these vast amounts of money . . ."

"As much as $10 million of the Department of Public Health budget was allocated under the vague justification of simply being a federal grant," he said.

Brown said this means "no budgetary or policy review was ever made."

Brown also said the Department of Finance has resisted attempts by the Legislature and others to insure that federal funds are "properly budgeted, reviewed and accounted for."

He said, "There has been a deep resistance about imposing any of the usual restraints on the use of these funds that they would normally insist on in controlling other kinds of revenues."

Dixie Hotel Fire Fatal For Three

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Fire destroyed a four-story hotel in downtown Knoxville today, killing at least three elderly persons and injuring two others. Police said "several" guests were missing.

The flames broke out on the third floor of the old May Hotel shortly after 1 a. m. est, and roared through the brick and frame structure.

Police Sgt. Roy Whitfield said there were 10 or 12 persons in the hotel at the time of the fire.

SHANGRI-LA

An inspired creation on an astounding site. Read this whole ad please — if anything, it understates the facts. At $69,000 — just listed — it's 4 or 3 bedrms. (with den) and formal dining room. Down a long private drive to a level South facing site with an entire mountain within touching distance. Enter by a Japanese gate and garden on the sheltered side. The dining room was created to capture a Shangri-La feeling — one view to the mountain. The other frames the night lighted blue swimming pool. Corner windows used again in the master suite — each with its forest view. 1¾ miles away. Glistening tile baths and a full room for the master clothes closet. Kitchen trimmed in warm tiles and has the finest appliances. But in the final analysis it is not the exquisite man-made detailing that substantiates the value — rather it's the trumpeting, overwhelming, soul-stirring scene of the mountain, from every major room.

Minibudget To Explore Planet Mars

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue — and all at cut rate prices. That's the story of the space agency's proposed new mini-program for Mars.

The something old is the Mariner spacecraft design, dating from the early part of the decade, which is evolving into a spacecraft capable not only of flying rings around the Red Planet, but of dropping off a passenger.

The something new is the passenger, a 150-pound ball of instruments packed in balsa wood, aluminum honeycomb or some similar cushioning material and equipped with parachutes to help it survive a rough landing on the surface.

Something borrowed is a compact propulsion system, lifted from the Lunar Orbiter program to turn the Mariner spacecraft from a fly-by vehicle, which would just zup past Mars and go on into space, into an orbiting vehicle capable of circling the planet for more than six months.

Something blue? The officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration who had hoped instead of this economy effort to have the luxurious Voyager program, replete with clusters of 10-ton space probes and a scientific wonderland of instruments to study everything from Martian weather to any possible Martian life.

But there's Vietnam, and money's tight. So instead of trying to get Congress to embark on what would have been a $2.4 billion commitment for Voyager, NASA is asking for a timid $38 million this year as the first step is in an estimated $500 million program, little more than a fifth of Voyager's cost.

The full-scale Voyager plan called for the launch of two double spacecraft, each containing an orbiter and a lander, atop a single giant Saturn V booster in 1973, and another "twin double" launch in 1975.

Cancer Surgery Progress Slow, Doctor Argues

SAN ANTONIO (SS) — Commenting on a recent report on cancer to President Johnson from Dr. James A. Shannon, director of the National Institutes of Health, a San Antonio, Texas, surgeon notes that surgical therapy was not mentioned.

"It is apparent that technical advances in surgical therapy have reached a plateau," says Dr. J. Bradley Aust in a recent issue of Surgery, Gynecology & Obstetrics Magazine.

The points emphasized by Dr. Shannon included reduction of deaths from cancer of the uterine cervix because of early diagnosis by the Pap test, and cures of choriocarcinoma with drugs.

Dr. Aust comments that recent innovations in treatment for cancer have been primarily adjunctive although surgery remains basic for diagnosis and control in the vast majority of patients.

One new method employs a cryosurgical probe to reach inaccessible tumors of the mouth and oral pharynx. Graded and recurrent freezing is used to destroy the tumor locally.

In conclusion, Dr. Aust comments: "We continue to fight a holding action impatiently waiting for knowledge of molecular biology to lift the major burden of treatment for cancer from the surgeon's back. Forced to be proud of meager accomplishments, we polish and sharpen the tools of our trade, for today's battles must be won with today's weapons."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Cardiac-Like Chest Pains Not Necessarily Heart Symptoms

VAN DELLEN

A middle-aged acquaintance stopped me on the street not too long ago for some curbstone advice. The man was having pain in the chest and had seen several physicians, but all said his heart was normal.

He was not satisfied with their diagnoses and wanted the name of the best heart specialist in town. I recommended a few good diagnosticians.

EXAMINATION revealed that his chest pain was due to arthritis of the spine. A nerve between the second and third ribs was being pinched by a vertebral defect. This man, like many others with pain in the chest, was convinced that he had heart trouble, even though every physician he had consulted assured him the organ was normal. Pressure over the nerve root produced the pain.

But the chest contains more than the heart, and the origins of pain are numerous.

Years ago, a relative of mine awoke with severe distress over the left side of the chest. He was worried about his heart, but the skin in this area was sensitive to to the touch, and this does not occur in cardiac disease.

TWO DAY Slater, the rash of herpes zoster (shingles) broke out. Until the eruption appeared, diagnosis was impossible.

But we cannot blame the victim for being apprehensive while his physician tried to pinpoint the problem.

The chest wall houses bones, cartilages, joints, muscles, nerves, and blood vessels. These structures are easily injured and are subject to various diseases.

PUTTING THE chest wall and spine to work often points to the source of pain. This is done by asking the individual to flex or rotate the spine, to bend forward, and to breathe in and out deeply, and cough. Maneuvers such as these usually are painful when the chest wall has been injured and the cartilage is dislocated or loose.

Other possibilities include pleurisy, inflammation, spasm, hiatal hernia, or diverticulum of the esophagus.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

EYEBROW PLUCKER

M. W. writes: I know a girl who plucks all her eyebrows. As soon as a hair appears, out it comes. Does this mean she has something wrong with her mind?

It is more likely to be on an emotional basis. Only the woman involved or her psychiatrist can answer this question. Everyone has a reason for doing the unusual and it might be sound or unsound, and done consciously or unconsciously.

EXPLORATORY

D. W. writes: Does an exploratory operation mean the surgeon isn't sure what is wrong?

REPLY

Yes, but the situation is not so vague as it sounds. The surgeon has narrowed down the possibilities to two or three conditions and has exhausted every means of distinguishing them without operation.

BED REST, GROWTH

F. D. writes: A friend said if a person would stay in bed for a week or more he would add 1-16th of an inch to his height. Is this possible?

REPLY

Perhaps, but that a waste of time for 1-16th of an inch. Furthermore, the increase would disappear after the individual is up and about.

WATER AND STONES

Mrs. R. writes: Why is a person who forms kidney stones advised to drink a lot of water?

REPLY

To dilute the urine so that crystals will remain in solution.

TREATING APPENDICITIS

R. A. writes: What treatment is given for generalized peritonitis, due to a ruptured, gangrenous appendix?

REPLY

The antibiotics have been helpful and usually are given in conjunction with intravenous fluids and blood transfusions. I presume operation was done.

RED FACE

E. B. writes: I read about something that makes the face turn red when the person takes a drink of beer or whisky. Where can I buy the stuff?

REPLY

I don't know. Antabuse and apomorphine make the drinker sick as a dog. These products require a prescription and must be taken under the doctor's supervision. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on alcoholism.

RENAL CYST SURGERY

J. M. writes: Should a renal cyst be removed surgically? Please tell me if one can lead a normal life after this operation.

REPLY

Not all renal cysts need be removed, but if the operation is necessary, the person can lead a normal life. In fact, many people have only one kidney and manage without the slightest difficulty.

STAIR EXERCISES

E. L. W. writes: I am overweight and hate to do exercises. I like to walk, but cannot do so in inclement weather. Do you think going up and down stairs would be a good form of activity?

REPLY

I would say yes, but take it easy at first.

UNTYING TUBES

A reader writes: If the tubes were tied five years ago, could they be united so I could become pregnant?

REPLY

Yes, but there are technical difficulties and few women become pregnant after the operation.

ID REACTION

T. M. writes: Can athlete's foot spread to other parts of the body?

REPLY

This is a rare occurrence, although other kinds of ringworm can infect different parts of the body. Now and then an allergic reaction (ID) to ringworm of the foot develops elsewhere on the skin and will not disappear until the original athlete's foot is brought under control.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT — Coffee, alcohol, and tobacco are taboo for ulcer victims.

World Still Suffers Painful Gum Disease

WASHINGTON (SS) — An estimated 67 million Americans suffer from gum diseases, and 20 million have lost all their teeth — a state of affairs not much better than when Columbus found the first American Indians. Egyptian mummies' skulls also how the worldwide problem of bone destruction that causes tooth loss.

These gum ailments, called periodontal diseases because they occur around the tooth, can usually be detected in the early stages when inflammation changes the healthy pink color of the gums to red.

Half the teen-agers in a typical American community have some degree of gum disease, which should send them to the dentist as quickly as an aching tooth

A hygienist will remove the collection of tartar below the gum line and advise them on periodic return visits for tartar scaling so the teeth may not be loosened.

But the best mouth hygiene offers only a partial solution to the problem, Dr. Paul N. Baer of the National Institute of Dental Research told the 108th annual session of the American Dental Association meeting here.

There is little justification at the present time to assume that any one of the many trouble-causing factors suggested by investigators is of any greater importance than any other, Dr. Baer said. Researchers have implicated viruses, inherited defects, diet, and chemistry of the saliva, bacteria, the local environment and psychological influences.

Dr. Baer's own research has shown that even mice in germ-free chambers can develop a form of periodontal disease. He said further research on every factor that is suspected would be needed to clarify the problem.

In the meantime, he said a high level of oral hygiene does offer a better chance of keeping one's teeth than neglect of the toothbrush.

TV REVIEW

The Amazon River Tour Is Worthy

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—CBS-TV's highly successful and popular series of National Geographic Society specials last night took up a monumental subject: The Amazon River.

And, surprisingly, although an hour broadcast is obviously too brief to do the subject justice, it succeeded in capturing much of the beauty, mystery, terror, hope and attraction of the South American waterway.

There was no particular story line to the hour—but, rather, a collection of sights, sounds and human vignettes that added up to a program of striking flavor. One could almost taste and smell the surroundings, and that is an accomplishment of some doing.

Once again, the National Geographic outing was done in association with Wolper Productions. And once again, the fine, experienced hand of Alan Landsburg, the Wolper executive in charge of production, could be felt in the way it helped shape the various separate elements into a tight package. The valuable producer and director of the hour was Walon Green, and he supplied the knowledgeable source material. The solid script by Paul Boorstin and Bud Wiser was read effectively by narrator Alexander Scourby.

One sensed at the outset that the program might turn into a travelogue like many others, but the careful dramatic use of the material at hand—and the shrewd insertion of historical film clips and interviews—added a legitimate showmanship that registered impact.

Wife Has Her Husband Booked

William Gary Dinsmore, 34, of 35 Central, Woodacre, was arrested by his wife, Shirley, for suspicion of assault and battery last night after a domestic quarrel.

Deputies booked him at Marin County jail and bail was set at $440. Dinsmore was to appear in Marin municipal Court this afternoon.

Mrs. Dinsmore said her husband became angry and tried to strangle her after she took away his wine. She placed him under citizen's arrest.

Courthouse Fate Is Panel's Topic

Disposition of Marin County's courthouse in San Rafael will be discussed tomorrow (Thursday) at 9 p.m. on KTIM's Sounding Board program.

Those speaking will be Earnest E. Kettenhofen, chairman of the county board of supervisors; Irving D. Chapman, San Rafael merchant; an Benjamin Franklin Walton of Fairfax, who is circulating a petition to "save the courthouse."

Questions may be phoned in during the broadcast. The program will be repeated on tape Sunday from 10:05 to 11 a.m.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 21, the 52nd day of 1968 with 314 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1885, after 37 years of construction, the Washington Monument was dedicated.

In 1950, Hungary sentenced American businessman Robert Vogeler to 15 years on charges of Espionage. Vogeler served 17 months, and was released in April of 1951.

In 1965, Black Muslim leader Malcolm X was fatally shot in New York City.

A thought for the day: American politician Wendell Willkie said, "Our sovereignty is not something to be hoarded, but something to be used."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The Game Would Be A Little Boring If Partner Were Perfect

If your partner, poor thing, had a touch of your brilliance, the partnership would be unbeatable. But then you'd have to play in all of the world championships and the whole thing would become a bore. All things considered, therefore, don't scold your partner for the kind of mistake that two players made in today's hand.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

CLUB LEAD

West led the queen of clubs, and South made the mistake of playing low from the dummy. East played the discouraging deuce of clubs, but West led another club anyway. Maybe partners should be abolished by federal law.

South ruffed the second club, drew three rounds of trumps and then ran the hearts. When West followed suit to all of the hearts, South counted West for a seven-card club suit, four hearts, one spade and therefore only one diamond.

EASY TO PLAY

This count made it easy for South to pick the right diamond play. He led the six of diamonds from his hand to find out what West's singleton was. When West played low, declarer could safely finesse with dummy's jack.

East won, of course, but then he had to return a diamond since any other return would let dummy ruff while South discarded a diamond. No matter which diamond East returned, South was sure to take the rest of the tricks.

COULD DEFEAT

West could defeat the contract, of course, by shifting to a diamond at the second trick. South would then have to lose two diamonds and one club.

South could have avoided this danger by covering the queen of clubs with dummy's king at the first trick. East would win, but would be unable to attack diamonds safely. The rest of the hand would proceed as actually played, but we wouldn't have the fun of pointing out our partner's mistakes.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♦ K Q 9 7 2
♣ A 4 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 3 notrump.

The combined count must be 25 to 27 points., and your long suit should help partner if he is a point short.

Pheasant Not Easy To Shoot For Keeps

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—It takes a good charge of number six birdshot to bring down a pheasant for keeps.

One bird is lost as a cripple for every four bagged, according to the "Rugged Ringneck of Minnesota," a publication of the Minnesota Department of Conservation. This loss could be cut almost to zero with the use of a good retriever, the publication said.

NOT WASHINGTON'S UNIFORM

Center Offering A Luxury Cruise

George Washington's rowboat crossing of the Delaware may have been more expedient than glamorous, but taking to the water today can be the height of luxury.

Merchants of the Corte Madera Center will prove this to some lucky visitor to the Center during the Washington's Birthday sale this weekend.

The winner will receive a plush round trip to Los Angeles by land, air and sea. He or she will travel aboard the luxury liner Lurline in the "grand manner" that made ocean voyages a lure to the wealthy before the jet-set took over. (See photo, page S-16.)

The overnight cruise — which may be taken either northbound or southbound along the California Coast — will feature all the entertainment and dining facilites and luxury accomodations that passengers are given on the Lurline's famous cruises to Hawaii, Center merchants report.

At the Los Ageles end, the winner will be treated to a night's lodging at the widely-known Century Plaza hotel, plus ground transport between the Lurline's terminal, the hotel, and the airport.

To enter the Corte Madera Center's George Washington Birthday contest, it only is necessary to fill out and turn in a coupon provided in this tabloid section. The winner will be chosen at 1 p.m. Saturday, in a drawing on the east-west mall of the Corte Madera Center.

The luxurious sea-air trip may be booked for any voyage scheduled between April 5 and next Jan. 27, the CMC merchants report. The winner may choose to embark either from San Francisco or from Los Angeles, and fly the other way, as the center's guest.

Divided Vacations?

HONOLULU (AP) — City Councilman Matsuo Takabuki says Augustine Salvat, Mexico's minister of tourism, favors direct flights between Acapulco or Mexico City to Hawaii. Takabuki adds that Salvat feels that such air service would be a logical link for tourists who wish to visit both Mexican and Hawaiian resorts.

Clever Farmers Create Celery Picking Machine

OXNARD, Calif. (UPI) — Three years ago a pair of Ventura County farmers pooled their resources with an engineer to design and build a machine to harvest celery.

After spending thousands of dollars on numerous design and engineering ideas, they now have a machine which could revolutionize the harvesting of California's $17 million celery crop.

Doing the work of as many as 30 men, the mechanical celery harvester not only cuts the stalks out of the ground, but also trims them and puts them into portable bins.

The machine, now operating regularly near Oxnard, stems from the joint efforts of growers Roger Donlon, Tobias Grether and engineer Bob Raymond.

California leads the nation in celery production with nearly 55 per cent of the U.S. total. It ranks 23rd in value among the state's crops.

COMMUTERS' ANSWER?

Probably not—but it's 15 miles per hour speed will delight some lucky youngster. Two midget Chevy Corvette Junior autos will be given away next month to visitors to the Corte Madera Center's stores (see story on page S-18). The midget sports cars are gasoline powered.

Moscow Offers Special Shopping For Fat Folks

MOSCOW (UPI)—The suits are cut like tents and tend toward drab blacks and browns with orange or green stripes, but at least they keep a man warm and decent. So business is booming in Moscow's fat man's shop.

The store is the Bogatyr, which means Hercules in Russian. The suits in terms of American sizes start at 44 extra long and go up to size 58.

At the Bogatyr, at 8 Shcherbakovskaya St., Russians can buy shoes up to size 15, fur hats measuring 25 inches around the crown, tent-sized swimming trunks, underwear and shirts.

Only at the Bogatyr to they find products which the Soviet clothing industry as called in anthropologists to help design.

The Soviets say they have more specialists designing clothes for hefty men and women than they do dreaming up fashions for the ladies in general—a claim which appears easy to substantiate by looking at any Moscow midday crowd.

Big people appreciate this kind of attention all the more in a country where consumer goods shortages still crop up frequently.

The salesgirls are big and the store's female assistant manager, a hefty blonde named Zinaida Afanasyevna Fedina, is close to six feet tall.

The most expensive suits, running up to $344.44, are hardly more appealing.

But all have heavy-duty linings and plenty of extra buttons sewn inside the jacket. They are made to last, if not for looks. And average-size Muscovites fare no better.

In the East as well as the West, there is an instalment plan.

In Russia he can get easy payment terms by showing his working papers and the passport issued by the police which all Soviet residents must carry. He must put down 20 per cent immediately and can then take up to a year to pay off the rest in regular monthly instalments. There is a carrying charge of one per cent on the unpaid balance.

Despite short supplies in stylish lines, the Bogatyr is well-stocked with a vital Soviet stand-by—heavy black greatcoats with padded interiors and thick fur collars.

At $203.33 each, they look gloomy. But they will keep a man warm in Moscow's cold winter.

Turtle Soup Soon Will Vanish From World Menu

LONDON (UPI) — Turtle soup? Good appette, and as you spoon it down savor it well. There may not be much more where that came from.

The green turtle, whose flesh provides the soup, is being exterminated by an unholy alliance of predators — ghost crabs, dogs, hawks, night herons. And, of course, man, who always seems to be around when a species is being hunted or hounded to oblivion. It's one of our special talents.

Scientists are trying to do something about the green turtle, as are commercial interests in the Caribbean now awake to the danger. And Dr. Nicholas Mrosovsky of the University of Toronto has just added a bit to the store of information about "chelonia mydas" as the green turtle is known.

Mrosovsky, an expert in behavior patterns, thinks he has found the directional sense that enables a newly hatched turtle to head directly to the sea from the hole 50 to 100 yards from shore in which its mother has laid her many eggs.

This dash is the little turtle's first ordeal. On the same stretch of sand the predators are waiting and if he escapes and grows up to edible size man will be waiting. Mrosovsky believes the little turtles head for the brightest horizon —the sea.

What has hitherto baffled scientists is the fact the sea is often out of sight when the turtles emerge. The idea that they might be looking for the brightest horizon rather than the sea itself had not occurred to anybody till now.

Mrosovsky says there was a clue that it was a visual lure in the fact that when ghost crabs catch a baby turtle they immediately peck out its eyes.

"Efficient as their sea-finding behavior is, large numbers of hatchlings are taken by predators and soon there will be no turtles left," Mrosovsky said.

"The survival of the green turtle depends largely on mass production and concentration.

"Thousands of adults must come together and lay their eggs on a fairly short stretch of sand at about the same time of year to make sure that a reasonable proportion of the hatchlings will reach the sea. Fewer are emerging now because fewer eggs are laid.

NEW ON SKYLINE—The air-supported Cinesphere and the Hexatent will loom alongside Highway 101 freeway at the Corte Madera Center next month. They will house a spectacular traveling show which will be free to Center visitors.

Spectacular Movie Dome To Visit Corte Madera

Buildings held up by air and down by water, unbelievably realistic motion pictures and other peeks into the future will be in store for visitors to the Corte Madera Center early next month.

"The Cineshpere Chevy Show" will be paying its first visit to Marin County March 9 through 17, with free shows daily and door prizes for adults and youngsters.

Sponsor of the event is the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council, which hopes to make the Cinesphere visit an annual affair.

The Cinesphere itself will tower 32 feet above the neighboring 101 freeway. It is a gigantic bubble, supported entirely by air pumped in under gentle pressure, and held down by a skirting ballast of 5,000 gallons of water.

Within the Cinesphere is a round screen, on which is projected a 12-minute movie in brilliant color, so realistically photographed that the watcher feels he is at the controls of the helicopter which takes pictures of the grand Canyon — and then riding the mule train down the canyon trail. Other thrilling scenes include a ski trip down Colorado's spectacular slopes, exciting films of carnival rides and the Indianapolis "500" race.

Next to the Cinesphere will be the "Hexatent," 54 feet in diameter, 16 feet high, and supported by a single pole and air pressure.

Under its canopy will be Chevrolet Division exhibits of new and futuristic ideas in the automotive field, together with models and actual race cars plus this year's models of experimental vehicles.

In addition to other door prizes, two visiting youngsters will be given gasoline-powered, child-sized Chevy Junior cars (see photo, page S-12.)

Hours for the show will be 1 to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday; 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, beginning Saturday, March 9.

Untidy Ice Fishing Gives Twin Headaches

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ice fishing litterbugs land a double catch with their carelessness. Keep America Beautiful, Inc., the national anti-litter organization, explained that discarded fishing tackle, used containers and other objects left on frozen ponds and lakes can trip up skaters, causing personal injuries.

And litter left ont the ice eventually sinks to the bottom in the spring thaw to destroy the beauty of the water and present a hazard to bathers. KAB urged ice fishermen to carry and use litterbags when they venture onto the ice for a fishing expedition.

Wife Gets Revenge

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (UPI)—Alice Souza, a Klamath Falls housewife, wasn't satisfied with just getting mad when her husband, driving another vehicle, struck her car. She filed a complaint aginst him in Klamath County District Court. Raymond Souza was arrested on a warrant charging assault with a dangerous weapon.

Trapshoot Club Scene Of Wedding

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Robert Timlin of Cheyenne is a trapshooting enthusiast. So when he was married to the former Nona Gayle Weber the ceremony was held at the Cheyenne municipal trapshoot clubhouse.

They were greeted by a five shot salute from fellow trapshooters after the ceremony.

Bedroom Scenes Are Better Than Beers

NEW YORK (UPI)—David Slavitt, a former bartender who wrote the controversial novel, "The Exhibitionist," under the pen name, Henry Sutton, told a group of bartenders who gave him a party at the Hotel Edison Rum House:

"It's more profitable mixing sex than drinks."

Novel Plane Fits Into Station Wagon

By SCIENCE SERVICE

An airplane that fits in the back of a station wagon has won a patent for two engineers at Ryan Aeronatuical Co.

The lightweight, folding plane was originally designed for the military as a rescue craft for downed pilots, according to Peter F. Girard, who developed the concept with Fred Landgraf. But its versatility and portability make it a good prospect for the civilian market, he says.

The plane has a speed of about 75 miles per hour, and can take off within 100 feet, according to Girard.

By pulling a few pins it can be dismantled into a half dozen pieces, each of which can be carried by one man.

The whole plane weighs about 175 pounds empty and has a range of 50 to 100 miles.

COMMUNICATION

Ella Relates Success Secret

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ella Fitzgerald credits her success to a "special kind of communication" found in music.

"Music is the one thing that all people can understand," she says. "and through music—maybe we can get to know each other a little better."

For singing to foreigners, the famed Negro vocalist says she concentrates on "the slower stuff . . . since most of them don't understand the words, maybe they'll understand the feeling."

Ella says she likes to have fun when she sings. And most of her fans will agree the fun shows.

"I've been known to sing until two o'clock in the morning," she says with a grin. "Sometimes I just can't help myself—I get in such a groovin' bag with the guys (musicians)."

She tells of a concert with Duke Ellington in a French resort on the Cote D'Azur when "we had such a ball musically, nobody wanted to go home. So, we kept on making music until even the crickets joined in!"

Ella feels that an important aspect to her continuing success for so many years is that she keeps in pace with the times.

"I don't want to be considered, as the song geos, 'As cold as yesterday's mashed potatoes,' " she says. "I want to stay with it."

And "staying with it," she feels, means communicating with the teenagers.

"I've been exposed to kids constantly," she notes. "My teen-age son, Ray Jr. (the son of her second marriage to bassist Ray Brown) loves socials. And you should hear their ideas . . . ' John Lennon (of the Beatles) is no joke. He is more than a passing fancy. He is a solid, and youthful composer of our time," Ella explains.

"Personally, I want to be able to communicate with the teenager as a performer. I want them to understand me, and like me."

Motorists Forget To Clean Windows

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Most motorists take the time to scrape ice and snow from the windshields of their cars during the winter, but engineers at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company note that far too many forget about the other windows of the auto.

The extra minute required to clean all the glass areas can prevent an accident.

Grande Dame Of The Seas Rescued

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A stately old lady—the wonder of the maritime world 125 years ago — returns to the high seas this year for a 10,000 mile voyage from the Falkland Islands to honored retirement in San Francisco.

She's the Great Britain, grande dame of the oceans, launched at Bristol, England, in 1843.

Disabled by a Cape Horn storm in 1886, the Great Britain, first major steam driven, iron hulled vessel, has spent 82 years in ignominious and impoverished idleness at Port Stanley.

William Swigert Jr., a maritime history buff who heads the Pier 49 Project on the San Francisco Embarcadero, rescued the Great Britain and another Falkland Islands old lady—the steel hulled sailing ship Champigny—from the creeping death of age and neglect.

Far younger and prettier, though by no means as venerable as the Great Britain, the Champigny slid down the ways at Le Havre, France, in 1902. She already has left Port Stanley at the end of a tow line on a slow stage journey that will see her in San Francisco late this spring.

Project 49 will restore the rusty, barnacled ladies to the beauty and vigor of their youths. Swigert, president of the century-old Pacific Bridge Co., envisions them as central attractions of a waterfront area to re-create and preserve the commerce, skills and atmosphere of the glamorous port of San Francisco during the most colorful years of sail and steam.

Already on the local scene are the old square-rigger Balclutha, a ferry and other "museum" pieces.

The Great Britain and Champigny have been together in retirement since 1927, the year the French ship also was dismasted in a Cape Horn storm and towed to Port Stanley for service as dead storage. During World War II, she housed German sailors captured in the battle of the South Atlantic.

In 1843, the Great Britain was the largest ship afloat—322 feet from "figurehead to taffrail" and 50 feet at the beam. Though less than a third the dimensions of the Queens Mary and Elizabeth of a century later, she was, for her day, a miracle of human accomplishment.

Constructed of inch-thick iron plate by the Great Western Steamship Co., she was the first propeller-driven vessel to cross an ocean and only the second to make the trip under steam.

John Tyler was in the White House, California was still a Mexican province, and the American Civil War was 18 years away. San Francisco was the tiny Mexican community of Yerba Buena on the mint-scented sandhills above the bay. The tumult of the Gold Rush had not been heard.

The beautiful lines seafarers admired were lost on a public awed by size. People called the Great Britain the "monster of the deep" or the "mammoth of the ocean." She dwarfed the Royal Navy's men of war.

Designed by I. K. Brunel, the "little giant" among ship architects, the Great Britain had watertight bulkheads, a flat double bottom and a clipper bow.

An army of grimy, sweating navvies stoked 24 fires that devoured thousands of tons of coal. Three steam boilers, each holding 200 tons of water, fed the 88-inch, six-foot stroke pistons which powered the "bicycle chain" for the 16-foot propeller.

As though lacking confidence in the newfangled engine, the Great Britain sported six masts, each named for a day of the week, and 1,700 square yards of canvas.

Trial runs over and luxuriously outfitted, the wonderful ship moved up the Thames to London in April, 1845, for Queen Victoria's inspection.

Pearly Queen Will Pay Visit To Mall

"English fresh water pearls we use, and the Japanese ones that shines with the light on them. We dye our own — it's a long process, but we do it thorough. You break one, love, and the colour goes right through."

These are the words of Anne Thomas, Pearly Queen of London, who will be at Northgate Fashion Mall tomorrow through Saturday afternoons to tell about the Pearlies, the street cries of old London, coster mongers and the seven gates of the city.

Once they were called the "Flashies," with the old-fashioned costumes and their swinging trousers, wide flapping lapels and battered coster caps studded all over with glittering buttons.

The tradition of the pearly kings and queens began in the London street markets before the industrial revolution when the biggest bully could pitch his stall where he liked without fear of the law.

To safeguard themselves, the traders elected a coster king to fight their battles for them, to be their arbitrator, their lawgiver. When licensing came in, there was no longer any need to fight each other — instead, the pearlies turned to fighting battles for the people who could not fight for themselves.

In 1910 the Pearly Kings and Queens Association was founded. It pledged itself to work entirely for charity, and started by organizing collections and parties. With the money, they paid for poor beds in hospitals—and big silver medals clank on the costumes of today's pearlies to prove it.

Today, charity is the pearlies' Raison d'etre — charity and the tourist trade. But all the pearlies have at heart is charity: visiting hospitals, homes and centres, and raising thousands of pounds through fetes and carnivals and door-to-door collections.

But it is tough work being a pearly. It is not just parading round in a jazzy costume rattling a tin. Walking five miles in a suit that weighs sixty-three pounds, or a hat decorated with more than a dozen long plume feathers isn't easy.

From the days long ago when it first became smart for a coster to copy a toff and wear a single row of flashing buttons round his bell-bottom trousers, the Pearlies have kept on board the glittering fashion bandwagon that is all their own.

And nothing will stop them. Some will be caught in the meshes of the bright self-service age and lose interest, as they are doing. But there will always be the core, the hard core of uncles and aunts, nephews and nieces, daughters, sons and grandchildren, to keep the tradition alive—not for the sake of the tourist trade, but for the sake of the charities they help, and because this is a royal Cockney heritage where abdication or extinction would be unthinkable.

Children are still being christened in the pearl-studded christening gown that has been handed down through the family. And baby pearl princesses, in pearl embroidered poke bonnets, are wailing their way through their first social function in arms.

But there will always be fakes because kings are a coveted people, and it is a great thing to be a pearly.

Litter Habit All Too Common

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of every five Americans is a habitual litterbug, according to the Litter Letter of the National Council of State Garden Clubs. That adds up to 40 million regular litterbugs, not to mention those people who occasionally fall into bad habits.

The letter says each habitual litterbug drops an average of eight items a day—for a daily litter fallout on the nation of 320 million pieces of rubbish. "The answer is rooted in lack of understanding of what litter really is. Vast numbers of people think they are not littering because the things they discard are small. That's the main problem: small, "harmless" things are what add up to the big piles of litter."

Parisians Will Model Fashions At Emporium

All the fresh young caprice of Paris in the Spring breezes into Marin County tomorrow when the Emporium presents "Project Parisienne," a show of Vogue Original Designer Patterns in the fabrics of Boussac, at 4 p.m. first floor. This Gallic flavored fashion show makes the most of individuality and plays up the many contrasting moods of Fashion '68.

There are zippy little suits and pantdresses, and ultra-sophisticated tunics and togas; softened shirtlings, and boldly baring beach costumes; the romantic look of the 1930s, and the exuberant look of the future.

The 48-piece collection of Vogue Import and Americana Designs offers one feminine paradox after another, all in the superb fabrics by Boussac. Women who enjoy sewing their own fine fashion will find tender pastels, brilliant flowerings, gloriously colored abstracts, stripes and plaids.

Four of Paris' outstanding mannequins are jetting to the United States via Air France to model the "Project Parisienne" collection in all seven Emporium stores, as well as other major cities in the United States.

Mlle. Bodile, fashion authority of Boussac de Paris, will be The Emporium's guest commentator for "Project Parisienne."

Church Keeps Tab On Filming

By DAVID L. DUGAS

ROME (UPI)—By any reckoning it was a solemn occasion. The grayhaired men in the crimson robes of princes of the Roman Catholic Church filed in and took their seats beneath the awesome figures of Michaelangelo's Last Judgment.

Msgr. Adone Terzariol of the Vatican's College of Masters of Ceremonies observed the scene carefully. He attended the conclaves for the elections of both Pope John XXIII and Pope Paul VI and once again his job was to see that centuries of protocol and tradition went unviolated.

The monsignor was keeping tabs on the first movie ever made depicting the election of a new pope in the Sistine Chapel and great care was being taken to render the scene faithfully.

"You should be home taking care of that thing," producer George Englund told him.

"I thought only kids got these things," Quinn said, his infected eye nearly swollen shut. "It just has to run its course."

Back inside the Sistine Chapel, or what will look just like it on film, director Michael Anderson coped with the problems of making a movie about the first Russian ever elected supreme pontiff. Australian author Morris West has written the screen version of his own 1962 best-seller, "Shoes of the Fisherman."

Officially the Vatican has no connection with this picture but there is considerable concern on both sides that the results be mutually acceptable.

"Do you think Pope Paul will see the picture," Msgr. Terzariol was asked. "Oh yes," he said. "And Everyone in the Curia too."

Before shooting began early in January on the $8.5 million film, Englund went to the Vatican and, as he put it, "just knocked on the door." He asked for and got only technical advice, and no permission to film actual Vatican interiors. Thus, Englund has had to plow much of the film's budget into recreating such places as the Sistine Chapel and the papal library. As for the pontiff's private chapel, closed even to the Vatican's own photographer, that will be "an educated invention" for those who see the film.

The Sistine Chapel, familiar to thousands of art experts and millions of tourists, had to be copied "down to the last inch."

The Last Judgment, which the aging Michaelangelo took seven years to complete, was reproduced in seven months at the Cinecitta Studios.

Closed Circuit TV Aids Therapy

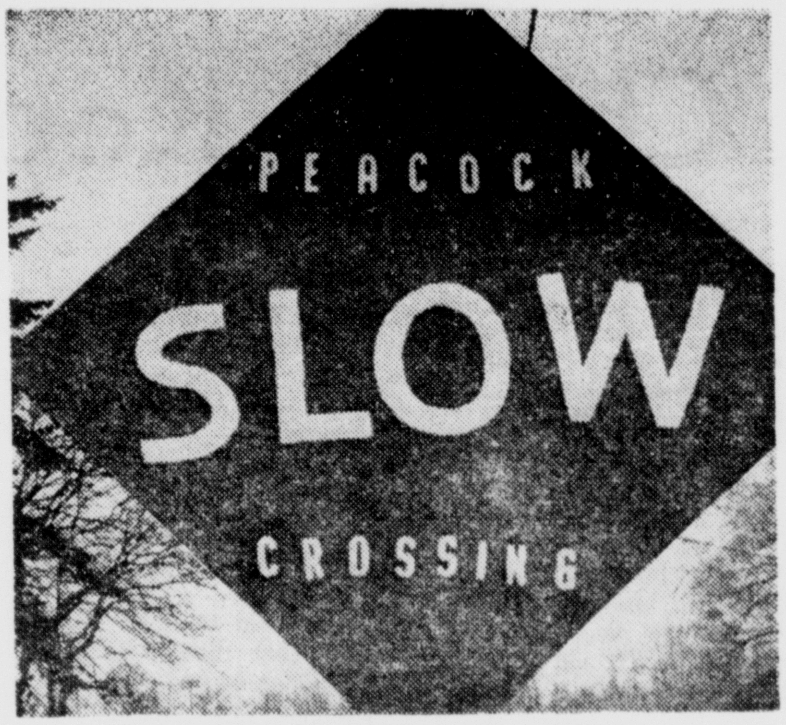
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Closed circuit television is helpful in psychotherapy, according to a professor at the university of California's San Francisco medical center. Dr. Harry A. Wilmer, clinical professor of psychiatry at the school, said the system helps patients, therapists and psychiatrists alike.

"Two closed circuit cameras are used in psychiatric group therapy sessions," Wilmer said. "The cameras catch every word, action and reaction of the patients and medical staff—everything filmed means something to those involved." The medical teams play back the television films and both the medical team and the patient learn something, Wilmer said.

Copa Sets Precedent For Red-Headedness

NEW YORK (UPI)—If you think you're seeing nothing but redheads in the chorus line at Jules Podell's Copacabana, don't blame it on what you've been drinking. You're seeing right.

For the first time in the night club's 28-year history, all the Copa Girls have red hair. But no two shades are alike.



DRAWS SECOND LOOK

This sign near Salem, Ore., draws a second look from many motorists, but it is genuine. Peacocks run at large at a private duck club in the area and two have been killed by cars.

MANY IN RANKS

Birdwatching More Urban Than Rural

NEW YORK (UPI)—In these days of musical Beatles and Monkees, there are 11 million Americans who still think singing is for the birds.

These are the country's bird watchers— or birdies as they are more likely to call themselves. They range from the suburban matron watching a back yard feeder through her picture window to the rich who spend several thousand dollars for a bird safari to Africa.

Some sit huddled in duck blinds for hours or prowl the woods before dawn to spot owls and whippoorwills.

CONCRETE JUNGLE

Other spend lunch time in New York's Central Park, surrounded by the concrete jungle—and as many as 101 different kinds of birds have been known to fly over the park in a single day during spring and fall migratory peaks.

Birders, according to the National Audubon Society, the closest thing to a national organization that local bird club enthusiasts endorse, are more likely to live in coastal areas than in mid-America, and bird watching is mor an urban than rural pursuit.

One reason, perhaps, is that country people don't have to organize to see birds.

Birding even suits urban man's sedentary habits since, for reasons best known to themselves, birds often are less startled by the approach of a car than a man.

NON-BIRDERS

To non-birders, the stereotype of the bird watcher might be English actress Margaret Rutherford, tweedy and portly with white curls askew, clutching her binoculars while precariously perched in a tree.

The list actually includes such illustrious names as Prince Philip of Britain and Charles Lindbergh, but more typical would be Robert C. Boardman, who combines business with pleasure by being public information director of the National Audubon Society.

"Actually, I started with tadpoles, not birds," he said, explaining that as a child he grew up on the outskirts of New Yrok where a favorite pastime was watching tadpoles in ponds. High-rise apartment buildings now tower where pollywogs once played.

As an adult living in suburban Westchester County, he worked to save some local woods and became increasingly interested in conservation—and birds.

EASILY SEEN

The stress on conservation in general among birders can be seen easily by a glance at Audubon, the National Audubon Society's magazine, which includes features on all sorts of animals and wildlife preservation, as well as air and water pollution.

"Personally, I find birding restful, fun and relaxing," Boardman said. "I like to walk in the woods and along the beach, through pleasant countryside. If I see something unusual in the way of birds, so much the better.

"On a more serious level, it doesn't take an interest in birds and conservation to take my mind off the world we live in—they are the world we live in. Natural history is the study of life on this planet, of which we are a part. We have to be concerned about it. If the chickadee is in trouble, so are we."

Japan Launches Handicapped Jobs

TOKYO (UPI)—Tokyo's Socialist governor, Ryokichi Minoba, says he will open Japan's firsst publicly-owned place of employment for handicapped persons next year.

The government will build a printing plant to be operated by crippled persons in wheelchairs. A privately-owned factory in Tokyo employs 50 handicapped persons, but the Japanese have done relatively little officially to provide gainful employmeent for the blind and crippled.

Judge Didn't Like Their Singing Choice

DARTMOUTH, England (UPI)—Four young men were fined 5 pounds ($12) each for singing bawdy songs in a boat within the limits of Dartmouth harbor. The boat's owner was cleared of a similar charge.

"They were only singing carols," he said.

AT NORTHGATE

'The Graduate' Opening Set

The new comedy-drama, filmed in Technicolor and Panavision, stars Anne Bancroft, Dustin Hoffman and Katharine Ross, and offers an eye-opening view of university life from the point of view of undergraduates and in the person of the title character, Benjamin Braddock, the graduate.

In other respects, "The Graduate," based on a best-selling first novel by Charles Webb, offers an even wider view of campus life, and life in general, than did the celebrated "Virginia Woolf."

It is a motion picture packed with entertainment as well as excellent production values; it is an unusual love story; a comedy; a commentary; and a powerful yarn about a young man, fresh out of college, who is bewildered by his new, undefined status.

Hoffman, a young Nichols discovery, plays the role of Ben, eager but with no place in particular to go, who finds himself drawn into a love affair with an insatiable well-married, ultra-respectable matron. The manipulating female, beautifully created by Miss Bancroft, finds the young man useful and amusing.

His therapeutic value for the older woman disappears, however, when he learns that his amour has a lovely daughter at college. The triangle is inevitable. Miss Ross is seen as the 'other woman' in this case complicated by the fact that she is Miss Bancroft's daughter in what becomes an incident-filled love-go-round.

THE TIMES

Will the London Times take over in Marin?

...or which one is Number One?

You'll see a lot of the British and a lot of British goods at Northgate during the Washington's Birthday Sale. Nicest invasion you'll ever see!

And just to prove we're not running scared, even if the London Times comes to Northgate, we bravely took the picture above, in London. That's the I-J, in the middle, hemmed in by The Times. The point being . . . that while The Times may be Number One in London, the I-J is very definitely Number One in Marin.

Rather amazing, the readership of the I-J. But then, we DO offer more local Marin County news than all other newspapers in the world – combined! Each day, page by page, we take you throughout the entire county . . . making you an information center on what happened, where.

World news, outstanding features, entertainment, news of fine values at your favorite stores . . . we put a lot into the I-J so you'll get a lot out of it.

That's why we welcome The Times, unafraid. And welcome YOU to read the best-selling newspaper in Marin.
